Here 'neath the mountains deep shadows,
Here is my College of Dreams,
Where on the crest of blue waters,
Moonlight in splendor gleams.

Dreams, dreams, dreams,
Dreams of our Alma Mater;
Old Puget Sound, we'll always dream of you.
All through the years our love will remain undying;
Devotion true, dear school, to you,
Old College of Puget Sound.

Deep in my heart are the friendships College has given to me.
School of my dreams, Alma Mater,
Puget Sound by the Sea.
FOREWORD

We present this, our 1939 Tamanawas, to the Student Body as a memoir of our "college of dreams". As you glance over the events of the past year depicted in this book, may you recall our good times together.
We dedicate this, our 1939 Tamanawas, to one whose influence has helped many realize dreams of ideal college life. Her contact with both men and women students has inspired cherished acquaintances. To you, Lyle Ford Drushel, our Dean of Women, we dedicate this annual.
Looking south from the spacious living room of the Residence Hall. The building was opened and formally dedicated in February this year.
Attractive and home-like, the latest addition to the campus will serve as a future incentive for out-of-town women.

Annabel Miller and Jane Hudson enjoy a moment at the piano.

Mary Ellen Peterson and Cora Atkinson in a moment of leisure.
Ruth Jensen and Paul Preus on the front landing in Jones Hall.

EDWARD H. TODD, M. S., D. D., LL D., L. H. D., President 1913—

A number of years ago there was an annual contest in song writing between the classes of the College. The song in which the words of the above title occur, was written by a young man and young woman who were dreaming of their futures. Their dreams were realized in the establishment of a happy home. Elsewhere in this volume you will find the full text of that song.

It suggests that the plant and ideals of the College are the results of the use of imagination and aesthetic sensibilities by its founders and promoters, along with knowledge and reason. The founders proposed that the institution should be worthy and receive “praise throughout the land.” They were devout and comparatively young men, hence the prophecy in the vision which they had of the future. Later leaders caught that vision. They made careful study of institutions of higher learning of the most worthy types. The currents of education and the growing intellectual needs of passing days and of future were carefully considered. Trends and desires were studied in order that a progressive academic program might be maintained. All of these plans were put to the tests of reason and experience. If they stood those tests they were given status of vision and finally ripened into a model plant, curricula and traditions.

This is a “college of dreams” in the sense that it has the spiritual, emotional and inspirational motivation of developing young men and women of the highest ethical and intellectual character. The song is a beautiful declaration of the love and loyalty to Alma Mater which pervades students and alumni. It proclaims that inspiration to life and action which is characteristic of the leadership in the faculty.

Climaxing a season of activity, Marie and Margaret Gilstrap took top honors by placing first in the forensics tournament at Pasadena, California, in March. Other varsity squad members making the trip included Sara Louise Doub, Barbara Healy, Jim Docherty, Charles Shireman, Charles Cleiser, and Stanley Nash.

Bill Melton and Kenneth Sulston placed second in the Junior College tournament held at C. P. S. the early part of March. At the Linfield tournament in February, Bill and Kenneth also brought home second place honors. Twenty-four traveled to McMinnville, Oregon to represent C. P. S. in this meet.

In November, C. P. S. was host to the annual convention of the Western Association of Teachers of Speech, combined with a forensics tournament which provided opportunity for the entire Puget Sound squad to compete.
In the annual Burmeister Oratorical contest, Barbara Healy placed first in the women's division, Don Strother second. Margarette, in the men's division, placed first and second prizes of $10 and $5 were awarded to each. At the Linfield tournament in February, Dewane Sutlton placed second in men's oratory, while in March, Kenneth Lamka placed third. However, in March, Lamka placed second, won second, and Margaretta went second, and Margaretta went second.

A subdued air of mystery pervaded Jones Hall auditorium when the Campus Playcrafters presented A. A. Milne’s three-act detective comedy, "The Perfect Alibi." The production initiated the Homecoming celebration on Thursday evening, November 17, and was again presented Tuesday evening, November 22, in honor of the six hundred debaters participating in the forensic tournament.

