HOMECOMING FEATURed NEXT WEEK

Game With P. U. - Follies; Dinner, Blazer Dinner, Nov. 21.

Bulletin Being Sent to All Puget Students

The College of Puget Sound will observe its annual homecoming program this year with a two-day celebration, to be opened with the homecoming speech on November 21, with festivities and early dinners and open houses for graduates and former students.

The home comers will make their homecoming at the big bonfire, to be held tonight at the west end of campus near the residence hall. The bonfire, presented by the senior class, will be in charge of Mr. George Almy.

In the annual bonfire, the college will feature the most extensive homecoming bonfire ever given at the college, including music, dancing, refreshments, and a bonfire with a large number of students. The bonfire will be held in front of the residence hall at 9:30 P.M., and the students will be invited to attend the bonfire.

The homecoming bonfire will be the highlight of the homecoming festivities, and will be followed by a formal dinner in the college dining hall.

LOCAL PRINTERS - BOOST COLLEGE

In the last issue of Alabaka's lMal, a local printer's monthly, there was an article on the College of Puget Sound which appeared under the title of "Printers Boost College." The article was written by Mr. George Almy, and it discussed the importance of printers in the college.

The article stated that printers are important in the college because they provide the college with the necessary printing services, and that the college should do more to support local printers. The article also pointed out that local printers can provide the college with better printing services than the college could provide itself.

The article concluded that the college should do more to support local printers, and that the college should consider using local printers for its printing needs.

LOGGERS VS. COLLEGE TONIGHT
