CENTRAL BOARD MINUTES
October 2, 1952

The meeting was called to order by President, George Fossen. Roll call was taken. The minutes were read and approved.

Mr. Mosier moved that an abridgement of Jack Gallaher's previous statement to Central Board be made in the minutes. Motion was seconded. Mr. Capen moved that the motion be tabled until the change be read to Central Board. The motion was seconded and carried by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Banks made a statement on the attitude of the College administration toward insurance and accidents in the Men's Intramural Department.

1. He pointed out that injuries sustained during the past were costing the College and Men's Intramural over $1,000. The College is not legally liable for the payment of injuries received; it is merely a moral obligation.

2. Mr. Banks further stated that the College does not feel that it wants to enforce a "blanket insurance policy" to cover all students at this time—this would mean additional fees for all students.

3. The administration is offering a $7.50 insurance policy to cover any student who wishes to purchase it—this would cover the student during the school year.

4. Mr. Banks concluded by saying that the Administration was going on record by stating that they would no longer assume this moral responsibility for injuries received in the course of intramural athletic events. He suggested that Central Board do the same.

Mr. Banks explained the procedure for the various departments making out a Requisition for Purchase through the Bursar's office.

The results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

Ike Speaks . . .

Sirens screamed and cries of WE LIKE IKE were heard Monday evening as a motor caravan rolled through town on the way to Seattle to hear General Eisenhower speak. The caravan started in Olympia and picked up cars along the way. Three carloads of CPS students joined other Tacoma cars at the Milwaukee station and pulled in to line as the caravan came through. A police escort was given all the way to the Seattle Ice Arena where the General was to speak. There was a capacity crowd and many stood outside as the General gave his views on the changes needed in the federal government. Issues which he spoke on were, corruption, waste, and federal vs. state control of power projects in the Northwest. The General assured the people that if he were elected power projects would continue in the Northwest, but they would be controlled by joint state and federal organizations rather than federal alone.

Frosh Elections . . .

October 2 of last week was the date set for the final freshman elections. The results of that election for the 1952-53 freshman class officers are as follows:

Pete Walker, sometimes called “Peat Moss” at Bellarmine High School in Tacoma, is the class president. Pete, a Sigma Chi pledge, is majoring in political science, and he will be working as sports editor on the Tamanawas.

The vice president, Barbara Schaller, a Delta Delta Delta pledge, is a graduate of Tacoma Stadium High School and has planned her future education in the field of Home Economics.

From Lake Washington High School in Redmond, Washington comes Lynn Green, a Delta Alpha Gamma. Her major is Education, and her minor is Sociology and Languages. This lass takes over the duties of the secretary-treasurer.

A sergeant-at-arms should be strong with broad shoulders and Wally Thompson, a graduate of Elma High School near Aberdeen, Washington, and now a CPS varsity football player, is just that.

Sigma Chi pledge, Dave Ernst, and now male representative to Central Board is a graduate of Stadium High School. He will major in law.

Our female representative to Central Board is Bonnie Walker, a graduate of Clover Park High School.

Dean Regester was pleased to say after the freshman class nominations for officers and the primary voting for these officers that the freshman class gave the impression of being an exceptional one. He too, like the way that the class has given so much spirit and friendliness to the College of Puget Sound.

With these good freshman class officers to help begin the year right, the class should live up to its fine impression.

Bye-Bye Beanies . . .

“Have you been wondering what happened to the freshmen beanies or noticed any sophomores with water on the brain? If you have, I can explain it. The following is my story of what happened:

At the half of the CPS-Willamette football game a large rope was brought onto the middle of the field. Sophomores were lined up on one end and freshmen on the other. A fire hose was turned on and sprayed between the two teams. The team that got wet first lost.

The sophomores, big husky brutes, weighing 200 pounds each, outnumbered the freshmen, who averaged about 105 pounds, nearly two to one.

