TRAIL PUBLISHERS:

It was only through the determination of Dean Allen Lund of the College of Puget Sound, that the trail was able to use the campus on several occasions.

Through an average of 400-600 students a week, the trail was able to pass out over 1,000,000 copies of the college newspaper, in addition to the all college yearbook, News and Times, and to approve the events.

SIGHT NIGHT SCHOOL NOW IN SESSION AT PUGET SOUND

Although the registration for the fall semester is not yet complete, and that this year's enrollment will be larger, over 2000 students, most of whom were enrolled in the dormitories of Puget Sound, flowed through the entrance. In the department of psychology, the total attendance for the evening sessions is 80% more than last year. Last year's total was 30,000. "It seems that many students are taking in equal numbers, and that the attendance has increased," said Dean Allen Lund of the College of Puget Sound.

The registration process is being handled by several of the department heads, including Psychology, History, Business, Chemistry, and Physics. The process is similar to that of last year's registration, with the addition of a new procedure for students who are transferring or changing majors.

The current enrollment includes a diverse group of students, with many different majors. The top departments are Psychology, History, Business, Chemistry, and Physics. A special meeting of the college administration was held last week, at which it was decided to extend the hours of the college library. The library will now be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 1 to 9 p.m. on Saturday.

The_college library is a valuable resource for students, and its extended hours will provide more opportunities for study and research. The library is open to all members of the college community, including faculty, staff, and students.

Women’s Hockey. Teams. Forming. Interested in a new intercollegiate sport for women, Miss Ruby Moynihan, women’s physical education instructor, is busy creating the women’s sport. With the interest in women’s sports at an all time high, women are finding the time and drive to play.

An intercollegiate proposal for the sport will be scrapped the Jennings Gymnasium. Present plans call for teams representing the physical classes, chosen appropriately for the competition. Practice will begin four times a week instead of twice a week normally. The attendance is the daily maximum minus those who have already been selected.

ENEMY TRADITIONS

Last week the Freshman Class was welcomed into the fold of this College of Puget Sound and its members were informed of the traditions and customs that are dear to the heart of the school. Some of these traditions have been cherished in the college for many years and are a living part of the school spirit.

For a longer day than they realize, the fate of these traditions and the spirit of the school spirit which distinguishes the College of Puget Sound and sets it apart from other institutions rests in the keeping of its students. By the very force of its numbers it wielded a tremendous influence. And, oh! the fate of a new student is not so much of the success of the happiness of the four years that lie ahead depend on the spirit with which he meets the acceptance and support of the school's traditions.

There is nothing servile, nothing demeaning in living up to college traditions and customs. It's a long way from green to the color past常常 worn but all the customs, ceremonies, and activities that go between help to build up the college spirit that binds all classes together into a great student body.

No freshman need be ashamed of living up to the college traditions. It would be a sorry school that didn't have them.

BACK AGAIN

It's good to be back in college again. And to mix with its hustle and bustle to fill our little hour and look into the hall. Makes me feel that we've all grown up.

What a group of new faces! Who are the ones of give-ups? They are bringing such life to our school. We are easier, more amicable, and anxious to learn everything. Our college traditions and customs.

As we walk through the halls, why pleasant it is to meet by the classrooms we know. There's a spirit and a grip on the hand. And the cheer of "Hello!"

The instructors are welcoming students once more, and we are ready to learn with them.

Here are the students with pride that we're part of it. It's the pleasantest place we have found.

We are glad, we are proud, we're welcomed to be.

MEN'S STYLES ARE OUTLINED

Practically the only type of suit worn by the sophomore class is the army or military style. Nearly all boys and men, none a certain type, but the southern states are in a majority of suits. The suit is usually a two-piece with a completely tailored suit with a bow tie in a manner of modern cutting.

WAYS WHERE THE BAND?

Nothing adds more to the spirit of a school than a good band. We have heard bands in the past, and we have admired "Tommy," "Terry," and "Pete," but the band that Puget Sound would have is a thing which demands support and effort. It is a lot of fun to yell for the team, but it's lot of fun for the old familiar Logger songs are there to help.

Puget Sound expects the people of Tacoma to support the games played in the Stadium, but they expect right to expect, that we have a band there to entertain them. It adds to the spirit of the occasion, and it undoubtedly is drawing power. No city will support a school unless it is interesting enough to turn out a good roof-cutting section with pep, spirit, and all the other "Trinas."

The Peacock Society is an up-to-date musical organization. This year's society will be its first to turn out an organization, and the people are looking forward to the first performance, and give the band its support through the entire season. It's not only a good deal of sport, but the team and the school have a right to expect it.

FOR WHICH YOU CAME

In the midst of the world of green caps and attractive countries, we do not forget the importance of which you have come to this, one of the finest Colleges in the Northeast. For the first time of College life time is able to forget the joy and permanent satisfaction that comes from a lesson or a work well prepared. Then, too, it is no easy task to stay at home, but when the occasion calls for it, the Peacock Society Band has few grades or even worse, at no expense. The Peacock Society Band's reputation has brought many compliments to the band's members. The Peacock Society Band has been outstanding in the University and high school contests and will probably continue to command the attention. The band is the most enthusiastic "B" team in the country. They are the people who are working for the sake of the school, and they are the people who are working for the sake of the school.
