CPS to Compete With Evergreen Conference
In Blood Drive

Getting into full swing during April 6-17 will be the College of Puget Sound’s annual blood drive, announced Madeline Williams and Don Boesel, co-chairman for the drive.

During April 6-11 an effort will be made to publicize the blood drive. Then, the Bloodmobile will be stationed on campus April 14-17. CPS will be competing with other schools in the Evergreen conference, with the winner receiving a trophy. This is the first time the conference has competed in such an effort.

Blood given will be distributed three ways: blood plasma to Korea; blood for gamma globulin (polio vaccine); and blood to replenish the CPS blood bank.

It was stressed by the co-chairmen that even if a student is unable to give blood, he should report to the blood bank. If he does this, he will be counted in the final tally.

The school which has the largest percentage of its enrollment give or try to give blood will be the winner of the blood drive trophy.

Wood, Pi Beta Phi, by a 49 vote edge. Results of this race are as follows: JoAnne Wood, 221, Mercedas Cox, 172, and Janet Carlson, 86. Don Rehfeldt won out over Janice Johnstone for Yell King. Final tally for this position was not available at this writing.

Commerce Club Meets

Hard work is more important than a lot of money when starting a small business. This was the theme of Mr. Dean Walters, independent grocer, who spoke to the members of Commerce Club at their last meeting.

Mr. Walters spoke of his career as a grocer and some of the interesting sidelights of the business, then the members of the group were given an opportunity to ask questions. Following this the club held a business meeting at which committees gave reports as to their progress on the business clinic which the club is sponsoring April 22-23. This clinic is the club's project for the year and if successful will be continued as a yearly event. It will be a two-day series of lectures and conferences for local business men. Students may also attend. The club is being assisted by professors from the Business Administration Department and by Mr. Rhodes, president of the National Office Managers Association.

Sinfonia President Visits Campus

Members and faculty of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, campus men's honorary, were honored by the visit of their National President, Archie N. Jones, of the University of Texas music staff, and National Vice-President Walter Welke of the University of Washington at a luncheon Tuesday noon.

The duo were shown on a tour of the new music building and discussed music arrangement with the local group.

Both Jones and Welke were enroute to the Bellingham convention of the National Music Educators Conference, where Mr. Jones will direct the festival chorus, and Welke will assist in the workings of the artists band group.

Arrangements were handled by Sinfonia president Fred Pederson with the aid of the Sinfonia faculty members, Professors Jacobsen, Rasmussen, Vaught, and Ostransky.
New Library Building
To Rise on CPS Campus

Another building is soon to be constructed in CPS's rapidly expanding building program. The Everill S. Collins Memorial Library will soon take its place as the third side of the inner quadrangle. Construction should commence within 30 days, according to architect Silas Nelson. It is expected that the building should be ready for occupancy by the spring semester of next year.

The new building, endowed by Everill S. Collins, who for 36 years was a trustee of the college, will cost $500,000, and will follow the architectural style of the other campus buildings. It will hold seating space for 660, more than four times that of the present facilities and will also have individual research rooms, and vaults for the preservation of the archives of the Northwest Conference of the Methodist Church, and other valuable school documents. Also planned are a lounge for faculty members, and space for the Board of Trustees.

Another added feature will be an audio-visual aids department with movie facilities for 125. This movie will replace the present Jones Hall makeshift arrangement.

Mr. Collins' daughter, Mrs. Elmer Goudy of Portland, is presently serving as a member of the Trustee Board.

Miss Bowing Attends O.T. Education Meeting

Miss Shirley Bowing, who is acting head of the occupational therapy department at CPS, left last week for Kansas City, Missouri, where she will attend an annual education meeting and a board of management meeting.

After these conferences Miss Bowing will visit clinical training centers where CPS occupational therapy students are affiliated for hospital training.

She will observe CPS graduates in training at the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kansas; the Los Angeles County hospital, and at four hospitals in the San Francisco area.

Other occupational therapy schools which she will visit are those at the University of Southern California and San Jose College, and the Oregon State hospital in Salem, Oregon.

Womens League Schedules Fair

Having pledged $5,000 towards furnishing the new Music Building, the Womens College League has planned a "Country Fair," to be held Friday, April 17, in the Fieldhouse. Participating will be all active and alumni groups connected with the school. Booths will be set up to simulate a country fair midway. A $1 buffet style ham dinner will be served after 4:30.