Cold blooded murder takes place immediately before the startled eyes of the spectators with no attempt at the concealment of the identity of those guilty of the crime. The audience is perfectly aware that two of the most respected guests at Heron Place, the estate of Arthur Ludgrove, are guilty of the revengeful killing of their host. The plot evolves around an attempt to discover the reason for Ludgrove’s mysterious death. There is an almost uncontrollable desire on the part of those witnessing the procedure to reveal the particulars of the situation as they know them, and thus enlighten those assembled in that ill fated house. The perfect alibi proves not so perfect ultimately when it is exploded by the sweetheart of the slain man’s son, and those guilty are brought to justice.
The class of 1942 made its impressionable debut in the chapel presentation of "Three's a Crowd," innocent comedy involving the obstacles to young love and the final triumph of the latter.

"Why The Chimes Rang"

"Why the Chimes Rang" is without doubt the most popular as well as the most beautiful Christmas play by a modern writer, and has become almost traditional as a Christmas production at C. P. S.

Twelve year-old Leonard Raver as Hoger, the little boy whose humble gift caused the mighty chimes to ring; and eight-year-old Nancy Riehl as Lisa, his sister, added a touch of childish simplicity and utter reality to the drama.
"Bury the Dead," by Irvin Shaw, a tremendously popular and critical success in New York, is described as a galvanizing war drama of savage protest. No drama depicting the horrors and futility of war has ever been written with such terrific force and intensity. Characteristic of the play, presented March 17th and 18th in Jones Hall Auditorium, are the usual stage effects brought about by the use of spot lights illuminating each scene with moment black-out interceding.

The time of the action is the next war taking place on the World Battlefield. Four men in a burial detail are startled at the rising in their graves of six American soldiers not yet covered with earth. Upon examination by a doctor, the men prove to have been dead forty-eight hours. Their Captain pleads with them to allow themselves to be buried and assures them that the earth is a miserable place on which to live. Even the Generals are persuaded to come to the grave in an attempt to influence the men, but to no avail. As a last resort, the women of the six corpses are called to exert their powers of persuasion. All of their tenderness and bitterness serve only to confirm the intentions of the men to stand, to keep their bodies above the earth until they have seen and smelled, heard and lived to their fullest. The dramatic climax is brought to its crescendo as the corpses climb out of their graves against the pelting of machine gun fire and march into the future with their heads high and determination in their demeanor.
The String Ensemble was organized this fall under the capable leadership of Mr. Erich Koker, eminent violin instructor from Seattle. It is composed of interested young Tacoma musicians representing a balanced ratio of violins, violas, cellos, baso viols and harpo.

The group met in the Conservatory each Friday evening during the year to practice and study compositions by famous masters. Their first public performance was made on the evening of the public reception at the Women’s Residence Hall. A formal concert was scheduled late in the spring to be held in Jones Hall.

C. P. S. members are Louise Jayko, Cameron Wilson, Bill Stewart, and Ruth Pauline Todd, as president.
The Adelphian Choral Society, directed by John Paul Bennett, made its Spring appearance in new costumes as shown in the above picture. For the fall trip, the Adelphians acquired white sweaters with maroon and white emblems to be earned by participation. Their first trip included parts of Northwest Washington, while the April trip included the Southeast and other parts of the state.

Chi Pi Sigma

Chi Pi Sigma is a national chemistry fraternity whose members must earn fourteen hours of B, or eighteen hours of C in order to belong. Two members of the local chapter are national officers this year, having been elected at the national convention last spring in Berkeley, California. They are Weymar Rosso, national treasurer, and Harold Wheeler, national vice-president. The officers of the local chapter are: Richard Lemagie, president; Robert Goettling, vice-president; Hubert Rushfeldt, secretary; Robert Spring, treasurer; and Dr. Philip R. Fehlandt and Prof. Frederick A. McMillin, advisors.
Excellence in scholarship in the field of liberal arts qualifies students to become members of Mu Sigma Delta, local scholarship honorary. Juniors and seniors with exceptionally high scholastic standing and faculty members with Phi Beta Kappa keys are elected into the organization.

Officers include: Dr. Warren Tomlinson, president; Mrs. Lyle F. Drushel, vice-president; Jean Hartman, secretary; Richard Smith, corresponding secretary; Mr. Charles Robbins, treasurer.

Mu Sigma Delta

Otłah

Otłah is an honorary organization for senior women who have maintained a B average in scholarship and who have participated in at least one major extra-curricular activity during their college years. Seventeen were selected for active membership this year.

The annual Christmas tea was given honoring mothers of all college students.

Officers were: Dorothy Shaw, president; Belle Ruth Clayman, vice-president; Erna Brenner, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Raymond S. Seward, advisor.

Members of Pi Gamma Mu must earn 20 hours of B in the department of Social Science in order to merit formal membership in this national honorary organization.

