CAMPUS WEEK

Sunshine spread over the campus Monday and students started thinking of vacation and how they would spend it. Cuts were taken in classes to ride out to the Point or to cram for the many tests given this week. The weather didn't bother the students later in the week when rain brought good studying weather. The instructors were busy tabulating mid-semester grades to send into the registrar and students scurried to make up grades and papers long overdue.

Athletes gathered at the Fieldhouse hoping they would make the grade there with beginning turnouts for track and baseball. Coaches mulled over the participating diamond and cinder men for tentative varsity teams . . . The women athletes entered inter-sorority basketball competition with the final championship game today at noon.

The debate team was already on vacation, but armed with notes and arguments for their trip to Stillwater. Tuesday classes were suspended after 2:30 in memory of Mrs. Todd . . . In Central Board Tuesday, new and old members of student government sat in on the meeting. After the order of business President Ernst passed his gavel over to tall, lanky Cal Frazier and told him to appoint a chairman for Campus Day . . . Wandering around campus, guided by Jo Copple were members of Seattle U's Sioux honorary who were on campus to study CPS and its Spur chapter. Other visitors on campus were Kappa Sigs who came for a conclave . . . Tuesday night the OTs ate in the SUB and discussed their open house.

Wednesday brought rain and more tests . . . The new Knight pages posed in the SUB lounge for today's paper . . . The cafeteria was the usual jumble of chairs, tables, lunchsacks, trays and people who ate and talked over the beat of the jukebox.

Chapel goers filed into the auditorium Thursday and saw a movie . . . In the Little Chapel faculty members and students received Communion from Drs. Magee and Frederick . . . Easter services at sunrise were scheduled for the Fieldhouse.

Education people were busy preparing their Future Teachers' booklet . . . Dr. Tomlinson posted the results of his latest contemporary affairs test and the people bound for summer school in Sweden were subjecting themselves to a series of innoculations and injections before their trip.

Over in the music building the Adelphians were packing up music and waiting to take the bus for their tour to California and Montana. On Thursday the musical students stood before the Rotary Club for luncheon and selections following.

SPRING VACATION: March 25-April 1.

Elections End . . .

Cal Frazier, an Independent, is the new ASCPS president. He and Don Jaenicke, Delta Kappa Phi, went into the finals almost equally supported. Frazier, of course, received a strong independent vote, and Greeks apparently split between Frazier and Jaenicke. Frazier won the victory 359 to 282.

Results in the other candidacies are: ASCPS vice-president, Rod Smith, 315, and Lois Wasmund, 314; ASCPS secretary, Marian Swanston, 320, and Joanne Wood, 293; senior representative, Larry Hoover, 387, and Jean Hagemeyer, 282; junior representative, Ted Vaughn, 158, and Sall Hendricks, 128; sophomore representative, Dorothy Powell, 329, and Hal Willard, 260. Betty Rusk was chosen May Queen with 296 points. Her princesses are Nancy Riehl and Roberta Westmoreland. Yell Queen is Eileen MacArthur.

Students voted for the raise from $20 to $25 in student body fees. They approved the judiciary council, which is composed of nine students that will decide student affairs. The Knight-Spur addition to the ASCPS budget was passed also.

Old Gavel, New Man . . .

(See cover)

ASCP\S President Jim Ernst handed the historic student body president's gavel to Cal Frazier after Tuesday's Central Board meeting.

"You take over on April 1" said Ernst. Frazier, a tall, dark-haired 20-year old junior from Colorado Springs, won his right to the gavel in last Friday's election when he defeated his nearest opponent by 75 votes.

He said "Being elected is the highest honor I've ever had," Cal said his main reaction when he found out that he had won the election was one of surprise, and that he has no ideas for changes in student government. "I'll get the ideas as I go along," he smiled.

Frazier indicated he would stick with the plans he put forth in his campaign speech: A Literary magazine to give views on national affairs for the campus, a wider sampling of student opinion, invitations to all groups to send different representatives each week to sit in on Central Board meetings, and a full-scale effort for a workable honor system next year.

"I only decided to run for this office two weeks before the petitions were passed around," said Cal. "Tom Cherrington and the Hoover twins were sort of my campaign managers," he continued. Frazier is an English Literature major, and is 2A in the draft. He is deferred until June 30.

The Frazier hobbies are hitchhiking and mountain climbing. He has three brothers in Colorado. (One of them just shipped out for Korea) and a sister in diplomatic work for the government.

Cal's first taste of prestige came in high school in Colorado Springs when he was elected secretary of the student body. He began playing basketball there, and was an all-state choice for two years. He continued playing basketball after he came to CPS, and travelled to Kansas City and the NAIB Tourney with the Logger team last year.