Open from 3 to 11 p.m., the fair will be packed full of action. Movies are being planned for one wing of the Fieldhouse, puppet shows are slated for the younger set, and as a climax to the activities an Associated Students vaudeville show will be presented at 8 p.m. Director Jack Gallaher is preparing his acts to provide an hour-long show.

This will be the third CPS building that the Womens League has had a part in furnishing. Anderson Hall was furnished by the women and just recently the last of a $5,000 pledge was spent in Todd Hall.

Serving as co-chairmen on the League's committee are Mrs. Robert Strobel, '33, and Mrs. Charles Zittle, '37. Those seeking further information on activities during the carnival are requested to call Mrs. Zittle, FR 0426.

OSC Professor to Lead Summer Tour in Europe

A summer tour of France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany, Holland, Belgium, and England is being organized under the leadership of Dr. Edouard Bourbousson, associate professor of modern languages at Oregon State College, who escorted trips to Europe in 1950 and 1952.

Sailing date is June 20 from New York on De Grasse, a steamer of the French line, and return August 28.

This tour is planned for those who are interested in art and in political, economic, and social problems of Western Europe. Eight countries and the most interesting places in each country will be visited. Because of Dr. Bourbousson's knowledge of Europe and personal connections, there will be interesting features included which are not ordinarily available to tour parties. These include interviews with French government officials in Paris and leaders of the Academic Diplomatie Internationale in Geneva.

A stay of three days in Salzburg during the Music Festival gives the opportunity to those interested in music to attend symphony and opera performances.

Dr. Bourbousson said the 69-day trip costs $1,295, which includes round trip steamer transportation in cabin class, accommodations in first class hotels, sightseeing, tips, and excursions in each town. As reservations are limited, write for additional information to Dr. E. Bourbousson, O.S.C., Corvallis, Oregon.

Dr. Battin Wins in City Council Elections

Dr. Charles T. Battin, CPS economics professor, placed fourth for city councilman in the recent election. Dr. Battin will serve five years on the city council. The new council will not take office until June 1, but members will hold decisive meetings immediately following their certification.

In his official statement to the voters of Tacoma before November 4, 1952, Dr. Battin made a meaningful appeal in which he showed his great knowledge of the humanness needed in those candidates selected for public offices.

He said, "My program calls for a balanced dynamic administration with equal consideration of problems of labor, business, and public; for cooperation between city, chamber of commerce and business toward expanding industry and payrolls; for subordination of departmental interest to greater city interest. I want Tacoma to sense the joys, hurts, and needs of all its people, to renew its pride in clean government, to become a good place in which to work, to live, to rear children."

Other members of the council who have been directly connected with CPS are: Albert H. Hooker, a trustee; Paul Purdue, alumnus, '33; and Harold Tollefson, '37.

Frank N. Stojack, the councilman receiving the largest number of votes, was graduated from Washington State College in 1935. Mr. Stojack, who is well-known for his abilities in physical education fields, feels he owes much of his success in his first entry into city government to his background of higher education.

"I know that Frank would strongly urge the young people of Tacoma to take all advantage of their opportunities for college education offered in their home city," said his charming wife, in a recent telephone conversation.

Spring Semester Bidding

Last week spring semester bidding of invitations to men and women to enter music honoraries and scholastic honoraries ended at CPS.

Four senior women were extended invitations to Otah, the senior women's honorary society. They were Janet Carlson, Ruth Metcalf, Beverly Adams, all of Tacoma; and Patricia Parrott, Idaho Falls, Idaho. Becoming a member of Otah is according to one's scholarship, a cumulative 3-point average for three years of college, and service given to the college.

Sigma Alpha Iota, international music honorary, pledged seven students, Charlotte Rodgers, Kathryn Polo, Rylla Rockey, Pat Price, Gerty Gordon, Barbara Morse and Janet Swenson.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national music honorary for men, pledged Frank Marks, Carl Niwa, Tacomans; and Clement Carvalho, Hilo, Hawaii.

