Adelphians Give Home Concert at Jason Lee Tonight

Having returned from their highly successful tour the Adelphian choir will present a homecoming concert in the Gymnasium tonight at 8:30, under the direction of Clyde Keutzer. The program will vary from year to year.

Leonard Raver, CPS student pianist and choir accompanist, will play a group of two works: Prelude from “The Magic Flute” by Beethoven and “Etude” by Paul Juon.

The program as scheduled follows: “A Mighty Fortress” by Martin Luther, “Ma Lian Big Ball” by W. Duchess; “Joy Is My Song” by Leroy Oatsra; “Song of the Weary” by Tom Scott; “Song of the Reaper” by E. P, Tcheshnovsky; “Fireflies”, Russian folk song; “Little Waltz” by Harry B. Wilson; “Serenade” arr. by Robert Shaw; “Scatopera Etude” by Auriel A. Waltz; “The Rosary” by Beethoven; “Italian Street Song” by Victor Herbert. The Adelphians completed their 17-day tour of the West Coast Sunday at 11:15 p.m.

They enjoyed sunshine during most of the trip. They ran into trouble between Roseburg and Ashland. However, none of them are sporting any of the suntans worn by a number of the students on the trip.

Batten Takes Office In Primary Vote

Election Shows Poor Student Turnout

Scoring 185 votes more than his opponent, John Sampson, Bill Batten was elected ACSPS president by 410 students in the final election early this morning.

A total of 667 Loggers, approximately 2000, were interested enough in the election to cast their votes for the presidency.

Borden Batten was elected in the primaries by an overwhelming majority to the office of vice-president.

The new ACSPS secretary, Nancy Nielson, polled 394 votes. The student representative to the House of Delegates was selected by nearly 440 students.

The next ACSPS meeting, March 1st, will be held in the Fieldhouse.

Service Organizations Need Material Aid For Upkeep

The next problem that's going to shake its head under our noses is that of how to finance a service organization. After that problem is solved we're going to be faced with determining just what organization is a service organization.

This week in Central, a spokesman for the Knights of the Logger presented a tally of how difficult the organization has been operating in the red. The Knights had a bill of some $25 outstanding. Fifteen dollars was owed the Tamanawas for the Knights' picture in the annual. Around $8 was owed the most traditional candy the Knights passed out at Christmas time.

Central voted to pay the bill.

The Tamanawas had already cut the picture bill in half because the service organizations can't pay for them. For the bill for the Tamanawas was only $5.

Someone else cut out that even the passing of candy at Christmas time was a tradition, it should not be continued except at the request of the students.

Somebody else said that the service organizations are not allowed to raise funds for the operation of their groups.

The next problem that's going to shake its head under our noses is that of how to finance a service organization. After that problem is solved we're going to be faced with determining just what organization is a service organization.

The Knights and the Ladies do the ushering for the chapel and the evening programs. During freshman week the Knights handled the chapel program and the freshman program.

It takes a good deal of the service members' time to take care of the activities of the student body. Since it's an honor to be a member of the organization, but aren't we putting a lot of pain with that honor. It's no fun to find your working your head off for somebody and then they won't permit you to keep your head above water.

The suggestion has been made that if the women on the campus organized into the Associated Women Students the same system of procedure would result. That the boys and girls in the service organizations have no more than the same problems, and procedures that could be true for the Knights and the Associated Men Students. This method would be better than instigating another body that would run parallel to the ones that are already in existence.

Not only can we welcome the Tamanawas Show, but we can congratulate the students who are working to make the show a success.

Margaret Myles Scheduled As Standard Hour Soloist

By BOB PETERSON

Margaret Myles, CPS voice instructor, is scheduled to give her Standard Hour program in the Theatre. Miss Myles will sing with the Seattle Symphony orchestra under the direction of Louis Lane.

Margaret Myles, who recently received the National Voice Award as outstanding woman voice student, will demonstrate to a nation-wide audience the fine abilities that are known to musical circles in the Northwest—false her voice is one of the finest we have here in Seattle.

Let The Chins Fall...
By CECIL REEMER, Sports Editor

At the end of successful seasons in both basketball and football, it seems only logical that we look ahead to the poor people for next year's campaign.

Football, in which the Loggers tied for the top spot in the conference, should take a turn for the better. With only four varsity men graduating in June (Pollock, Horjes, Mattson and Hedges), possibilities for another championship team would seem to be in the offing.

Scheduled to play at quarterback is John Heinrich, Jr. (son of the coach). Heinrich has been attending the longer school since the beginning of the semester, after transferring from Washington State, where, rumor has it, he was scheduled to be starting a ninth in the Cougar backfield.

Coach Heinrich, ever on the alert for high school talent for his ball teams, may have two other passing stars to work with, come the grid season.

Art Villiers of Lincoln and Bobby Haskins, from Stadium, are both seriously considering going to CPS.

SPC Wins From CPS In Season Opener 7-6
After dropping their initial tilt to Seattle Pacific College Tuesday, the Loggers didn't hesitate in preparing for their first conference game with PLC next week at Jefferson Park.

The Lutes will have no shortage of commodities when they meet the Loggers. Two returning hurdlers—Lovel Emson and Bebe Bop—and a multiplicity of athletes have been on the CPS roster this season. Thompson announced posters are up in the CSP hall and the WAA office. Girls wishing to enter any events should sign their entries on the pool deck.

Special events: Freestyle, 20 yard freestyle, 25 yard backstroke, 15 yard breaststroke, 10 yard butterfly.

Kappa Sigs Capture Intramural Top Spots
Kappa Sig teams took top honors in both Maroon and White league intramural basketball play this year. The team with the seven wins and no losses in both leagues was Don Danielson's 13.4 average for the Kappa Sigma Maroon five was a big factor in the team's success. Wayne Munn, Bob Parke, Carl Niemi, Ed Amann, Mary Halleck, Brian Knaula, Dan Fife, and Peter Johnson all contributed to the team's success.