The valiant frosh, outweighed and outnumbered, could not be out-fought. After five minutes in which neither team could budge the other, the spirit and fire of the courageous frosh began to tell. The sophomores wavered and began to lose ground. Little by little the second year men were pulled into the stream of water. When the water hit the front sophs they broke for cover and then the ones in back got dragged in. Beanies flew, the sophomores were soaked, but the freshmen were dry, and bare-headed.

The FROSH had won.”

SENIOR CLASS MINUTES
October 3, 1952

The president, John Von Zonneveld, called the first meeting of the Senior class to order at 12:00 in Jones 203.

The class officers were introduced.

Dr. Regester, the Dean of the College, was introduced to speak to the class on the requirements for graduation.

The applications for graduation should be filled out and turned in before October 22. There is a diploma fee of $7.50.

Fellowships to Graduate Schools are available to seniors. Bulletins are posted outside the Dean's office.

There is a placement Bureau for the Education majors in the department and also a Student Placement Service in Room 12 in lower Jones.

The Senior Exams are very important, and are required of every graduation senior.

There are awards available for seniors, which are presented at the annual awards assembly.

It was moved and seconded that the senior class adopt as its main project of the year, the building of an all brick arch at the entrance of the college. The motion was carried.

Duane Wagner was appointed chairman of a committee to formulate plans for the arch. He received many volunteers to work on the committee.

To promote class spirit, it has been suggested to have the classes sit together in chapel. The seniors will occupy the center section on the main floor.

All seniors were asked to watch for a notice of the next meeting. The meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Joanne Lowry,
Sec. of the Senior Class.

International Relations Club

Last week IRC met for the first time this semester at Funika Takaharli's and really had an enjoyable time meeting foreign students as well as American students of CPS.

Having begun our meeting by introducing the persons on our right hand, we were amazed to find many foreign students from all over the world. They included from the east—Japan, Korea, China, Formosa, Philippine Islands, Malaya and from the west—Iran, Greece, Latvia, and England and certainly from the Hawaiian Islands.

Next meeting of IRC will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 14 at Ruth Metcalf's, 3103 So. 19th St. The speaker will be Dr. Fahlandt, our chemistry professor, who will tell us of his trip and present day conditions in Burma. Everyone as well as the members are invited to attend. Cars will leave the SUB at 7:15 p.m. and 9:10 p.m.

George Fossen Honored...

Dr. John Maree spoke on the history of the Bible and its meaning to us in everyday life in the Convocation last Tuesday. September 30 was National Bible Day. The new American revised edition of the Holy Bible is now completed and on this day every church in the United States gave one of these new editions to an outstanding member or family in the congregation.

Dr. Thompson presented the ASCPS student body president, George Fossen, with one of these Bibles, for being the most outstanding student in scholarship, leadership, and church activities.

Lincoln Branch: K Street Branch

A Sigma Chi pledge had just been given a quart of Scotch. On his way across the street he was knocked down by an automobile. Picking himself up he felt something trickling down his pants leg. “Oh Lord,” he groaned. “I hope that’s blood.”
DR. JAEGEB .........

Where does the retired English professor fit in the picture of our high-gear Atom Age?

As the manager of a college bookstore!

Both worded on all sides by the peculiar attention-getters of the Age—TV, radio, movies, elections, corrupt government, and other world events that are jostled about atop an atomic powder keg—who has time to sit down to read a poem by Shelley, and why should he?

For many, something in the way of an answer could be found in the former office of Dr. Julius P. Jaeger in the faculty alcove on the second floor of Jones Hall. There one could find shelves of books—some of the world's greatest literature—that covered most of the walls, and two large windows that command a good view of the college campus. It was quiet there. There a sensitive man could find less pressing the need to hurry, to catch up, to compete, to keep pace. He could feel that he had time to stop and look for that elusive something for which we all thirst but can never get our fill. Shelley, Byron, and Keats—names of an insignificant past—would take on new meaning for our sensitive visitor and in their lyrics he would find a taste of that for which we all thirst but can never get our fill.

"The primary concern of man should be his spiritual and moral development," Dr. Jaeger maintains. "The reading of and appreciation of literature—good literature—is a major means by which one can guarantee this development."

