Huskies To Play Second Game With Loggers Next Tuesday

In a return game the University of Washington Huskies will meet the Willamette University Loggers at Lincoln Bowl. The Huskies gave the Bells a tough time in the first game of the two-game series which ended in a 1-1 tie.

It is hoped that this time the two teams will be able to play a lively game as the Huskies are not too deep in their lineup. The Loggers, however, are far more experienced and will be able to handle the Huskies.

The game will be played at Lincoln Bowl.

We have the pleasure of hearing the Whitman All-Folks cast, who are musical, and are not studying in the Conservatory, give a number of their concert. They sung well, and while their presentation had the firey quality of their previous efforts, they are in no way to be compared with the great musical performances presented by some of the students. While we are always eager for our Whitman friends, it is gratifying to see the beautiful and effective manner in which the concert was presented by the students.

The Whitman Club had the pleasure to be the audience to a number of their best musical numbers. Their presentation was very much appreciated by the audience, and it is a matter of regret that we were not able to hear more of their wonderful playing.

With the decline of the old circuits, the college music presentations have become more and more appreciated by the students, and it is to be hoped that the students will continue to show as much interest in the music as they have in the past.

So Much Happens

The existence of the Arts and Sciences is an absolute necessity. It is essential for the future of the college, and we are glad to see that the students are taking the opportunity to develop their talents. In the past, we have had the pleasure of hearing the students present wonderful musical numbers, and we are sure that the students will continue to show as much interest in the music as they have in the past.

A King and a Rogue

In the Elizabethan period, a young king had given the throne to his uncle and queen, then left for Italy. However, when he returned he found that the queen had been murdered by her own brother. The young king then took the throne and ruled with a strong hand. He was a great leader, and his reign was marked by peace and prosperity.

We have been pleased to hear the students present wonderful musical numbers in the past, and we are sure that the students will continue to show as much interest in the music as they have in the past.

The Conservatory has had the pleasure of hearing the students present wonderful musical numbers, and we are sure that the students will continue to show as much interest in the music as they have in the past.
