Amateur Critique Gives Review of Homecoming Play

Not since the shade of Hamlet's court, not since the death of the enigmatic Polonius, has there been a more appropriate role for a student actor to play than the part of the eccentric character of the omni-skilled King Claudius. The ball is rolling, let’s keep it rolling. The Trail just passed the six column size for Hoganist. We have to keep it at all costs by sexual cooperation with those advertisers who wish to see this college possible.

Loggers Tangle With Whitman This Saturday

Game Set For Stadium; To Be Feature of Homecoming Program

College of Puget Sound's football grid team will tangle with the Whitman later this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon in the annual homecoming clashing of the Loggers and Blues.

The Loggers are coached by N. Bolek, who has been at the Walla Walla school for a quarter of a century.

During this time the Whitman will be under Bolek's tutelage and it is expected that not one could be prouder of the Blue Devils.

So far this year the Loggers have lost only one bit and that to Whitman, a sound 6 to 0 victory over the University of Idaho team, a game which has been described as the finest display of pedestrian football in the current season. They have also won from the Pacific Tigers and the Whitman is rated one of the most formidable teams in the conference, which the Loggers hail as part of the season.

When Bolek's team takes stock in this year's claim to having been a fine team, it will certainly be on the defending team. There is no team in the area that has been as successful as the Loggers and have earned their title of champions.

They have comiled a record that any team in the league would be more than willing to have. The Loggers are under the tutelage of Coach Roy Sandberg, who has been named the coach of the week for his team's great showing in the last game.

The Loggers have been the victims of a hard game against the Whitman and have managed to hold on to a 6 to 0 lead that they were able to hold until the last moment.

Many Loggers have been honored by the Walla Walla High School, among them are the Silver Bear trophy winners, the former All-State player, and the former All-State player. The Loggers have also been named to the All-State team.

Winning at home made the Loggers the elite of the league, but they have also won games against the Whitman and the Pacific Tigers.

The Loggers have been a fine team and have earned the respect of all their opponents. They have been the most successful team in the league and have been able to hold on to the top spot in the standings.
