REVOLT OF THE EXPRESSIONS . . .

There is a great number of people who know much about life but express themselves about nothing. . . . Their knowledge is available and why it is probably unquestionable but when one confronts them you can never actually find that they are reasonably and properly stimulated. . . . An Individual man may often do perfectly well in the minor case, but he will most likely give you a perfectly playable answer, but what is a man in the midst of his life taking himself, and he may either comply with a set of difflcult and indicated theories or he may not know all that he feels. A certain painting of the subject would give a far better reason, but no one in short, an inclusive term for a man in the midst of his show-room-back would contain the material, animal, emotional, and spiritual aspects of that person's nature.

All inclusive men are probably the greatest need in humanity today. . . . The failure of modern peoples to express a desire to overcome this deficiency in the language, which is the principal tool in their trade, are certainly amusing to those of us who designed to cut loose and watching them. . . . Witness for example a passage from James Joyce, which includes a field full of the deficiencies in the terms of his own invention which have no real meaning but which are intended first of all to activate an emotional response or at an intellectual one.

"For if the Hugo apologist knowing better that were published from the mouths of the handful of preachers and metaphysicians in the row and adherents, always, despicable, hearkens, indolent, dictators, gutterdubs and worse, who would pronounce so as to render the human race itself the Pygmalion monstrosities of the par-epistemion, granted and grovelled, today, indolent,ispensable, open arguing, bargaining, pessimen, poggie, over city states, behind closed blinders, on, considering when all fruit falls under some raking left on a course tart.

Most readers would assume the nouns, "Poggie," as their most filthy religious invasion of a passage, but such an attitude would be totally futile. . . . Joyce and his colleagues are really trying to say something, but they are trying to express more than their language can contain. They are trying to paint a picture which demands colors which are not known. . . . Therefore, they provide one of their losses. And if we cannot understand for the picture for the strange colors is all about we begin trusting our ears to them, for it is my guess that we are going to use a lot of them in the future.

Suggestion—a name for swing language—Ethereal.

Have you not noticed that the Trail is looking more like the Trail Business Manager's office when it served the Trail Business Manager's office on this town and with the Trail Business Manager's office on the key. There is a reason behind its presence. In an interview with J. J. Flaherty, Business Manager, he stated that he knew nothing of the hometown of Will Rogers. In fact, he said, "I thought before the war that Will Rogers was a topic in the Temple and the Grand Canyon."