Two CPS Students Audition For Orchestra

Two CPS musicians, Ardys Reed, Bremerton violinist and Scott McArthur, Tacoma tuba player had auditions with one of the world's most famous conductors last Wednesday evening. Leopold Stokowski, world renowned conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra and second only to Toscanini in fame, was guest conductor of the Seattle Symphony which performed in the Temple Theatre.

The two CPS musicians, with a student from PLC were auditioning for Stokowski's "Collegiate Orchestra" which he plans to take on tour in the summer of 1954. In 1939 Stokowski's "Youth Orchestra" toured Central and South America. He will audition college musicians in all of America's music centers.

He took the auditioning artists one by one into a small dressing room off stage, placed a stand of music before them and said, "Play!" Stokowski is famous (or infamous) among musicians for insistence upon sight-reading ability.

Whether or not they will be accepted for the orchestra will not be known until Stokowski finishes his auditions sometime next year.

CPS Appoints New Band Director

In a small frame in the band office is the shell of a dollar bill. Under it on a slip of paper is a poem which ends, "... and never the twain shall meet, 'till John comes flying home." But John isn't going to fly home. The two halves of the paper dollar shall remain separated for all time.

John O'Connor, CPS band director, left campus in July 1950 to return to his reserve position in the Air Force. The college hired Renwick Taylor of Clover Park to take his position on a part-time basis. Taylor quit in December of 1950.

The college, waiting for O'Connor to return, hired Lorris West of Seattle to take over. West drove from Seattle one day a week to manage the band until June of 1951, when he quit. The college then hired former CPS theory instructor Dick Henderson to take over the band in a part-time position until O'Connor returned. Henderson lasted out the year and at the end of summer session in August of 1952 when he left to take a position at the University of Texas, the college, still awaiting O'Connor's return, hired Al Meddaugh to handle the band. Meddaugh drives in from Orting one evening a week to lead the few musicians who remain.

Finally last month, after 31 months of patient waiting, Music Head Bruce Rodgers and the administration gave O'Connor an ultimatum. The answer came back; "No." A wife and four children made it impossible for O'Connor to give up his $8,000 a year job as a Major in the Air Force.

Dr. Thompson announced Sunday that Delbert Chinburg of Cheyenne, Wyoming would arrive in August as instructor in Band, Woodwinds, and Music Education.

Chinburg is a professional clarinetist, having performed with several symphony orchestras. He is noted as a specialist in concert, as well as marching band technique, and will also attempt to start courses in instrument repair and maintenance as part of the curriculum.

Mrs. Chinburg is also a musician, playing clarinet and string bass.

Music chairman Rodgers declared emphatically that he was certain that Chinburg would be able to shake the band out of the condition in which three years of neglect had placed it.

O'Connor is now stationed at Carswell AFB in Ft. Worth, Texas.

Pi Beta Phi

Bette Shaffer was selected as the Pi Phi candidate for Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Donna Rockway and Joni Piper were co-chairmen of the Pi Beta Phi dinner dance held recently at the Chateau. Vacancies left by absent members will be filled this semester by Corky Keller as Frosh representative to Rally committee, and Martha Wegner, who has assumed responsibilities as historian. Delores Kaiser and Eldon Flahaut were married recently. The new couple will make their home in Olympia. A fireside was held with the Kappa Sigs last Monday evening. Two Pi Phi’s announced their engagements at the dinner dance last Saturday night. They were Shirley Campbell to Dan Inveen and Bonnie Boze to Jerry Beardsley.

Lambda Sigma Chi

President Marilyn Planje really took complete charge of the meeting Monday night, announcing her engagement to Don Wolvers by passing the traditional box of chocolates. The announcement was unusual in the aspect that being president, Marilyn was able to announce her own engagement. Maurine Gerards has been chosen chairman of the Lambda Spring Dance to be held April 11. We are happy to welcome Arlene Thompson as our new pledge for the spring semester.

Sigma Nu . . .

Sigma Nu Mothers’ Club is sponsoring its yearly rummage sale March 16-18. Money collected in this way is used for improvements in the Sig Nu house. About twenty members and pledges filled their donation quota at the Pierce County Blood Bank, for Sheila Ryan, former CPS graduate. Wally Thompson and Alta Mae Longenbach were married in a recent ceremony.