In Dr. Jaeger one finds no violent, dramatic defender of the cause of literature. And yet one is convinced and the studied restraint of the man is peculiarly effective.

Dr. Jaeger didn't chide, didn't rail at those who turned up their noses at the classics. With deeply felt concern he mused on their lot and felt sorry for them.

"They simply don't know what they're missing. It's too bad really." Dr. Jaeger's emphasis on the spiritual and moral aspects of appreciating good literature stems from a deeply religious nature. An ordained Congregational minister, he first became seriously concerned with the way of God in a wood outside of Independence, Iowa, many years ago. He and a companion were fishing and shooting at makeshift targets with a rifle.

"A lone man came into sight," Dr. Jaeger relates. "He was a small, spare man and he carried himself in a stately manner. He was a total stranger to my companion and I, but somehow we fell to talking. We learned that he was a retired Congregational minister and that his name was Fred M. Abbott."

From that chance meeting there developed an intimate and life-long friendship. Reverend Abbott became a decisive and major influence in Dr. Jaeger's life. In dedicating a Bachelor of Arts thesis to Reverend Abbott, Dr. Jaeger wrote, "to a father, brother, friend and comrade these leaves are joyously inscribed." It was due primarily to Reverend Abbott's influence that Dr. Jaeger eventually entered the ministry.

Dr. Jaeger was born in Elkader, Iowa. Later his family moved to Independence, Iowa, where his father opened a meat market. Dr. Jaeger had finished grade school, but did not go to high school because he was needed in his father's business. At the time he had no desire to continue his education, though in his spare time he was doing some serious reading. He had planned to follow his father's trade which he had learned thoroughly.

He was seventeen when he first met Reverend Abbott. Through his influence and encouragement he took up studies in earnest. He received the equivalent of a high school education in private instructions.

In 1909 he and Reverend Abbott went to Cuba, where they spent some five months, mostly in Havana. The retired Congregational minister was bent on entering the cattle business, but became disillusioned, whereupon he and Dr. Jaeger returned to the States. They came out West to Seattle where Reverend Abbott invested in real estate. Dr. Jaeger, then about 22 years old, worked at odd jobs, doing some painting and building. This was in 1909.

In 1915 Dr. Jaeger went to Spokane where he enrolled at Spokane University. While still attending college Dr. Jaeger was given the pastorship of Lincoln Heights Parish in Spokane. The congregation totaled some 90 persons. Upon graduation from Spokane University he was given a teaching position at the college, at the same time continuing as pastor of the Lincoln Heights parish. In 1935 he received his doctor's degree from the University of Washington.

Dr. Jaeger had come to CPS in 1932.

Dr. Jaeger's decision to devote his time primarily to teaching rather than the ministry was due primarily to what he terms a "health factor."

"Temporarily I decided I was better suited to be a teacher," he said. "The satisfaction derived from teaching is very closely allied to that which would be possible to me in the ministry." Occasionally Dr. Jaeger still delivers sermons at various parishes in the city and offers his services wherever they are needed, and when he is able.

Reverend Abbott, the man who so influenced Dr. Jaeger's life, died in 1935 at the age of 75. Dr. Jaeger was at CPS at the time. The two had not seen each other for several years but had corresponded regularly.

What should the intelligent man read?

Among the musts Dr. Jaeger lists the Bible, the Greek and Roman classics, Chaucer, Shakespeare, Tolstoy, Dostoyevsky, and Milton. Quite an undertaking, incidentally.

Dr. Jaeger retired from teaching at the close of the 1952 year. He is now the manager of the CPS bookstore.

Spurs...

Fourteen Baby Spurs were initiated into Spurs Tuesday evening in a candlelight ceremony in the Little Chapel.

Following the initiation, the new Spurs entertained their “big sisters,” the junior Spurs, with original songs, poems and stories. Refreshments were served by the junior Spurs.

The new Spurs voted unanimously to keep the officers they had as Baby Spurs. They are president, Margie Berry; vice president, Marilyn Rosso; secretary, Vinnie Cooper; treasurer, Clara Lister; historian, Robi Enschede; editor, Evalyn Emer. The junior advisor is Sara Jaeger and the Spur advisor, “Teach” Jones.