He was almost set to head for Kansas and college when he graduated from high school. But he met a man named Cyrus Albertson after church one Sunday in Colorado Springs, and Mr. Albertson changed Frazier's mind. (Reverend Albertson is the father of CPS-ites Barbara and Dick, and is an outstanding figure in the Methodist Church in this area.) Rev. Albertson told Cal about a place called the College of Puget Sound in Tacoma, and offered to get him an athletic scholarship if he would consider heading west. So, in the fall of 1948, Frazier arrived at Todd Hall.

Since then, he has been active as chairman of different campus committees, Tolo King, Knight, varsity basketball player, and junior representative to Central Board.

Frazier is rather non-committal about what he thinks is in store for him next year in his new job. "We have different problems to face next year," he says. He went on: "But a THE TRAIL

PASSPORT PEOPLE...

Boarding the liner TSS Nea Hellas June 11 at New York will be 35 CPS students and teachers destined for the Gothenberg Swedish School. To pass the time the group will study elementary lessons in Swedish language. They will arrive at Lisbon June 20 and proceed to Naples, Venice, Paris, Germany, England, and Holland.

The group will travel mostly by motor coach because the train schedules are so indefinite. They will not only visit the historical points but will observe and interview the people. The Gothenberg School is offering these students four credits for work in practical language, history, and art.

Months in advance, they started their preparations for the trip to the Swedish summer school. First, there were the smallpox and tetanus shots. Then they secured passports with pictures and signed witnesses.

Packing was a problem. Luggage requirements limited each person to 350 pounds for a three-month wardrobe.

DONNA WINS...

Donna Lerew went to Seattle Sunday with her violin case tucked under her arm. She came back, still carrying her violin, but with a first place win in the violin division of the Student Musician contest. The contest was sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs. It was held at the Cornish School of Music.

The meeting was called to order by President Jim Ernst. The roll was called and the minutes read and approved.

DEPARTMENTAL REPORTS:

Music—Leonard Raver announced the Tacoma Symphony Concert to be given Tuesday night at Jason Lee Auditorium. The Adelphians will leave on their tour next Monday.

Women's Intramural—Marian Swanson reported that inter-sorority basketball starts this week.

Song Fest—Bill Chevil for the Song Fest Committee requested $25 additional to the budgeted amount for the Song Fest. This is supplementary to the $50 they have been allotted. Mr. Banks moved that the request be granted. Seconded and carried.

Automatic adjournment.

Respectfully submitted,
Deores Breum, ASCPS Secretary.

Trail Trial...

Trail Editor Jaenicke learned last week that although the majority of students didn’t want him for a student body president, many of them thought his weekly newsmagazine was okay. Of the 176 students polled in chapel two weeks ago, 110 liked the TRAIL better than the old style, 49 liked it as well, and only 17 thought the magazine should be returned to newspaper format.

The student opinion of the present style broke down like this:

The main student gripe about the TRAIL was too much description in the narrative style. Many objected to “Joe sat down and picked up a coffee cup,” etc. There were requests for more pin-up pictures, cartoons, pictures of students and news of classes. Three students accused Jaenicke of favoring the faculty and administration too much. (He is still disliked by some faculty members because of his editorial early in the year urging that the faculty pay their ASCPS activity cards.) A few students asked for a larger size. They said “I like the TRAIL just the way it is.”

No Tour...

Dr. Keutzer’s secretary shook her head. “There will be no band tour this year,” she said. “There aren’t enough people in the band.” She went on to explain that several band members have education classes and are unable to rehearse. The Army took some of the members. Former Director John O’Connor is now with the Air Force in Korea.

Student sparkplug of the band this year has been John Schartow. The popular and hard-working John led the small pep band at most of the games this season, generating most of the spirit that was there.

Official director is Lorris West. However, he is unable to come over from Seattle more than once a week. “The band needs constant rehearsing and people who can always be there,” said Secretary Mrs. Pearl Sullivan.

The band may have a concert in May.

Fifteen Scouters...

Proof that Boy Scout activity is not limited to small boys was given this week when Mr. Herbert West came to the campus looking for 15 seniors for full-time employment in the Boy Scout organization here in the Northwest.

Mr. West is the Boy Scout executive of the Mt. Rainier Council. He called on Dean Raymond Powell Tuesday and asked for applicants to train for Boy Scout executive positions. Seniors or graduate students are eligible. Mr. West said the pay is good, and the work pleasant and vital. Further information can be obtained from Dean Powell.

ORGANIZATIONS

SAI Elects...

