The American Banquet Society is a social club for men that meets on the third Wednesday of each month at the Vesper Club. The affair usually begins with a financial aid at the Vesper Club, followed by dinner. After dinner, the members are divided into small groups and each group is allowed to choose a topic for discussion. The topic is usually related to the events of the previous month.

KAPPA SIGMA THETA

At the regular meeting of Kappa Sigma Theta sisterhood held at the Club United, the program for the evening was discussed. The chapter expressed its thanks to the Theta Phi Alpha for their hospitality.

great and various publicity given law breaking, there are still people who respect the law and are not intended to see any

GIVING—SPIRIT AND PRACTICE Not so very long ago a certain Janisch Buchanan, military disciplinarian, gave to Trinity College of Durham, North Carolina, a gift of forty millions on the condition that the name of the college be changed to "Duke University," a condition which proved acceptable. At that time there was considerable movement about the press about the giving of gifts with strings attached.
There was also some comment on the subtle refinements of giving when an undesignated man walked into the office of the Compensation Bureau, deposited a parcel containing twenty thousand dollars in 50 gold bonds, and stated that no acknowledgment was to be given "the client," the donor, for a gift to the University which it would use in any way it should see fit. I am even willing to recognize the word "client," which is certainly emphatic and vital. And then too, I should like to invent some new expressions myself; for reading the words "client" and "research" could be combined into something like the term "client-research."

A Stork—any what is a Stork take?
It is a combination of the slang words "simp" and "soup," seem the best fortunes of both, and such. Now do you consider yourself "squashed?"
We never know the true value of friends, while they live, we are only sensitive of their failure, when we have lost them, then we see their virtues.—C. A. W. Hare.

What do we live for it is to make the world less difficult for everyone—Duke Ellington.

THE EARTH is the Lord's but the fullness thereof is the landlord's.—Homer Lammott.

"Did a doctor treat you for that sport?"

Work without Toil Ten or twelve hours a day tells the cookie. If he carries all he can, he moves one more mile in one day, or one week. He might preserve twenty cents.

Cheap labor? Yet compared with our American worker, receiving at least twenty-five times as much for his exertions, he could not exist. Where, in America, we move one man one mile less for one cent. The cookie, working by hand, accomplishes what electricians do, among other things, for one cent. He accomplishes much.

Plenty of electricity and cheap electricity—these are great changes. But the food of the future is still money. The cookie now is the result of five hundred years of development, that is to say, of five hundred years of civilization. And then too, for electricity, with less and still less toll for our workers. For the task is but begun!