Another Spur will be tapped from the Sophomore class very soon as Social Chairman, Jim Hitchcock as Publicity Chairman, and Jim Hickler, Intramurals. Sail Hendricks will represent SAE as IFC representative.

Friday night the chapter held an informal fireside after the game. Julie Snyder, last year’s “Dream Girl” was presented a bouquet of roses. The next social event will be a masquerade party, the affair being held on shipboard.

Sig Alphas will welcome brother Robert Young, October 27, when he will appear at the Temple theater. Present plans call for a banquet or lunch.

Delta Kappa Phi...

Last Sunday morning, the members and pledges of Delta Alpha Gamma and Delta Kappa Phi went to morning services at the First Methodist Church. Afterwards the Gammas were escorted to the DK house, where they were treated to a turkey dinner prepared by the members of the fraternity.

Congratulations are in order for the pledges of Gammas and DKs who held a successful sneak together Monday night. The combined efforts of both groups of members failed to turn up enough clues to locate the pledges before the ten o’clock deadline.

Bob Hedlund was elected president of the pledge class, and Bob Wright is sergeant at arms.

Tonight, the fraternity is having a fireside with the student nurses from Tacoma General Hospital.

Kappa Sigma...

Kappa Sigma elected officers last Monday night. They were: Walt Millard, Grand Master; Dave Schweinler, Grand Procurator; Jerry Beardsley, Grand Master of Ceremonies; Ben Fawcett, Grand Scribe; Dick Bryan, Grand Treasurer; Warren Moyles and Jack Nelson, Guards.

The Kappa Sig pledge class also picked officers. They were: Dick Callouette, President; Dave Wensloff, Vice-President; Gail Varner, Secretary; Spike Schrette, Sergeant-at-Arms; Rich Dodds, Social Chairman.

There are three new arrivals to the Kappa Sigma house since school was out last year. They have two new house mothers, Mrs. Woodson, who was the house mother of the old Zete house eight years ago, and her sister, Mrs. Bassett. The third arrival was the Kappa Sig’s new television set which the house got during the first week of school.

Sigma Chi...

The Sigma Chi house this summer was the scene of much activity due to an extensive continuation of the previous year’s house improvement program. First, the den was renovated with wood paneling being put on the walls and a new ceiling, followed by the refinishing of some of the floors. The second big job was the repainting of the exterior of the house. Just previous to the beginning of the school year, a new linoleum floor was laid in the kitchen.

Delta Alpha Gamma...

Sunday, the Gammas attended services at the First Methodist Church with the Delta Kaps, after which they were invited to turkey dinner at the DK house. (The fellas did all the cooking.) A successful sneak was held Monday night by DK and Gamma pledges at Lake Louise. Maris Anderson has been chosen as the candidate for Homecoming Queen. Candidate for Freshman Representative to AWS is Audrey Stenholm. Freshman girls representing Gammas on Rally Com will be Sally Charleson, Alta Weiszman, and Bonnie Jordahl.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon...

Another $50 was added to the house fund Monday night by Mrs. E. Schartow, member of the Minerva Club. This will be added to the building corporation treasury, and will be used in renovating and furnishing the new house. Plans call for moving within 30 days.

Robert Harader was elected the new Eminent Archon of SAE this year. Other officers elected were Don Rogers as Scholarship Chairman, Doug Muir as Social Chairman, Jim Hitchcock as Publicity Chairman, and Jim Hickler, Intramurals. Sail Hendricks will represent SAE as IFC representative.

Friday night the chapter held an informal fireside after the game. Julie Snyder, last year’s “Dream Girl” was presented a bouquet of roses. The next social event will be a masquerade party, the affair being held on shipboard.

Sig Alphas will welcome brother Robert Young, October 27, when he will appear at the Temple theater. Present plans call for a banquet or lunch.

Greeks
Sigma Nu...

During the summer months rather extensive house improvements were performed. The entire exterior getting a new coat of paint. The recreation room also go a face lifting being completely painted and finished with knotty pine.