Sigma Alpha Iota, CPS women’s honorary, met Wednesday night and elected officers for the 1951-52 school year. Other officers for the coming season are vice-president, Robert Wilson; secretary, Herbert Harrison; treasurer Don Wolvers; and alumni-secretary, Howard Walters.

The elections were held in the faculty lounge. The Home Economics Club, under the direction of Joan Oakes, served coffee and cake.

Sinfonians are now planning the pending regional convention to be held in Tacoma on May 12 and 13. Representatives from all Sinfonia chapters of the Northwest region will be present.

Epislon chapter is at present cooperating with SAI music fraternity on plans for the annual song fest which the two organizations will co-sponsor. With minor changes of rules the plans at present follow basically the same pattern as was used by the groups last year. The song fest is scheduled for May 18.

OTs Dine...

Eating dinner in the SUB Tuesday night were members of the Occupational Therapy club, who followed the dinner with their regular meeting.

Guest speaker that night was Rosie Reese, a CPS graduate in OT, who spoke on clinical affiliations. The group made plans for their open house and decided to change the date to May 18, in conjunction with the Spring Festival.

Pages Turn...

Wednesday evening last week the Knights met in an upstairs room in Jones Hall. They tackled the difficult task of choosing 16 men from the list of applicants to become pages for the spring of 1951 and the active organization next year.

After meeting with the applicants for an informal question and answer period, the knights met in a closed meeting and chose Waldon Anderson, John Battinelli, Jerry Beardsley, Dick Bryan, James Covell, Robert DeWitt, Robert Fey, Dick Graham, Warren Hunt, Harry Ingraham, Roy Lapiante, George Pearson, Don Rogers, Herb Steeper, Larry Tyler, and Hal Willard.

Many of the Knights still had fond memories of the National Convention in Salt Lake City last month. Besides having a terrific time at the convention, the members were surprised to learn that the Log Chapter (CPS) was one of the two chapters that received the “Improvement award” for accomplishment within the chapter during this school year. Those who attended the National were Ted Vaughan, Fred Traill, and...

members of the Home Economics Club will travel to Seattle and UW today to attend a two day convention of Washington Home Economics Clubs.

They are Mrs. Emily Schweinler, Joan Oaks, Delores Breum, Gayle Peterson, and Lois Kylonen. Dee Breum is president of the CPS Home Economics chapter as well as being second vice-president of the Washington State Home Economics Association. Joan Oaks is the CPS nominee for the office of second vice-president for the 1951-52 term.

Theme of the meeting is "Training for world service:" physically, mentally, socially and religiously.

Geology Club is back to their old tactics—food and talk—each Wednesday noon in the loft of Howarth Hall. The groups met Wednesday to hash over the talk they heard Friday evening on "Ore Deposits in the Continental Framework."

Paul Billingsley, consulting mining geologist from Vashon, was the speaker. Members of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, earth science honorary from the UW, were also present for the talk and chicken dinner at Rose's Highway Inn.

Geologists will continue at Wednesday's meeting with further discussion on the structure and graniitization mentioned by Billingsley.

The Adelphians and the Debaters, aren't the only students who are leaving the campus this week. FiveJoanne Lowry was chairman, assisted by Patti Lemley, Doris Soder, Virginia Sandquist, Rael Jeanne Neeley and Delores Burchett.

Four new Kappa Sigma pledges are Ron Larson, Bill Carlson, Fred Robinson and Ralph Wickstrom. The Conclave will be held today and tomorrow at the fraternity house. There will be delegates from UW, WSC, University of Oregon, Oregon, University of Idaho and the University of British Columbia attending.

The new Kappa Sig recreation room is complete and the new tile was laid Saturday.

The Theta Chis and Gammas wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jamieison for their attendance at the fireside Friday night. Members and pledges of Theta Chi are holding their monthly stag night tonight. They are planning to attend the wrestling matches, where the fraternity has purchased a block of tickets. Plans are being formulated for the Theta Chi Annual Spring Formal.

Co-Chairman for the Lambda Sigma Chi Spring Dance are Ann Thompson and Vanette Chenoweth. Committees are: Publicity, Margaret Duval; Decorations, Fran Ellerton; Entertainment, Julie Snyder; Refreshments, Mary Grummel; Programs, Jo Ann Nicola. Lambda Chris Ostrum was surprised by a shower given in her honor at the Monday night meeting.

Delta Alpha Gamma members were entertained at a Theta Chi fireside last weekend. On Monday, plans were discussed for the dinner-dance May 12 at the Country Club. Chairman is Doris Beardsley. Athletically, the Gammas took five out of eight points in inter-sorority bowling Sunday and defeated the mdcc girls in basketball on Monday.

SPORTS

On the Track . . .

