Printing that Pays--

Is the kind that we produce.

Almost any kind of a man can print—after a fashion—if he is given type, ink, paper and a press to play with. But when you want the kind that will bring profitable business to your establishment you must look to the printer who uses the neatest type, the best ink and paper and whose finished work represents not only labor but skill.

If you want to do business with intelligent people be careful to send them printed matter that corresponds. "Cheap John" work will attract cheap trade only, but good printed matter and fair treatment will attract and hold a good class of business. Try it.

We have recently added a large amount of new type and other material and now have the best office of its size in the city. We have a good office and can show results. Let us show you. Our 'phone is Black 837.

Terrel Newby.

As the old statement concerning Montana climate—nine months winter and three months devilish late in fall—is not quite true. I shall endeavor to set forth a few unpolished facts concerning this rich portion of our great union, which has been my home for many years. What we term our spring season sometimes begins in March, but most generally it ranges from the first of May to the middle of June. This season is very uncertain, and the early bird catches a frozen worm.

Often, during these latter two months, we are visited by a few drops of rain, which are very often the only natural application of water we have until the following late fall. At this time also, begins the great movement of cattle and sheep to their summer ranges. Sheep, by thousands, pass through the little home town, from their winter range. If there should come a storm during this movement, which very often is the case, the plains become strewn with carcasses, and this often results in bankrupting stockmen.

The next season is called the "Mosquito season." These little creatures, although disliked by men, are very loyal to this great nation of ours. They never miss the grand celebration with us, on the Fourth of July. They also never forget to serenade the newly wed. Crops at this season of the year grow very rapidly. By the aid of irrigation and the dead mosquitoes, that the rancher kills in irrigating his field, abundant crops are harvested. This season is very dry and hot; without our great system of irrigation nothing could be raised, not even a good crop of mosquitoes. Until this water plan was adopted, there was but a hurried few of these pests, but now they are so numerous, that a man without protection, if placed in an irrigated field, would die in a short time.

By the middle of August the grass, on the plains, becomes so thoroughly parched that great prairie fires break out, often destroying much valuable range.

Our fall season, lasting about a month and a half, is the most delightful part of the whole year, although it is nothing to boast about except in the more elevated parts, where but few pests are found.

Our winter season, though very long and disagreeable, has its exceptions. The Chinook Wind, which, in the depths of winter, many times changes the temperature from 40 and 45 degrees below zero to just the reverse in a few minutes, and takes from the ground, in rivers of water, from one to four feet of snow in a single night, making the ground dry and dusty, is a wonderful refuge for people, as well as for range stock. Oftentimes this wind does not blow long enough to take off all the snow and in this case a crust of ice is formed, making it impossible for stock to feed, resulting in other great losses.

Every winter, dogs from the range, for protection and feed, are forced into the little towns. These become a great nuisance to the villagers, by breaking into barns and chasing women and school children.

Many people suffer during these long winters by the lack of the different necessities of life; some by lack of fuel, coal being the only fuel in a great many places, and which is often very difficult to obtain; some by lack of clothing; some by lack of food, who, on account of a severe cold snap, are unable to get to town and others in their attempts to maintain life and home welfare, suffer much from frozen flesh and limbs, while a few freeze to death. Montana, though it has many drawbacks, is a healthful state and is populated by a robust, hardy people, who cannot be excelled.

THE BOYER LITERARY QUARTETTE

Four girls of the Boyer Literary Society had a very pleasant vacation, making a tour of the cities and towns in southwestern Washington. The Quartette were out for three weeks, giving entertainments and sacred concerts.

Everywhere they were enthusiastically received which shows that the University of Puget Sound is becoming known and its people welcomed wherever they go. Many of the new faces in our college halls are due to the advertising which the girls did. The members of the Quartette are the Misses Ada Hooton, Ina Landen, Lilian Clulow and Florence Hamilton.

VOCAL DEPARTMENT.

The vocal department this year is under the able leadership of Prof. Chas. Derbyshire. His work for the year has begun very promisingly. A men’s glee club has been formed and meets regularly for practice. A chorus class is contemplated, but has not yet been formed. These student organizations will increase the interest of the students in this department and also be a great help to “Our University.”

INSTRUMENTAL DEPARTMENT.

The instrumental department is still under the leadership of Prof. E. S. Zollman, who has so ably conducted the work for the past two years. The accommodations in the Administration Building proved to be too small so this department together with the other two, has been moved to the building which was formerly the residence. The prospects for the year fully justify this change and promises a larger number of pupils than ever before.

STRINGED INSTRUMENT DEPARTMENT.