Dick Albertson and Dick Krauble took a short but sweet vacation in August by attending the national convention held at Mackinac Island, Michigan. From all reports a good time was had by all.

At the recent rush preference banquet held at Crawford’s, a trophy was given to the house by the alumni in honor of brother Ralph Olsen. Ralph had a fatal accident last spring. The trophy is to be given to the most outstanding pledge of the semester. Also the mother’s club presented to Ralph.

Tony Cloud, Chuck Minard, and Fred Schmidt were formally initiated as members during the last meeting.

Recent election of officers has put Wally Erwin in as treasurer, Chuck Caddey as alumni contact, and Bill Hudak as reporter.

In addition to those new pledges listed in last week’s Trail, are Larry Catuzo, Clark Duval, Chuck Healy, Mitchell Lundquist, Dale Meshke, Tom Ohrbeck, and William Wooley.

Lambda Sigma Chi...

After bids were given out, the new Lambda pledges were entertained at the fashionable Islander. The pledges have chosen the following girls to be their officers: Joan Wood, president; Evelyn Dodge, secretary. Joan Wood is also co-chairman of the Lambda-Sigma Chi “Patch Parade” pledge dance being held October 17.

Homecoming decorations for the room are in charge of Maurine Gerards and Joan Hemminger, and the float is to be under the supervision of Bev Adams and Joanne Hutchtolen.

Pledge class officers were elected last Monday. They were Gene Lancaster, president; Les Wenaski, vice president; Ed Hail, secretary-treasurer; Dave Nicholson, sergeant-at-arms.

On the social side, Norm Huber passed out cigars to the membership and put on a little entertainment at the Yacht Club before the fraternity serenaded his fiance, Marigene Miller, at her home.

Theta Chi also held a fireside for the membership and their dates after the freshman plays.

Lost & Found...

LOST—One small can of Copenhagen. Misplaced somewhere in Convocation Tuesday. If found please contact the Dean. Reward.

Homecoming, 1952...

“In a year of conventions, banners, rallies, campaign oratory, and the like, it is only fitting that when welcoming our old alumni back we should conform to the times. If two much interest, we are sure many parties are going to provide an interesting and widely-varied program this Homecoming.”

So say JoAnne Wood and Wally Tonstad, general co-chairmen of the annual Homecoming at CPS, which is slated to begin Thursday, October 23.

Two new additions to Homecoming, which is entitled “Political Stew in ’52” are to highlight this year’s event. “Politicians on Parade” will be the name of the kickoff event, scheduled for Thursday, October 23, which is promised to range from a banquet to a general fiasco.

“The Primary and Mock Convention,” set for Friday, October 24, is entirely new at CPS. Here the bearded men of the campus will be nominated and co-ed delegates will elect their presidential candidate (Homecoming King).

Most of the regular events are still on the schedule, but are under titles borrowed from the political world. For instance, the Homecoming Queen will be called the “First Lady.”

Candidates for Homecoming Queen are Marie Rowe, Independent; JoAnne Wood, Pi Beta Phi; Fran Ellertson, Lambda Sigma Chi; Mari Anderson, Delta Alpha Gamma; Marian Bangert, Delta Delta Delta. Male CPS students will elect the candidate of their choice at the Convocation Oct. 21.

Committees for the affair are as follows: General, JoAnne Wood, Wally Tonstad; queen coronation, Marilyn Planje, Doug Muir; mock convention, Duane Wegner, Bernadine Budil; rally, Bill Peacock, Dave Golder; house judging, Richard Mosier, Jim Nelson.

Room judging, Shirley Skinner, Fran Ellertson; inaugural ball (general), JoAnne Wilson, Don Charleson; parade, Don Dixon, Larry Lamb; half-time entertainment, Maris Anderson, Francisco Equiluz; buttons, the Spurs, headed by Marjorie Berry; alumni luncheon, the Knights, headed by Larry Tyler.

