The Puget Sound Trail

By Phil McMillin

Sidelights About fifteen years ago, R. G. DeBlyyra composed the words and music to a number which he called "Whistling." After several performances in various places, he composed the words and music to "What a Wonderful World." He predicted a considerable success for this number, and it was not long before it was widely performed in many places.

Robert Monroe and Charles

DeBlyyra were on the scene for the premiere of the new number.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans, W. E. Young, B. G. Nettleton, Genevieve

Robinson, Herbert Hughes, Loutse Johnson, Robert Keery, Roger

best story of the night, and

In the "Pine Parade," one will find "Great Day for Dancing," a tune that's not too far away from the song. "You Wish It Was A Little Less Loud.""Pine Parade"

is the song that is to be presented at the next dance at the Trail office.

Sixteen 1100 notes are played on "Pine Parade" with various dances music that's a lot of note.

Last year, the song "Alexanders Ranch Band" turned out well, and in the same note, "I will have them and will not stop.

And so do I.

When we made our elaborate arrangements to have the club house completed on February 1, we were disappointed when we were told that the work had not been started. But more than that, we were disappointed.

The people who are building

the house are not as good as we thought they would be.

In the meantime we are

whipping around the plans

and making

wider plans for the future.

We have talked and

thought about it

and

are

determined to

have a club house

that

will

be

worthwhile.

We have

had

heretofore a good deal of success in raising money, and we are confident that we can raise enough to build a

club house that will

worthwhile.

We

have

had

many

friends who have been kind enough to

help

us, and we are

grateful

for

their

kindness.

We

are

going to

try our best to

 raise

more money, and we hope

that

you

will

help

us

in

this

work.

We

are

going

to

try

our

best

to

make

the

club house

a

place

where

everyone

will

welcome.

With but three minor intercollegiate sports left on the interschool schedule for the Zeta Sigma Zeta, the freshman committee is striving to fill the gap in the season. The Sigma Zeta Zeta Fraternity met at a regular meeting Monday night to discuss plans for the future. The session was called to order by President, Paul E. Anderson, who announced the closing of the Freshman catalog for tine Delta Gamma fraternity. The organizing committee then proceeded to discuss the problems of the season.

One of the main problems discussed was the question of whether or not there would be a continuation of the interschool activities for the current year. The committee felt that it was necessary to have some form of interschool competition in order to maintain the interest of the students. It was also decided that the interschool activities should be continued as long as there was sufficient interest and enthusiasm.

The committee also discussed the possibility of adding new activities to the interschool schedule. It was suggested that a new activity such as Intramural Track or Intramural Volleyball might be added to the interschool program.

The meeting adjourned after the committee had decided to continue the interschool activities as long as there was sufficient interest and enthusiasm. The next meeting of the committee will be held on November 10th. The committee will continue to work on the interschool activities and will report its findings to the faculty at the next meeting.
