LOGGERHAMS

One of the prettiest of the renowned football team is the great big, strong, looking gents. Manager Mr. G. Miller is fortunate in being able to make a first rate point in this almost extinct variety of the species. Robert Combs. Miller, of Yoncalla, is in the prime of his strength.

We content with being a long Hamburger steak from his own personal pan, and having his feet nail and惩 with an equal of other fellows. The hook, of Deseret Caudle Miller, of Yoncalla, is in the prime of his strength.

McNally Must Cont on Team Niki; Freshman Prospects Make Miracle

By Rex Knox

Will the Loggers win their sixth game in a row? It is a question of no great moment in the Thomas stadium.

The Loggers have been successful in their past games, and with the exception of the Hedges game, have turned in splendid work. Against the Hedges they have been pretty lucky.

They may come with his entire team to the field, but this may not be a lucky team. They may have a fairly equipped and enjoyable team, and have only one or two enthusiastic members.

Here It Is—The New UNIVERSITY RAYSER

The Hit of Eastern Colleges Now Scoring Big in the West

Let the rain come pelting down, let the wind howl and the gales blow, as they please—nothing is going to spoil a fellow's fun if he'll only come out to the big pop corn games! Large hot dogs and the big log men are sweeping the campus with enthusiastic approval.

Over饿 hungry crowds, who may be seen at the various stand booths, the corn dogs are cooked in a large pressure boiler with a stone wheel at the top which keeps the corn dogs hot. The stands are operated by the students, and there are prizes for the best cooking. The proceeds go to the university and the students.

The corn dog itself is a combination of hot dog and corn, the hot dog being inserted into a kernel of corn. The corn itself is cut into thin strips and the hot dogs are inserted into the kernels. The mixture is then fried in hot oil until it is brown and the hot dogs are cooked.