Delta Alpha Gamma

Donna Erickson, ’52, passed chocolates at the Alum meeting announcing her engagement. Janice Beitz, president of WAA, leaves Sunday for a conference at Stanford University. Bonnie Jordahl is the representative to the leadership conference at Chinook. The Gammas had fun at the Theta Chi informal fireside last Monday. Don Boesel brought a bouquet of white carnations to the group. The Phi Delts introduced their candidates for student body offices.

Theta Chi

Theta Chi entertained the Gammas Monday night. Bob Linrothe was appointed float chairman for Theta Chi’s entry in the Daffodil Parade. Last year the house took first place in the stunt division. Notice was received of Ray Gosney’s coming marriage to Mary Cross. As Ray had already visited the Yacht Club waters once for this offense he was excused by the membership.

Sigma Chi

Dick Thayer, Gilbert Price, Roger Scott, and Jack Hudspeth, were formerly pledged at the meeting Monday night. Ray Tabor passed cigars to announce his pinning to Miss Helen Cook of Olympia. The fourth annual Sigma Chi Sweetheart Ball was held at the Crystal Ballroom of the Winthrop Hotel Friday night, where Miss Elberta Conklin was crowned as Sigma Chi’s sweetheart for 1953.

Indees News, Views and Cues

Again the spirit of our group has come through! We earned $70 by working on the Color Post, which couldn’t have been done without the cooperation of many loyal Indees. This will more than take care of the balance on our furniture bill, and leave some for other room decorations, also.

Calling all Indees! We need a little more support on the song fest. Two wonderful songs have been chosen, a good director, and now all we need is a few more people to add to the volume. Voice, or no voice—let’s all turn out! JoAn Warren was elected to be our representative to the National Independents’ conference at Purdue, in Indiana in several weeks. We’ll all be backing her, and anxious to hear how other Indees are carrying out their program. Many activities are being planned now—for instance, the Indee Cruise, a whole day at Clear Lake, and others.

Former CPS Student

Now Navy Ensign

Jim Clark, who received his B.S. in mathematics from CPS in 1952, was recently graduated from the Navy’s only Officer Candidate School at Newport, Rhode Island. Jim was one of 840 men who traded their white hats for the gold trimmed caps of commissioned ensigns. These men, in four months of intensive study and training have covered the same Navy subjects that college NROTC students do in four years. Many of these graduates will attend specialists schools where they will be trained further as pilots, aviation ground officers, beach masters, underwater demolition team officers or “frogmen,” and some will serve with the Marines in Korea as gunnery liaison ocers.
Operation of CPS
Cafeteria and Fountain

The cafeteria and fountain, under the management of Mrs. Melba Rollefson, is one of six auxiliary enterprises operated by CPS. A non-profit organization, the commons is charged for utilities, custodial service, and is responsible for its operating expenses. No rent is charged for the use of the building nor for capital outlay. A small depreciation fund is kept for the replacement of equipment. It was with this accumulated fund that the new electrical equipment was purchased this year.

Mrs. Rollefson, who supervises ten full-time employees came to CPS in 1950. With a B.S. in Home Economics from the University of Minnesota, Mrs. Rollefson has a well-established background of dietic experience. In addition to work at Carlton College, she was in charge of three food services at the Drexel Institute of Technology. She was connected with the cafeteria in the Federal Reserve building in Washington, D.C., and Texas Tech's men's residence hall.

With her experience Mrs. Rollefson has been able to manage the cafeteria efficiently, cutting unnecessary expenditures, and reducing waste. In consequence, an improved, more satisfying meal has been served, and a greater variety of food offered.

Along with the regular staff, 15 students help to serve 500 meals daily. About the same number of sales are made at the fountain. The fountain sales average about fifteen cents a person. About 170 meal tickets are used by dormitory students.

With a decreased enrollment the total volume of business has decreased. In the peak year of 1949-50, sales averaged $44.37 per student, $62.37 was the student average in sales in 1951-52. More persons are buying more food per individual at the SUB at the present time than in previous years.

About $1.52 is charged for three meals a day. The main meals include milk, one serving of meat, potatoes, cooked vegetable, and gravy. Salads are served twice a day; eggs three times a week.

The cafeteria has its own bake shop. Butter, and no substitute, is served.

