THE PUGET SOUND TRAIL

Loggers were playing a two-week series away. Coach Roy Sandberg is concentrating on outscoring the right stuff in the Loggers' attack. The squad is assumed to be a model of four forwards returning, but some freshmen are pressing hard for regular positions.

In experimenting with various combinations, Sandberg has yet to find one entirely satisfactory. A practice scrimmage Wednesday afternoon against the Hamilton High school squad failed to show the upstartening of onlookers a sparking brand of ball. The Loggers had little trouble on the offense but showed a weakness in the backfield, letting their smaller opponents through for frequent short shots.

SCHEDULE Practice scrimmages are being arranged for January 15, 16 at the University of Washington versus the Iraqs, and January 20 at the University of Washington versus the Rockies.

THE WATCH DOG

Six members of a certain fraternity have been in accidents this semester, but they were just as many reckless drivers back in the olden days. Only the names have changed. And now some female Latin lady for the moment is Jane Ramsey, or is Mr. Imms in that time-era again.

After watching Jane for a year with a record of dates on every night but six since the start of the semester, I am beginning to think that it is probably not a real woman, but a washing of Jane's. People have never heard of her, so we say that she was that flying for Wings . . . personal nomination for the best smile of the month. As long as we have that pose, we are happy to hang on the "Westinghouse Daily."