Officers were: Philip Cheney, president; Dorothy Shaw, vice-president; Edythe Mae Peele, secretary-treasurer.

Knights of the Log is a local honorary sophomore men’s organization. Members are chosen from the five fraternities and the independents of CPS on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and general participation in extra-curricular activities, with a minimum of one and a maximum of four for each group. Their function is essentially service to affairs both on and off the campus. Officers include: Ronald Rau, president; Jack Hungerford, vice-president; Yoshiteru Kawano, secretary-treasurer; Clair Hanson, sergeant-at-arms; Gail Sampson, historian; Mr. Louis Grant, advisor. An advisory committee, composed of junior men, includes Robert Sprenger, Richard Sloat, and William Reynolds.
VIRGINIA SMYTH, senior, was elected to serve for two years as national president of the Spurs.

Spurs was established as a chapter at CPS in 1926. Membership in this national honorary organization composes sophomore women three selected from each of the four sororities and the independent group on the campus. The selection is based on scholarship and general participation in activities. Officers for this year include: Marie Mulligan, president; Lola Hughes, vice-president; Marjorie Wickens, secretary; Annabel Miller, treasurer; Doris Hartman, historian; Virginia Smyth, junior advisor; Miss Martha Pearl Jones, faculty sponsor.

Pi Kappa Delta

During the year, the Art Club held informal discussions on surrealism and water color and poster techniques. Paul Klee, the contemporary German artist, whose works were exhibited by the Tacoma Art Association in Jones Hall, was a topic for discussion.

Officers for the past year are Frances Chubb, president; Louis Stewart and Claire Hanson, vice-presidents; Katherine Nelson, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Melvin Kohler, adviser.

The International Relations Club meets every week for the purpose of discussing and understanding world problems and relationships. Among their activities is a radio program presented each week over KMO on Friday afternoons.

Officers: Francis Galbraith, president; William Reynolds, vice-president; Edith Mae Hammond, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Frank G. Williston, adviser.
The Writers' Club consists of students interested in writing as a means of expression. Members submit their manuscripts to the club for criticism and study. Mildred McKenzie was the winner of the short story contest which was held in the fall semester.

Officers: Belle Ruth Clayman, president; Margaret Heuston, secretary; Eleanor Robinson, treasurer; Miss Linda Van Norden, faculty adviser.

Application of Psychology to every day life has been studied in the meetings this year of Alpha Psi Chi, local psychology club.

Membership in the club is by invitation on the basis of interest in and aptitude for the subject; each member being required to present at least one paper a year on some phase of psychology.

Officers were: Barbara Longstreth, president; Louise Donelson, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Robert Sinclair, adviser.

All college women are eligible for membership in this group, which has Christian fellowship as its aim. The program throughout the past year emphasized "Christian living in a modern world".

Activities are directed toward the promotion of service projects and social affairs. Christmas baskets, entertainment for children of the White Shield Home, pot-luck dinners, and joint firesides with the YMCA are outstanding on the year's program.

The upperclass cabinet includes: Marcelle Jenson, president; Annabel Miller, vice-president; Betty Jones, secretary; Evelyn Shaw, treasurer; Muriel Woods, social chairman; Gwen Roach, program; Louise Durand, service; Helen Gessaman, religion; Carol Pratsch, family relations; Star Steel, world affairs; Irma Jueling, music; June Peele, Seabeck; Doris Hartman, publicity; Elizabeth Hardison, freshman adviser; Audrey Albertson, freshman representative. Mrs. Lyle Ford Drushel is adviser.

The freshmen organize separately and carry out a joint program with the upperclassmen, in order to develop interest and leadership among first year college women. Their officers include: Audrey Albertson, president; Vera Healy, vice-president; Patricia Coatsworth, secretary; Florence Darrow, treasurer; Patricia Cannon, social chairman; Virginia Judd, program; Ruth Pauline Todd, service; Elizabeth Hardison, student adviser; Dr. Helen McKinney, faculty adviser.
This year the Y. M. C. A. was revived from obscurity for very definite reasons. Aside from the fraternities, the men of our campus had little mutual interest in each other or in the school. Because of the selective quality and primarily social nature of the fraternity, a need was felt for a men's group built around different purposes and aims that would be available and beneficial to all.