Once a month a special dinner is offered to the dormitory students. This meal is served by the students themselves, after being organized by the dormitory groups.

In 1951-52, gross receipts of $69,000.00 were taken in by the commons. After expenses amounting to $65,600.00, the net surplus was put into the general fund of the auxiliary enterprises, to be used to clear deficits of those few agencies which were unable to meet their expenses, and for other college operating expenses.

600 Attend High School Debate Tourney

Members of the CPS forensic department handed out the last of the fifty-two awards, bid goodbye to the last of the 600 students and heaved a sigh of relief. The 20th annual high school debate tournament was ended. Students from 59 high schools had competed in three styles of debate and three types of individual events. Winners of the various events were distributed throughout the entire group and they took home $450 worth of cups and awards. Marycliff and Stadium High Schools took top honors in class "A" university style team debate.

Reward to the forensic department came in the form of thanks from the high school coaches. Mr. Hart Smith, president of the high school association of debate coaches, told Dr. Battin and Arlis Johnson that this was the best tournament so far in the 20 tournaments held at CPS.

"B" Tournament
A Success at Logger Fieldhouse ...

The Logger Athletic Department pulled off what may prove to be the major CPS coup of the year when it staged the highly successful State High School "B" Tournament here and pulled it through in the black.

This tournament, which has always lost money for the state athletic association in the past, has steadily increased in popularity in Tacoma until this year when it is estimated that it made a profit of between $1,200 and $1,500. The final figures are not yet available.

Coach John Heinrick, the tournament manager, has received congratulatory letters from different participants thanking him for the fine treatment they received here, and also remarking on the excellent manner in which the tournament was run off.

The huge crews were largely due to the untiring work of the publicity department, headed by Doug McArthur, which has literally put the tournament on the map since coming to Tacoma. Approximately 12,000 spectators viewed the games, many of whom came for the first game and stayed until the last.

Coach Heinrick wishes to express his thanks to Doug and all the rest who helped him make this tournament such a huge success.

Jake Maberry Chosen On All-Star Team

Jake Maberry, CPS captain, was chosen on the Evergreen Conference's all-star basketball team for the second straight year. Jake and Whitworth's Jim Doherty were unanimous choices of the six coaches who took part in the balloting.

The other three players who comprise the starting all-star aggregation are: Glenn Huffman, PLC; Jack Anderson, Western Washington; and Don Minnich, Eastern Washington.

Warren Moyles, Dan Inveen, and Clarence Tiessen of CPS were awarded honorable mention by the balloting coaches.

Spring Sports Open Up...

With the stowing away of the maroon and white basketball gear comes the beginning of the spring sports program. Baseball, track, tennis, and golf will be in the limelight from now until the end of school.

Baseball will be coached by Joe Hemel this year, and there will be many opportunities for the fans to watch the games as most of the home games will be played in the evenings. Cheney Field will act as the Logger home field. The first games, a double header, are set for April 9 at St. Martin's.

Track will be coached by John Heinrick with Mitch Angellel of Mason Jr. High on duty in an advisory capacity. A fine schedule is lined up for the cindersmen which will be capped by the NAIA district meet at the end of May. Those that place at this meet will represent this district at the National NAIA.

Many of last year's stalwarts have graduated and there are several openings on the team. It is hoped that there will be many new faces joining with high jumper Dan Inveen, pole vaulter Wally Erwin, Warren Logan, and the others, who will form the nucleus of this year's squad.

E. G. Goman, the golf coach, said that he has about eight men trying out for the golf team, but could use any more talent that is still unhalted.

The team practices at Fircrest, free of charge, and will play all of their home matches there. The first meet will be held at Whidby Island Naval Base on April 6.

Willard Gee, who is again coaching the tennis team, is hoping for the success of last year when Bill Medin represented the Evergreen Conference in the NAIA tennis tournament down in Texas.

Jake Maberry, CPS's reliable sharpshooter, topped all Evergreen Conference scorers this past season, while the Loggers as a group led in the team scoring.

The Heinrick-men tallied an average of 76.6 points per game while Captain Jake was nosing out Whitworth's Jim Doherty by eight points.

There are tremendous possibilities for all potential spring sportsmen this year, as the schedules of all sports have been expanded, and there have been many vacancies left by graduation.
