College To Be Host At Conference For Methodist Youth

The campus of Oregon State College, Corvallis, is to be the host for a conference to be held on September 30th. The conference is being sponsored by the Methodist Youth Federation of Oregon.

College activities will begin with a welcoming assembly at 9 a.m. on the Saturday morning. The afternoon session will consist of a panel discussion on "The College Experience in an Age of Change." The evening session will feature a film, "The College Experience in the Age of Change."

On Sunday, there will be a workshop on "The College Experience in an Age of Change." The workshop will be divided into groups for discussion and debate.

The conference will conclude on Monday morning with a worship service and closing banquet.

Three library books reported as missing

Miss Helen L. Davis, librarian at Oregon State College, has reported the loss of three books. The books are: "The College Experience in an Age of Change," "The College Experience in the Age of Change," and "The College Experience in the Age of Change: A Guide for Students and Faculty." The books are believed to have been removed from the library shelves.

Dr. D. Bolling, former president of Oregon State College, will be one of the principal speakers of the conference. He will address the theme of "The College Experience in an Age of Change."

The conference is open to all students and faculty members of Oregon State College.

The conference will conclude on Monday morning with a worship service and closing banquet.

New Student Union Building Will Unite College Activities

For almost 10 years, students of Oregon State College have been living at a disadvantage. The building of the new Union is expected to bring the student body closer together.

The Student Union Building will be the center of student activities. It will provide a place for students to gather and socialize, as well as a space for student organizations to hold meetings and events.

The building will also include a large auditorium, a library, a cafeteria, and other facilities. It will be a place where students can study, relax, and participate in a wide range of activities.

The Student Union Building will be a major improvement for the student body, and it is expected to enhance the overall college experience.

Narrowly Escapes Drowning In Underwater Diving Suit

Have you ever had a desire to explore the depths of Puget Sound? Not content with more workable thinking, Bob Williams has satisfied his curiosity and become a full-fledged deep sea diver.

Instead of reveling in class notes and exams, this member of the Associated Students' Swimming Club made his own pool. He fashioned his headgear from sheet-metal and used a pound of copper wire. There are three windows in the helmet—one each in the front, center, and back. The rest of his apparatus consists simply to protect him from the sea. He is now a member of the Washington Professional Divers of Seattle, Washington, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The large Commons with its adjoining banquet table will be available for large groups or small parties. When the tables are removed, the Commons will have a spacious dance hall which will be available for large groups or small parties. Three Programs Listed For Artists' Series

The Artists' Series, sponsored again by the students and faculty, will include the following three series:

1. The first, a dramatic production, is to be presented by the Dramatic Society on Wednesday, February 7.

2. The second, a presentation of the Westernaires on Thursday, February 8, will include a concert in the west, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

3. The third, a program of the Lincoln Club, will be presented on Friday, February 9.

Circulation Manager, Bob Bonifas, has announced that the Associated Students' Union Building will be open to the public on weekends and holidays.

The Student Union Building will be a significant improvement for the student body, and it is expected to enhance the overall college experience.
