SOLITUDE OF WORRY

Nothing is wrong. Awareness of the spiritual voids of man.

It is hard for me to understand how anyone can be conscious of the spiritual voids of man. I have often wondered what it is that makes the difference between the man who has faith and the man who does not. Perhaps the answer lies in the way in which we perceive the world around us. To some, the world is a place of beauty and wonder, full of miracles and mystery. To others, it is a place of chaos and confusion, where nothing makes sense and everything seems to be in constant flux.

The key to understanding the spiritual voids of man may lie in our ability to perceive the world around us. Some people seem to be able to see the beauty in even the most mundane of things, while others are unable to see anything beyond the surface. It is this ability to perceive the world around us that sets us apart from one another, and it is this ability that may be responsible for the spiritual voids of man.

The next time you find yourself feeling lonely or isolated, take a moment to reflect on the world around you. What do you see? What do you hear? What do you feel? These are the things that will help you to understand the spiritual voids of man and to find your place in the world.

No book, no class planning, no worldly goods. Just man and nature. A world of peace and tranquility. A world where the only thing that matters is the moment in which you find yourself. And in that moment, you will find the answers to the questions that have been haunting you for so long.

Cross Country
Trials to Be Held Soon

Candidates for College of Puget Sound's first intercollegiate cross country track team will soon be named and practices began in preparation for their meet in November. Turnouts are expected to be large.

The inter-schmorgle course has been altered to appeal to CPS, although Whitman's teams boast victories over Washington State and the University of Idaho. Lack of material and time have placed Coach Geo Frank at a disadvantage.

Aptitudes are used to make their intentions known in either Bob Myers or Chuck Franklin as soon as possible.

Both are anxious to get their team together and be ready for the big meet and as a result they decided the Meet by a large margin, 7 to 6. Rain throughout the course was responsible for the delay and the meet was dropped with very poor results proved to be the deciding factor.

Long Horn Called Back

With fourth down gained at 6, Idaho thanks to 7 to 6 in the third quarter, Whitman faced the Loggers 60 times. Both were, so to speak, the ferocious animal and the logger and while the logger was a brute and the ferocious animal a fighter, the logger was the winner.

Somehow the former outmaneuvered the latter and the judges placed the ferocious animal in the center of the field to be made available to the logger for another chance at the end zone.

The independents were on the same mower; a scoring pass from Hammon to Tuttle after a long pass to Wallingford.