One purpose of this newly-formed group is to promote fellowship among the men of the school. The Y. W. C. A. provides a common ground on which all the men of the campus can share freely and easily the society and fellowship of one another. A second aim of the Y. M. C. A. is to encourage honest and intelligent patriotism as we are citizens of the school and country. This is done through discussions and talks on problems of school relationships and policy as well as on questions of national and world wide interest.

The Y. M. C. A. is a group that fosters world wide fellowship by striving for the highest type of citizenship at home. And finally, by our relationships with one another, bound by a common loyalty to the deals of Jesus, the Y. M. C. A. strives for the making of these ideals effective in personality and society.

The "resurrected" Y. M. C. A. is a human, clear thinking, life-loving group of men who are growing as a group, and as persons, into a strong Christian fellowship.

Officers: Gene Albertson, president; Ash Walker, vice-president; Cameron Wilson, secretary; Lee Thune, treasurer; Clair Hanson, recreational chairman.

In its third year of activity, the CPS Ski Club sponsored CPS Ski Day at Mount Rainier, high school meets, and colored ski movies. Besides the many trips taken, a dual meet was held with the University of British Columbia.

Officers include: Charles Fishel, president; Myles Barrett, vice-president; Gretchen Kunigk, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Warren E. Tomlinson, adviser.
Le Club Tricolore

Le but du Club Tricolore est d'offrir aux étudiants une opportunité de parler et d'entendre la langue française et de former une impression aussi large que possible de la civilisation française. Bien entendu, ce domaine est immense mais il faut la peine d'y fouiller. Les officiers sont: Présidente: Sara Louise Doub, Vice-Présidente: Wesla Jane Whealdon, Secrétaire: Mary Jane Roberts, Trésorier: Tom Ray. Conseillère: Dr. Helen McKinney.

En La Mesa Redonda

"seguimos el camino pero andamos libres." Nuestras reuniones son diversas: juegos, canciones, y programas, con refrescos o cenas. Los socios y los miembros condicionales gozan cada semestre de una iniciación sin par en todo el colegio. El club ofrece buena práctica en el uso del español. Damos bienvenida a todos siempre. Senor Jose Beale, la presidenta; Senor Hardly, vice-presidente; Senor Moody, tesorera; Senorita Caroline Ceddes, secretaria; y Senora Robbins, la consejera.
Women's Federation includes the presidents and treasurers of Spurs, Y. W. C. A., Otlah, and W. A. A. This year it sponsored style shows, candy and aprons, and the Tolo theater parties as methods of raising funds for these organizations.

Officers: Evelyn Shaw, president; Erna Brenner, secretary; Annabel Miller, treasurer; Mrs. Lyle F. Drushel, adviser.

Kappa Phi is a national organization having the aim "Every Methodist woman in the university world of today, a leader in the church of tomorrow". The members of Chi Chapter are women of Methodist preference who are now attending the College of Puget Sound.

This year's officers include: Marion Sherman, president; Mary McKenney, vice-president; Lola Hughes, corresponding secretary; Eleanor Newman, recording secretary; Jean Smith, treasurer; Fern Nash, chaplain; Betty Schaad, historian. Miss Doris Fickle is faculty adviser.

In 1932, half a dozen out-of-town men grouped together for the purpose of providing as satisfactory and economical living conditions as possible while attending college. A year later they moved to their present location at 3222 North Ninth Street. As they became more interested in each other, the need was felt for some organization, and it was from this beginning that The Witan was formed. At first the group operated on a purely cooperative plan, doing their own purchasing and cooking. It was soon found advisable to have a house mother and cook. So for the past four years, Mrs. R. B. Parcel, affectionately known as "Mom," has presided over the kitchen and her family of boys.

Although town students do belong to The Witan, it is still essentially a place for out-of-town men. The Witan is not a fraternity in the sense that it sponsors a set social program although numerous parties and firesides are held by the group. It is rather the purpose of The Witan to furnish out-of-town men and a small group of interested town men the fellowship and experiences that come from living together while attending college.

Reasonably high scholarship is expected by the group, in-as-much as members are expected to maintain an average of not less than 1.4. Interest is not in scholarship alone as members are also active in other fields, notably music, dramatics, and forensics.

The Independent group on the campus is comprised of students not affiliated with either sororities or fraternities. The organization elects officers each semester, and provides a small program for its members. This year the social calendar included a scavenger hunt and a Christmas party.

The Independent men compete in intramural sports, this year taking third place.

The inter-sorority council composes the presidents and representatives of the four sororities on the campus. Its purpose is to formulate rush rules and devise methods for a feeling of unity between the groups.