Publicity, Jack Gallaher; alumni contacts, John Blake, Yvonne Battin; campus decorations, Robin Enschede; bag rush, Ralph Mackey, Roger Chaney.
The subject of this week's campus jaunt will be football etiquette. By this I don't mean to criticize the outdoor life of our local heroes, but rather to fully exploit the behavior of the common spectator. If you look closely you can always see a few scattered here and there in the cheap seats.

The first major obstacle you will encounter in attending your alma mater's football games is the location of the field. Last week I thought I was following someone who knew where the bowl was, but wound up in the back room of Murphy's. Finally I arrived at my destination. There, ideally situated, in the heart of growing South Tacoma, was Cheney Field; former home of the Tigers, and now the home of the common wood termite. It was a great game, and nearly everyone caught a glimpse of the players every time they approached the twenty-yard line on the west end. So much comment on the past—here are a few tips for the future.

The technique of obtaining a good seat is important. Use tact when necessary, but be firm in shoving anyone out of your way who is smaller.

A good practice here is making sure they don't have relatives on the team. Starkey Fisher is the new president; Pete Misner, secretary; and Mr. McMillan, advisor.

Mr. Banks announced that hot dog sales have increased to the point where he feels a 2% commission should be imposed for the college. Dr. Battin, threatens to quit panhandling at the games should the school cut his 2% commission.

Lyle Jamieson, of the B.A. department, cleverly avoided the confection peddlers at the game. He was seen down in the front rows with a brown jug under one arm and a horse blanket under the other. Later, upon consulting other faculty members, I found that the jug contained coffee and the horse blanket was his overcoat.

Then there was the little incident over by the tennis court after the game. Evidently a city police officer approached a car parked by the incinerator and said "No parking, you can't loaf here." A voice from the car replied: "Who's loafing?"

This article is complete and unabridged. Any semblance toward having been written by another is strictly coincidental.

City Resident: How can you stand the food at the SUB?

Todd Resident: It's easy, just take a couple of tablespoons of Drano, twice a day.

Rally Committee...

Rally Committee tried to charter a bus for the Eastern game. The cheapest transportation that we could get would amount to $8.90 per person. Very few students could afford something like this so the bus was cancelled.

Geology Club...

After a very interesting and informative showing of colored slides taken during last summer's field trips by Professor McMillan, the Geological Society got under way with an election of new officers. They are: president, Jack Dugwyler; vice president, David Holmes; secretary-treasurer, Goldie Nickson; and Mr. McMillan, advisor.

The meetings are held for the purpose of promoting interest in geology and its application to various fields. Meetings are held every Wednesday noon in Howarth 307.
Notes from Central Board...

The Democrats have the tax scandals, Tacoma has Carr Inlet and Central Board has Jack Gallager. In an attempt to find out who was right this reporter attended Central Board meeting and talked to various people. Jack said he was right, Dr. Thompson said George Fossom was a fine boy, and Central Board said Jack Nelson was Editor of the Trail. Mrs. Gee said that she recalls a small slip of paper that Murray Morgan turned in with some names on it. Just what it was for she didn’t know, and didn’t know where it was at. She felt it was of little value any way.

Ralph Mackey gave his views on the subject and on several others, then his authority to be on Central Board was questioned. This will be looked into the next meeting.

There was a distinct feeling that many people in the meeting were unusually quiet. When questioned on this later, the reply was usually, “Later on I will have to ask for funds. If I say too much against this or that person he will vote against my funds.” Sound familiar?

One item of importance did come out. Mr. Banks brought up a problem of insurance for those engaged in intramural sports. As it now stands the students are not covered. Up until now the school felt it had a moral obligation to care for any injuries, that moral obligation of late has cost them over $1,000 and the school refuses to carry on with this. The three possibilities under consideration are a blanket insurance that all students must pay, insurance purchased by the individual, or no insurance at all. The school has no legal liability.

Jack Gallager sent word that he would submit another letter to Central Board so until that happens we will have to look to our text books for excitement.

Greek News

An error was printed in last week’s Trail when it was stated that all Greek news should be in the Trail office on Wednesday noon. The correct time for printed matter to be turned in is on Tuesday noon. Co-operation is asked in order that all Greeks will be given equal coverage.