Miss Sadie E. Grumbling, instructor in violin, mandolin and guitar, will soon organize a mandolin and guitar club, and later a college orchestra. Miss Grumbling has studied violin at the Chicago Musical College under the noted master, S. E. Jacobsohn, and for two years had charge of the stringed instrument department at the Iowa Wesleyan University at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

The sympathy of the entire student body has gone out to our beloved friend and former teacher, Prof. Warfield, and his wife, in the sorrow that has come to them in their new home through the loss of their infant daughter, Marion who died on September 24th after an illness of only a few hours. We pray most sincerely that the God of all comfort may sustain and comfort them in their hour of trial.

This is an age of Bible study. According to Voltan the Bible should have been obsolete about one hundred years ago. What would he have thought if he could have seen the Y. M. C. A. Bible study rally the first of this year?

Music hath charms at least so we have been told. Then why not have more of it in our institutions. For a school of our size we are fortunate in the amount and quality of the musical talent that we possess. We have had many quartets and similar organizations but have lacked a school glee club and a mandolin club. Movements have been started to secure both of these this year and every student should do his best to aid in the cause.

The ambitions of college graduates prove the material of much ridicule. The great ambitions and high ideals are taken as proof that he feels confident that he is about to reform the world. And what if he does have some such notions? Would the world ever have been reformed if no one had felt it his mission to start the reform movement?

The very fact that college men and women do have high aims argues greatly as to the value of a college education. The students are today turning their attention to the problems of tomorrow. Along with the daily grind of routine work and amid the social functions of our school life there is a growing sentiment that we have a mission in life. Now as never before college students are realizing the fact that they are needed in places of service which offer but small material returns.

The growth of the student volunteer movement offers one of the best proofs of what has just been said and shows that college men and women are looking for the place of greatest service. In fact there is a growing opinion that the solution of the most perplexing problems of the age will be found among the students of our land. The life of the student in school is the best index of his life outside. If a leader there, he will be a leader in the world; if willing to tackle the hard thing in school he will probably tackle it after his course is finished.

Every student should feel the duty of being a leader. The world needs you and has a place for you if you can fill it. The man that quits a class or drops a study because it is hard, is losing an opportunity of conquering himself and after all, that is what counts. If our college life is to be what we expect it to be, we must put more into it than simply what will take us through—we must put the best we have into it, if we are to get the best possible results.

DEBATE.

One form of activity that our school has hitherto neglected is inter-collegiate debate. Among our own students literary work in general—speeches, debates and orations—flourishes, perhaps to a greater extent than in the average college; but, except for the annual prohibition contest and one debate last year, the U. P. S. has seemed loath to measure strength with other institutions of like grade.

A series of debates between this university and other schools in the vicinity would do much good in many ways. It would unify and arouse college spirit by presenting a cause in which every student could take an interest and feel a pride. It would teach a side of college life distinct from athletics but would not interfere with the latter, for the basket ball and the debating season would not coincide and the student body would be kept double time in that atmosphere of enthusiasm that is generated when one college comes up against another.

The existence of such a debating team would prove a powerful stimulus to effort—to make the team, to be able to take a substitute position; and on the part of the team itself, to be worthy representatives of their school before the public.
Such a course would make the U. P. S. better known among the students of other colleges, would broaden our sympathies and increase acquaintance and friendship among the college men of the state.

What shall be done to bring a team of this kind into existence? Let each of the literary societies choose its best debaters and from those thus chosen let a team be selected by competition or otherwise as the societies may agree. The team, when it is made up, should contain the very best talent in the whole school, and should receive the undivided support of every student for the team will represent the University and to the University will come through their efforts, interest, prestige and honor.

Watchword for this year: A debating team that shall prove what "Our University" can do among the colleges of this state. W. B. A.

ATHLETICS

We will not be represented upon the gridiron this year, but instead we will be represented by several basketball teams. Our teams did excellent work last season in winning several important victories, and this year will be remembered by "greater victories than last year."

Basket ball playing was a theory with our players last winter, but by the showing they are making at practice it will be a reality this winter.

Prof. McProud will again be at the helm to direct the boys to victory. Reynolds, a husky fellow, will bat the ball according to signals. Olsan and Nicol are back in their former positions as guards. They have chosen for their motto: "No baskets for our opponents." Donaldson, the star of last year's team, and Brewer, a new student, are making baskets in a winning way.

Arrangements are being made to secure Miss Whiting, secretary of the city Y. W. C. A., to coach the girl's teams. She has the reputation of being a competent coach and physical director. The Misses Hooton, Brown, Clulow, Gray and Beil, members of the first team last year, are quite active in promoting the interest of basketball among the girls. Ada is a few inches taller than she was last winter, so she will have no trouble at all in making baskets this year.
RECEPTION TO NEW STUDENTS

On September 21 the annual reception for new students was given in the Gymnasium by the Christian associations. Formality was entirely abolished and all present gave themselves up to the enjoyment of the "County Fair." Every feature of a fair was present including the band, fortunetellers, pink lemonade and ice cream. Even our Faculty enjoyed the "shoot the chutes" and many old scores were paid off by shots taken at caricatures of the various professors which were present in the shooting gallery in the garb of "nigger-babies."

