They had autumn portrayed by a glass fountain with real water. I got lost by the head of the department of geology and planned the program. We present from real numbers will be sung. The question of meeting life’s good job was left school. The price was worth it. They said it was worth the time and effort. The kids would be able to appreciate the concept of life in the same way.

No, it’s not the handwriting. My professors tell me I’m a very good student. I can appreciate the concept of life in the same way. The kids would be able to appreciate the concept of life in the same way.

Logger Hoop MENS WIN OVER COLUMBIA U

Lumberjacks Take Non-Conference Game From Huskies By Cliff Heffelfinger, McCoy named in final tally.

Opening up in the fourth quarter, the Loggers clamped down on Monday night but Tuesday night the Maroon played a tight game.

The Loggers maintained the Maroon 3-0 and with only one shot prior to the Maroon's basket made at 1:30 of the open. The Maroon went on a drive and scored against the Loggers.

The Loggers' defense was not strong enough to break the Maroon's defense and they were not able to break through the Maroon's defense.

The Loggers went on to win the game against the Maroon.

DEBATES AND CROWDS
What a exciting week it has been! The College has made a noteworthy crop of talks.

The debate at Christmas last week seemed to be the main event of the week. The two teams were well prepared and both sides made some excellent points. The affirmative team argued that the war was a mistake and that the best course of action would be to negotiate a peace treaty. The negative team countered that the war was necessary to defend democracy and that negotiating a peace treaty would be a betrayal of the people who had fought and died in the war.

Each team presented their arguments with great enthusiasm and both sides were well supported by the audience. The debate was a great success and the whole college benefited from it.

The team that won the debate was the affirmative team. They had a strong case and were able to refute the negative team's arguments. The negative team also had a strong case, but they were not able to keep up with the affirmative team.
