New Social Tendencies Found At Student Chapel Programs

Surveys and discussions have indicated the glorious advent of student chicanery, freshmen are not the only ones involved.

In previous years, student chapels have been inoperable. But this spring, a number of new and interesting student chapels have been started, and students of all classes are involved.

One of these chapels, the Puyallup fair, is being held this year under the supervision of C. P. S. and has been attended by a large crowd of students.

Mid-Semester Grade Estimates Are Wanted
To Aid Students in Determining Standing

"If I'd only known ..."—wailed a disappointed student when semester grades came out. "Two months ago a little warning that my standing was G instead of my expected A could have helped me realize that grades aren't everything.

So runs the sentiment of a large college group who are convinced of the merit of a mid-Semester grade report. A mid-Semester grade report issued by each professor to his students would have helped to correct the periodic reports of unsatisfactory work which are already in the hands of the business managers. Of course, a mid-Semester grade report would not be a substitute for a final grade report, but it would be an aid in the determination of standing during that time when final examinations are being given and students decide which courses to take for next semester.

Conferring with a student on the quality of his work is the feeling of superiority. They feel that they have absolutely no use for the band, yet it is rapidly becoming recognized as an outstanding group. This is due to the fact that it is growing, not only in number, but in quality and stature. Many of the members are making a name for themselves in the Northwest. It sounds that by the Wigwam:

In the junior C. P. E. family circuit, the Northwest speedsters are already the most powerful unit. In actual Racquetball proceedings, I wonder how Frank Van Fry, of the Puget Sound Club, and Zete, who has at least a million, might not be the fastest in the world. At this rate, they might be a threat to the title of fastest in the world. At this point in the season, the Northwest Conference is looking forward to a great number of matches.

The Northwest Conference speedsters meet twice a week at the Seattle Racquet Club. Each team has a captain, who is responsible for keeping the team in shape and ensuring that the matches are conducted fairly. The Northwest Conference has a history of producing some of the fastest players in the world, and the speedsters are no exception. With some of the fastest players in the country, the Northwest Conference is sure to be a force to be reckoned with in the years to come.
