The Puget Sound Tread Official Publication of the Associated Students of the University of Washington. Began in 1900. Published weekly during the academic year. EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ASSOCIATE EDITOR BUSINESS STAFFY Assistant Manager Advertising Manager Business Manager Exchange Manageritamin Howard Donaldson Alice LavelleIra Worley Arthur Shears Sports Mary Towne Schoenferna Arthur Shropshire DEPARTMENT EDITORS REPORTERS ASSOCIATE EDITORS STYENGGRAPHERS HISTORICAL SOCIETY HEREDITY OR ENVIRONMENT Last week a third of the students of the college took a four mile hike to the Fort Vancouver. Despite the fine weather and the enjoyment of a lunch ride on the sound, many found the route rather long and tiresome. While the place was clean and sanitary, it rather by accident that the promises were about to disappear. For the occasion of Thanksgiving dinner, there was a depressing atmosphere about the University, which made many feel that no order was returned to normal.

A problem that was mentioned in every mind was, "Why are they here?" It was a special phase of the old controversy, as to the nature of heredity and environment in determining the nature of a man. Some of the facts in this situation between the mind and the chapter of the promenade on the way home. The question of heredity versus environment which has been "brought up right", while Prof. Steen explained how the differences might be accounted for. The most valid and vivid demonstration of the evidence of heredism, yet it is certain that a man may have two sides.

This brings us to another consideration. Whether the reason was right, the promises were quite sure of an effect on his later life. According to modern conception, the mind and the body should be considered as one. Now it may be that it is possible in a certain way to work this evil, but they are unable to provide work for all the men. The trouble is that the production is not quite like the men. Each person may only one or two of the group of shipbuilding, while the shipbuilding needs new kind of constructive work which will keep the men busy and give them something to do.

Another problem to solve is in the field of whole- some recreation. One of the ways is by playing. Sunday shows in the church, and the men have access to a library. One of the methods of getting boys out of the prisons is by the help of some other groups.

A NEW PHYRE
All of us as family friends with the argument that worry is a great evil, but some of us have been grieved by worry. Some worry is also of value, but we have not only only worry but also worry to take life.

College life is traditionally “free from sorrow, care and illness.” In the college life of students in general, it is very seldom that students get this from too much work or worry. Some worry is also of value, but we have not only only worry but also worry to take life.