A royal good time was had and all felt better for having joined in the unique jollification which proved a most successful method for getting acquainted and for making the new students feel that they are a part of "Our University."

RECEPTION FOR NEW GIRLS.

On Friday, September the fourteenth, the Y. W. C. A. entertained the new girls in the Commercial rooms, which were decorated with rugs, screens and all the available Y. W. posters. The amusement of the afternoon was the exchange of recipes. This was in the form of a contest in which each girl tried to get the greatest number of recipes written in the dainty little booklet which was given to her.

During the afternoon Miss Beil gave a reading in her own pleasing style and the Beyer quartette responded to the call made for them by giving two very good selections. At five o'clock, tea, wafers and fudge were served. The reception proved a success and the Y. W. C. A. does not intend this to be the last time in which the girls shall meet for an afternoon of wholesome amusement and a genuine good time.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. is most unfortunate in the loss of its president, Miss Wilson, but all vacancies in the cabinet have been filled and the work is progressing very nicely. A Bible Study Class in the "Life of Christ" has been organized by Miss McGandy, chairman of the Bible Study committee.
Two Mission Study Classes have been organized by the chairman, Miss Marlett. One class will study "Foreign Missions" and the other will take up the study of "Home Missions." "India" will be the subject of study for the one class while the subject of "Immigration" will be taken up in the class for Home Missions.

Y. M. C. A.

The work of the Y. M. C. A. has been resumed with greater zeal than ever before. Already twenty new members have been secured and sixty-four men have been enrolled in Bible study. The mission study classes enrolled thirty men at its first rally and Mr. R. E. Cook, the chairman of the missionary committee, feels confident that many more will be secured in the next few days.

The most remarkable growth has been in the Bible study department, under the leadership of Mr. Carl Nicol. More men have been enrolled up to date than the highest number reached last year. Mr. Grover Burford has been elected treasurer to take the place of Mr. Cook, who resigned to take charge of the mission study.

The stag reception given the first Friday of the school year proved a great success. While very informal the spirit of the Christian association was felt in every event of the evening. Mr. O'Fling, of the city Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Rood, general secretary of the association, at the U. of W., were very welcome guests.

The "Lovers of Learning" have re-assembled, called the roll, mourned losses, closed up ranks, shouldered muskets, and re-entered the fray with the vigor and enthusiasm that marks "invincibles." Several recruits are waiting to be mustered in and our banners will soon wave over a full complement of members.

Two regular meetings have been held and the character of work shown in them promises much for a prosperous year's work. President Olson has become accustomed to associating with winners on the field and in the "gym" and his leadership in Literary Endeavor means much toward achieving success. We congratulate ourselves on securing the services of so competent a critic as Prof. B. E. McProud. His helpful criticism and contagious enthusiasm will be invaluable to us in achieving our aim "to excel."

We are a young society, 'tis true; but we cut our eye teeth the first year, and are as lusty a two-year-old as you ever saw. Just keep your eyes on the infant, and see if he doesn't cut his "wisdom teeth" this year.

We are about to get up a series of Post Cards of the University. When you are in our store buying your school books ask us to show you the cards.

Who are We?

We are We.
The H. C. S.,
Of the U. P. S.

Great men have told us that literary and social works are the main essentials in the developing and making of the symmetrical man or woman. Even so they are.
The H. C. S. as a fraternity, the only exclusive young men's fraternity in school, stands for good and strong social and literary work. We believe in the all around man and endeavor to produce that sort. Our chief aim is to build character, to make a man equally, mentally and morally strong, so that "life is a blessing instead of a burden."

In our fraternity we carry on a marked degree of literary work. A great part of a young man or woman's college life should be spent in this kind of work. It serves as a polisher for the many defects.

Not only does the H. C. S. excel in literary, but also in social functions. We want our men to know how to move and act in this world, to feel and act as if it were theirs. Also many jolly gatherings do we have which prove a great factor in helping us in school work, and when we have accomplished these we think a great battle has been won.

Professor Pease, lately from Harvard, will be our critic this year.

Our course this year is hard work and lots of fun.

COHN—the world’s famous glove maker—has made himself famous by specializing the MONARCH KID GLOVE. He has centered his cleverness and talent upon perfecting a Kid Glove which he has wisely named Monarch. With this glove he sues for recognition—the glove which is a little better than the best the market affords.
