Should Artist Series Expense Be Included in A.S.C.P. Budget for Coming Years?

It wouldn't seem a good idea to include the Art Series in the A.S.C.P. budget. Students who were fortunate enough to see the opera "Don Pasquale" Wednesday evening can testify to the worth of the Artist Series. "Don Pasquale" played to a fully charged auditorium and is proof that such things are wanted on campus. Some students said that they were having difficulty rais- ing enough money to support the series. If the department is deprived of such a large portion of the student fund, the Artist Series is important enough to give at least a small share in next semester's budget.

Although Reed College and Western Washington College are in a different academic year, the issue is of more significance at C. P. E. there is a particular reason why the Art Series should be continued. The programs given this year have revealed that both institutions are prone to include the Artist Series will be an easy process for Central Board if the student body is in favor of it.
