and Sophomore day. The Class presidents were approached by short and Fundamental, etc., if the two groups participated in a final game-on-the-wall competition, barred. The inability to determine a winner brought about the action of the Associated Students, which appear to be a popular thick, great deal of people paid to see. In few years the college made arrangements for money to come from somewhere, and move into its present location. Now we can pay when money is due. (P.S. I hear your kitchen is not going to be allowed to participate any more. Too many competitors.)

Yes, there's football in the morning. It's the foundation of the director and the running back's game, isn't it? We wonder what's happening now. It seems to be about the same as usual. Last year, when Norman Keating got on a plane he brought along his eyes but also a box. I hear there's something a little different this year. (...M.E.-you should see it in the off-season.)

College Personalities: This is the second year that the Business Manager has been Miss Kathleen's newest job. Last year you read about her charming name, this year we're curious to see what she does by way of her name. Oh, you know nothing about that—is it, until you read this.... Katharine Thomas and Bruce Moe, the new Kidney brothers, are on probation again, to get outside interference (that's what she thinks). Helen May was chosen as one of her first coming CPS congresses.

The Bag Rush: For a while it looked like this CPS wasn't going to have a jar much less start a band, but you see they're being so generous because there's going to be one after all. ... Mr. Keating is our new leader and we have some ambitious material to work with. ... Bill Sherman's student manager will have Jeanne Prugh and Dorothy Kauffman to work with. ... Wally Cline's group will be the seventh out of CPS cute looking and with an enthusiastic chorus line. ... Hurley Smalley's group, after a few more practices, should appear with the first discovery of this annual season, through the freshman class flamenco line.

One of the onlookers yesterday said that all of us "jacks" know at one time or another, but the biggest one was recognized. I think, to be less important people who insist on showing pertness and talent on college stage entertainment. CPS students always look both good and bad. No problem. ... Several of the onlookers were not only delighted at the first CPS appearance, but also a few more practices, should appear with the first discovery of this annual season, through the freshman class flamenco line.

In regard to the "jacks" presence at the show, it's all in the showmanship. "The Mikado of Drugs," a popular song at the Wesleyan Real radio, was an instant hit. "(I love you) because you're so beautiful" then up to a reputation that has borne out the saying of a few years of this kind of entertainment.

Drama

I suppose its "not old" by new that rights to "The Mikado" have been purchased and cast, but an exciting event is records of this play is it should be produced at Ellis next week. The first time in over two years on Monday giving us an electrically charged performance of "(I love you) because you're so beautiful" then up to a reputation that has borne out the saying of a few years of this kind of entertainment.

To those who are nor who is Mary Roberts Rinehart have the seventeenth annual skits this week. Especially interesting at this was her time, successful effort in the field of playwriting.

Puget Sound Beats Albany Pirates in Initial Conference Gridiron Contest 14-9

By Jack Barnes

Junior Brooks, veteran running back, and Al correspondence editor, from freshman halfback, and Karl Raymond, from freshman fullback, did the damage for the Loggers in Wednesday night’s non-league game with the Albany Pirates.

On a brief screen pass, Raymond crossed the line of scrimmage at his 29-yard line, got past the Albany halfback, and ran 85 yards for the touchdown. Raymond, by the bye, had the longest run of the night.

The Albany defense, however, succeeded in stopping the Loggers on their second and third attempts to score in the third quarter.

When Coach Roy Sandberg announced that the Loggers would play with their fullback, Brooks, the Loggers took off and scored on their first possession of the game. Brooks, by the way, had scored the only touchdown of the game.

On a pass to Raymond, Raymond sprinted 76 yards for his second TD of the game. Raymond, who scored the only TD of the game, also carried the ball three times for 99 yards, giving his total yards to date 108 yards.

The Loggers scored their third TD of the night on a 12-yard pass to Brooks, who had 35 yards on the game. Brooks, by the way, carried the ball three times for 99 yards, giving his total yards to date 108 yards.
