On U. S. Entrance Into League

In the collective system of the world community which includes the United States is a party and the U. S. entrance into the League of Nations is a step in the direction of membership in the League the U. S. is placed at a disadvantage? Should the United States refuse to allow the League's contribution to the cause of world peace to be added to the already existing League's burden?

It is very likely that a military and political solution of the world problem cannot be found. If such a solution cannot be found, the League of Nations may perhaps be the best possible; and by appointing in the League the representatives of the United States, the League will be able to facilitate a solution of the world problem.

To the students of the university who are not interested in the world problem, the League may seem a distant thing, and its influence in the future will not be felt by them. But the students who are interested in the world problem should realize that the League of Nations is a stepping stone to world peace. If the League of Nations is successful, it will be an important factor in the solution of the world problem. If the League of Nations fails, it will be a step backward in the solution of the world problem.

The League of Nations is a step toward world peace, and it is important that the students of the university who are interested in the world problem should participate in the League of Nations and give their support to it. If the students of the university who are interested in the world problem will support the League of Nations, the world problem will be solved, and the world will be in peace. If the students of the university who are interested in the world problem will not support the League of Nations, the world problem will not be solved, and the world will be in war.

In the future, the students of the university who are interested in the world problem should support the League of Nations and give their support to it. If the students of the university who are interested in the world problem will support the League of Nations, the world problem will be solved, and the world will be in peace. If the students of the university who are interested in the world problem will not support the League of Nations, the world problem will not be solved, and the world will be in war.
