The Forum —

A distinct marked progress at the College with increasing land value. There are four series of open student and faculty forums that meet to discuss the policies of William Ran- dolph Hearst as an influence on contemporary American life. Those in attendance found an hour of thought-provoking discussion, because the group looks keenly into both sides of the problem — it is needless to say that their efforts benefitted.

A recent president of the APCS once said, "College students don’t want to think." If he based his thoughts on a soggy, popular in some college circles, which we all come to college, but we want to come for knowledge! So we’ll raise hell while we’re here!" he may well have been right. But this forum, newly organized, and as yet attended by only a dozen or so, meets the needs of our Washington university students — there is a group which calls itself the "Little Congress" and periodically studies the Congressional record, going through thousands of details of all the major questions. This entails no little amount of research, but these students are glad for the opportunity to study the social issues of the day. They afford some place to go where students can get together. Margaret Lilly tells me the group looks keenly into both sides of the problem.

Collegiate Collections: Warning! Don’t ask Wall Piper what the difference between a horse with a sore nose and the next student because he’ll tell you what the answer is. If the student chaplain performs work of any kind, it’s not to be expected that he’ll know. He is a Frenchman and the Frenchmen, as you well know, are really the life of the party.

A Reporter’s Notebook: Thinks, Maurice, "Hop Gold" Whittier for your reference in this pillar in student chaplain Thursday. As for the second line, I think it was the best presented for a long time but Claire may Markland walked off with top honors in the French class. The Frenchmen, as you well know, are really the life of the party.

Last Home Track Meet Slated for Saturday Afternoon

Sigma Zetes Again Take Murial Outdoor Soft-Ball Championship

Sigma Zeta Episilons’ softball team captured hard-fought victories over Delta Chi and Delta Nu, on Saturday last week to complete their schedule undeviated and retain the intramural soft-ball championship.

The opening inning of the final game Thursday saved the Zetes from defeat at the hands of the Delta Kappas and prevented a tie between these two teams for the title. Trailing 2 to 1 at the seventh frame opened, the Zetes batted through their entire lineup after the first two batters had flied out. The Delta Kappas were unable to score in their half of the inning and the Zetes won by a 7 to 2 margin.

The Mu Chis, also holding for a tie for the season crown, forced their tilt with the Zetes to ten innings, the longest game of this year’s play, before heading to a three-run Zete uprising, giving the latter a 8 to 2 vantage, which proved too much for the Mu Chis in the first inning to take an early lead, but the Zetes reversed the trend and in the fifth forced the contest into extra innings.

The Mu Chis annexed their last two contests last week, giving the Zetes a 11 to 2 outright victory over them and fourth place in the final standings. They ran wild against the Delta Kappas in this one-sided 20 to 2 tally, tallying in every inning but the second and driving in nine counters in the fifth inning. The Zetes batted through their entire lineup in this game.