"We've been working out daily," said Track Coach Harry Bird Tuesday afternoon, "and the boys are looking pretty good for this early in the year. I only hope we can find some weight-men soon."

A look out the Fieldhouse window confirmed his statement. There were plenty of cindermen running around the Logger track but few huskies throwing the discus, putting the shot or heaving the javelin. Bird would like to have any interested candidates see him as soon as possible.

As for the Logger runners, some familiar faces were racing around the oval. Jack Fabulich led the pack and the Evergreen conference 440 champ looked impressive out front. Behind him, dash-men Dale Larsor and John McGorry were stretching their legs and distance runner Ed Saferite kept pace. Lettermen hurlers Dwayne Westlin and Burt Ross jogged along close behind.

Newcomers Johnny Ringen, a hurdler; Jack Price, Gene Johnson, and Chuck McKee, dash-men; Earl Schalin and Keith Rader, distance runners; and Ivan Budd and Harlan Sachs brought up the year.

Over in the pits, pole-vaulters Wally Erwin and Dar Gilchrist were working out along with high-jumpers Dan Inveen, Odey Victor, Dick Albertson and Jim Bremner. The only weight-men out were Harry Ingraham and Jon Torgerson.

"We open our season against PLC on April 14," said Bird, "and, with a few breaks in the weather, we'll be ready for action."

Slugger Session . . .

Coach Ray Mahnkey's baseballers were greeted with an ideal opening day Monday as they ran through their paces in preparation for the coming season. Eight laps of running, an equivalent of two miles, featured a brisk Logger workout which saw the baseballers even get some batting practice.

The Loggers open their season on April 11 with a game against McChord Field. CPS will probably play their collegiate ball against Seattle U, Seattle Pacific and PLC. St. Martin's may have a team and Western and Central Washington are other possible foes.

Seven lettermen took part in Monday's drill and four more were expected out later in the week. Pitchers Art Viafore, Catcher Bill Stocklin, Infielders Garry Hersey and Elbie Beamer, and Outfielders Cam Haslam, Larry Higdon and Bruce Jorgenson were on hand. Pitchers Don Semmern, Weldon Stillwell and Keith Predmore and Infielder Bud Blevins were still missing.

Newcomers turning out were Catchers Jerry Beardsley, Bob Nune and Dave Schwenner, Pitchers Duane Wilson, George Karpach and Don Lind; Infielders Don Rasmusson, Bill Bridges, Joe Retaillick, Doug McArthur, and Jack Grader; and Outfielders Dale Platt, Bob Carlson, Walt Espeland and Ray Spalding.

Mahnkey is still looking for pitching talent and has requested that any interested candidates see him at the Fieldhouse. Workouts will probably continue next week at Jane Clark playfield.

Women War . . .

Inter-class basketball dropped out wth the WAA picture this week, and inter-sorority competition took its place. Monday's game between the Gammas and Indies ended with the Gammas on the high end of a 29-11 score. The Lambdas took a close one from the Indies, 13-12, Wednesday noon. Today's game between the Gammas and the Lambdas will determine the championship. The winner will receive, in addition to the trophy, ten points towards the WAA cup for the best sports participation this year.

Only three teams qualified for the inter-sorority tournament this season. Pi Phis and Bates did not field a team.

ENTERTAINMENT

Fine Finale...

Tuesday evening's concert at Jason was a notable event. The celebration was spiced by the presence of numerous patrons, both city residents and CPS Student Body.

The audience was appreciative, and Strauss' "Vienna Life" and the "Peer Gynt Suite No. 1" were well received. When the concert was over, the audience demanded an encore number, and Conductor Raymond Vaught complied with a re-playing of the popular section from Peer Gynt, entitled "In the Hall of the Mountain King."

A highlight of the concert was the initial performance of "Pioneer Valley," a tone poem, composed by Leroy Ostransky of the CPS music faculty. Based on an old Indian legend, the work is in extended three-part form. Vibrant, almost blatant sections in which the brasses predominated were reminiscent not so much of the unsettled West, which is the theme idea behind the work, as of fast-paced New York City, home of the composer.

The work was enthusiastically received, and Ostransky, who was playing first violin in the orchestra, rose to acknowledge the applause.

This concert was a perfect finale to an outstanding season for Mr. Vaught and the members of the orchestra.

Review by Dick Madden.

During a long period in her life she memorized a poem every day. She had a great appreciation of poetry and could be called on to give a poem which would fit any occasion.

In Chicago, Illinois, a favorite gathering spot of students at Loyola University is the Union Lounge because it is a cheerful place—full of friendly university atmosphere. And when the gang gathers around, ice-cold Coca-Cola gets the call. For here, as in university haunts everywhere—Coke belongs.