This year it sponsored the annual inter-sorority dance on December tenth.

Inter-Sorority Council

The inter-fraternity council composes the presidents and representatives of the five fraternities on the campus. Its purpose is similar to the inter-sorority council, in that it formulates the rush rules.

The annual inter-fraternity dance was held May fifth.
Girls living in the new residence hall have their own organization meetings every week. The social calendar included monthly firesides and suppers, and future traditions were introduced. House standards and rules, formulated by the girls themselves, were given unanimous approval by the College Administration.

First officers elected were: Elizabeth Hardison, president; Cora Atkinson, vice-president; Annabel Miller, secretary; Margaret Varnes, treasurer; Tad Burd, historian; Lucy Spaeth, reporter. Committee chairmen include: Mary Ellen Peterson, scholarship; Annabel Miller, standards; Lucy Spaeth, courtesy; and Florence Darrow, social.

SEATED: Jane Hudson, Cle Elum; Signa Gustafson, Olympia; Florence Darrow, Seattle; Elizabeth Hardison, Yakima; Annabel Miller, Bremerton; Darline Irle, Chile, South America.

STANDING: Mary Ellen Peterson, Ferndale; Margarita Irle, Chile, South America; Cora Atkinson, Seattle; Jane Sorenson, Seattle; Margaret Varnes, Ritzville; Tad Burd, Tacoma; Lucy Spaeth, Ketchikan, Alaska; Katherine Evans, Hartline.
Asa Maylott and John Poling are house boys.

Mrs. H. E. Peterson is cook.

The dining room has a seating capacity of seventy-five. Attractively furnished and well-lighted, it provides a pleasing atmosphere for mealtime.

Exquisite, yet comfortable in their furnishings, the girls' rooms provide most adequate accommodations for sleep and study.

To promote a program of athletic activity that will reach all of the women students and result in enjoyment, development of good health, physical efficiency, sportsmanship, and leadership is the purpose of the Women's Athletic Association of the College of Puget Sound.

In September, W. A. A. held its annual Sports Spree for the purpose of getting acquainted with the new girls. Mary Reitzel was in charge of the program for the event.

In October the annual High School Play Day was sponsored and girls from all the high schools of the city were invited.

The annual Sports Day held in February was given for women of Seattle College, Seattle Pacific College, Pacific Lutheran College, and Centralia Junior College.

The annual Gym Jubilee, in which all athletic-minded CPS women participate, includes exhibitions of volleyball, baseball, tumbling, and fencing. It was held this year on March 30, and the basketball team composed of women now in school defeated an alumnae team of the College.

The Awards Banquet, scheduled for June 12, complete the activities of the year. Other sports not included in the point-system are horseback riding, fencing, golf, and badminton.

Officers for the past year were: Pomona Hudson, president; Doris McClymont, manager of women's athletics; Ruth Jensen, vice-president; Lois Kuhl, secretary; Betty Schaad, treasurer; Dorothy Dreyer and Margarita Irle, historians; Mary Louise Ericksen, publicity chairman; Doris Granlund, program chairman; and Miss Marjorie Jenkins, adviser.
With five of the seven girls up from the championship junior team of last year, the seniors again walked away with the hoop championship. Outstanding in play for the team were Pony Hudson and Doris McClymont, with Doris taking the scoring honors for the tournament. An all-star team was chosen consisting of five seniors: Doris McClymont, Pony Hudson, Mary Louise Erickson, Lorene Reister and Betty Schaad; one junior, Lois Kuhl; two sophomores, Pauline Pumphrey and Dorothy Dreyer, and one freshman, Virginia Judd.

Because of poor weather conditions the interclass hockey tournament was not completed, but out of the games that were played an all-star team was selected and the squad played a game with the University of Washington girls, competed with the girls of Annie Wrigth Seminary, and gave an exhibition at Sumner.

RIDING
With the first rays of the spring sun the tennis courts are jammed with aspiring champions getting in practice for the interclass and ladder tennis tournaments.

"I shot an arrow in the air, it fell to the earth; I know not where," is typical conversation on the girls' archery field. The Annual Inter-collegiate Telegraphic Archery Tournament provides competition for the women "William Tells" of the college.

Under the direction of Barbara Wilson in the fall and Dorothy Dreyer in the spring, twelve hikes were taken during the year. Trips along the waterfront and the outlying districts afford unusual opportunity for interesting walks.