At the half of the CPS-Willamette football game a large rope was brought onto the middle of the field. Sophomores were lined up on one end and freshmen on the other. A fire hose was turned on and sprayed between the two teams. The team that got wet first lost.

The sophomores, big husky brutes, weighing 200 pounds each, outnumbered the freshmen, who averaged about 165 pounds, nearly two to one.

The valiant frosh, outweighed and outnumbered, could not be out-fought. After five minutes in which neither team could budge the other, the spirit and fire of the courageous frosh began to tell. The sophomores wavered and began to lose ground. Little by little the second year men were pulled into the stream of water. When the water hit the front sophs they broke for cover and then the ones in back got tagged in. Beanies flew, the sophomores were soaked, but the freshmen were dry, and bare-headed.

The FROSH had won.”

Eastern Tomorrow...

Coach John Heinrick and a squad of 25 of the finest left for Cheney this morning in an attempt to dampen the spirit of Eastern’s homecoming game on Saturday afternoon.

Ardent CPS fans are hoping for a repeat of the 58-0 pasting handed out by the Loggers last year, but Coach Heinrick will settle for any kind of a win.

Logger coaches have been going easy on contact drills this week in order to keep the casualties of the team at a minimum.

Both Dale Meshke, halfback, and Paul Pazaruski, tackle, who missed the Willamette game, will be ready to go against Eastern, but two more casualties, Louie Grzadzielewski, defensive end, and Leo Bos, defensive halfback, have taken their places on the injured list.

As the inability of the defensive unit to stop Willamette’s aerial warfare allowed the Bearcats to move for 171 yards through the air, last Saturday, injuries to the defensive squad are more than serious.

When asked which team was going to be the team to watch this season, Coach John Heinrick stated that it is too early to start picking favorites, but that he expects this year’s conference race to be the closest in years. Heinrick also stated that the winner of the Evergreen title probably would have at least one loss and possibly two.

The freshman-heavy Logger team is gathering experience with every game and, barring crippling injuries, should be a contender for the conference leadership by the end of the season.

Intramural...

The intramural football season started out with a bang Monday when the Delta Kaps and the Theta Chis battled it out in two grueling contests at Jefferson Park. The Kappa Sigs picked up a couple of victories the easy way, by forfeit, from ROTC.

Both of the DK-Theta Chi battles were hard fought. In the three o’clock contest it was anybody’s ball game from start to finish. When the final whistle blew, the Delta Kaps held a 12-6 edge. The DK’s scored early in the ball game on two aerials from Dixon to Hedland. With only five seconds left in the first half, Theta Chi’s Marr uncorked a long pass that settled in the arms of his end, Dean, for a TD and a half-time tie score. Midway in the second half a pass from Dixon to Charleston gave the future Phi Delts the margin of victory.

In the four o’clock contest the Delta Kaps came up with a 16 to 0 victory. A pass from Sinkovich to Boesel accounted for the first DK touchdown. A pass play worked for the extra-point. In the second half a pass by Pearson and an end sweep by Miller produced the second TD. The DK’s also garnered this extra point. Big John Barker blocked a Theta Chi punt in the end zone to give the Delta Kaps their final two points.

Oct. 13 Sigma Nu vs. ROTC
Sigma Chi vs. Kappa Sigma
Oct. 15 SAE vs. Theta Chi
Todd Hall vs. Delta Kap

At three o’clock Wednesday, the Sigma Nus and Sigma Chis squared off on the gridiron for the hardest fought battle of the year, so far. The teams battled on even terms all the way. When the sod was cleared, the final score read 6 to 6.

Just before half time a long pass from Ehmat to Storman ended up on pay dirt for the Sigma Chis. The conversion attempt was wide.

In the second half a long pass from Divan to Albertson set up the Sigma Nu touchdown. Divan tossed to Cartwright for the score. With a chance to forge ahead, the conversion attempt was blocked.

By employing the two platoon system, the Sigma Nus had things pretty much their own way in the four o’clock battle. The final score, 12-0, Sigma Nu.

A pass from Goskey to McGee set up the first score. An aerial from Woodard to Klinz connected for six points. A short time later McGee hauled in another pass, this time from Gary Johnson, to set up the Sigma Nus’ final tally. Johnson tossed to Spezia in the end zone to score. The second half was battled on even terms, with each team threatening once.
Willamette, 20-20...

With only seven minutes of play remaining and behind seven points the College of Puget Sound Loggers played inspired football, last Friday night at Cheney Field, as they came roaring from behind to gain a 20-20 tie with the Willamette University Bearcats.

John Heinrick, Logger coach, was especially proud of the game as it was sort of a birthday present from the players on his 48th birthday, celebrated Wednesday. The tie kept the record against Willamette clean, since the "Heinrick Era" started in 1946. CPS has won three and tied two but have not lost any to the Bearcats.

Behind by seven points in the said situation the Loggers had to do something quick. After Wally Erwin and Spike Schrette picked up four and three yards respectively, Art "The Arm" Viafore took over and threw a fourth down, 13 yard pass to Spike to keep the Loggers moving. Then, traveling through the air, Viafore threw passes to Sandy deCarteret for 13 yards, to Schrette for 13, to Warren Logan for 19, and the 12 yard payoff pitch to deCarteret in the end zone. Erwin kicked the ball through the crossbars for the all-important tying point.

After the ensuing kickoff the Bearcats fumbled on their first play and CPS recovered on the Willamette 20. After moving to the eight on three running plays a Viafore pass was intercepted. With seconds remaining in the game the Bearcats took to the air and on the last play of the game a John Kent to Chuck Lewis pass almost proved fatal to the Loggers, but Joe Stortini, the last man between Lewis and pay dirt, brought him down, after he had gone 44 yards.

For CPS it was almost a case of too much Ben Holt and Chuck Lewis. Holt, the Bearcat quarterback, completed six out of ten passes to keep the Loggers on edge all night. Lewis, who was a constant ground gainer for the Willamette team, once broke off tackle for 62 yards and six points.

Co-Captain Wally Erwin opened the scoring for the Loggers, and the game, by smashing over from two yards out and then kicking the extra point. Willamette evened the score in the second quarter when fullback Tex Kirkendall plunged into the end zone from the same two yard line after a 19 yard pass from Holt to Bob Platenberg set up the score. Holt also converted. With less than a minute remaining in the half, Viafore threw three long passes, two were caught by deCarteret. One was for 26 yards and the other for 38 yards, and the score. Erwin's placement was wide.

Lewis' aforementioned touchdown gallop accounted for WU's last six points with Holt's kick being wide. The Loggers finished the scoring with their fourth quarter drive.

Art "The Arm" completed nine out of 23 passes for 149 yards and two touchdowns.

Coach Heinrick picked Sandy deCarteret as the outstanding player for the Loggers because of his offensive as well as his pre-proven defensive play.

Who's Who...

More of the outstanding members of the football team include: Art Viafore, first string quarterback, a senior playing his fourth year of football. Nicknamed "The Arm" because of his passing ability.

Paul Pazaruski, first string guard, playing his first year of football at CPS with one year left. Played two years for Santa Clara. Graduate of Bellarmine High, Tacoma.

Sandy Decarteret, first string back, proved himself to be an all-around player in the Willamette game. Playing his third year of football and will be back next year. Graduate of Sumner High, Sumner.

Babe Buholm, first string center, a transfer from University of Washington but did not play football there. Has three more years of eligibility. Graduate of Ballard High, Seattle.

Chinook...

CPS' outdoor recreation club, Chinook, chose Duane Wegner as their new president at an election held last Wednesday.

Other officers, who were elected last year, are Jim Gourley, vice-president, and Marilyn Rosso, secretary-treasurer. Faculty adviser for the group is Dr. Sprenger.

Last Saturday and Sunday several Chinook members put in time at Deep Creek, the College of Puget Sound's lodge in the Chinook pass, sawing and hauling wood for the winter's supply.

Chinook's next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Howarth 215. All students interested in the organization are urged to attend the meeting.
