FOR E W O R D

As the Loggers' March to Victory continues, with that March goes scores of our Student Body Members with the hope of assuring for us the continual opportunity and opening of passage ways for further learning in our "College of Dreams." And may the memories of that college remain with us in this book always.
DEDICATION

TO THE STUDENTS WHO HAVE SEEN THEIR CAMPUS CHANGED FROM A CASUAL LIFE OF CAREFREE AMERICANS TO ONE OF MILITARY WAR-TIME STATUS. WE DEDICATE THIS THE 1944 ANNUAL, WITH THE HOPES THAT THEY WILL REMEMBER THEIR COLLEGE OF DREAMS.
Our Indian forerunners in this beautiful spot of the Evergreen State looked to the West and saw the great Olympics—to the East stood the mighty Mountain—in all this they discovered the Spirit of Tamanawas—the epitome of all that is best in God and man. Following in their footsteps, it is a profound joy to share through the pages of our beloved year book, TAMANAWAS, those experiences which have made the year 1943-1944 stand out in our memory. It has been a difficult year, and yet a good year. More than seven hundred of the College of Puget Sound family are serving in the armed forces. We have had in our midst an army training program which has meant much to the army and to the College. Throughout the year the College has maintained the high academic standards, the love of truth, and the moral and spiritual qualities which have always marked her esteemed graduates.

The spirit of Tamanawas — the spirit of the College of Puget Sound inculcates a breadth of vision, dedication to high purposes, and consecration to those eternal values which give to each man the tools of mind, soul and body by which he may not only live in any age, but by which he lifts the splendors and realities of tomorrow from the cradle.

R. Franklin Thompson, President.
Two of the busiest members of our administration are Dean Regester and Dean Drushel whose understanding manner will long be remembered by their students.
To our friends, the great leaders in our Institution, we the students wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the interest you have shown in us, your friendly and cooperative spirit, and your helpfulness at all times. These unique quotations which characterize each of you are written here because they are a part of you; therefore, have become a definite part of our "Logger March."

This year has seen many changes in student life at CPS and the activities of the ASCPS have been highlighted by various additions to our regular schedule of events. Under President William Causin's leadership, plans were made for a new Freshman Orientation program which was carried on during the first few weeks of school and was directed by Paul Pruitt.

Adding a colorful tone to the annual Homecoming festivities, was the introduction of the Inter-class Song Fest which was given after the plays and contributed much to the growing spirit among and between classes.

It has been only through the cooperation of students and the continued support of our faculty together with Dr. Thompson's guidance, that the ASCPS has been able to carry out its activities throughout this year. We have been a small student body and have definitely felt the loss of many leaders, but working in a combined effort, the spirit of the Maroon and White has triumphed and we have come to the end of another year.

JANE THOMPSON,
ASCPS President.

CLASS OF '44 - WHITE QUADRANGLE

Two hundred and eighty-three strong, the class of 1944 entered the portals of the College of Puget Sound on sunny September 16, 1940. Coming from high schools all over the state, and reaching even to Montana, California and Alaska for class members, we felt awed by the upper classmen, and our new way of life.

Casting aside high school sweaters and pins, we started to make a name for ourselves under the Maroon and White. First, after our color post matriculation ceremony, we carried off the honors in the bag rush, running a high total of 945 points against the 456 earned by the sophomores.

Our class was lucky in that we had two glorious years of typical college life, with dances each week-end, football games, pep rallies, basketball, and plenty of men. During our last two years the glamour of college was taken away by the war and we turned from our "rah-rah" days to days of study and waiting—for those who have left our ranks.

The class of '44 has been unique in the "firsts" it has participated in: we took first place in the bag rush for two years; we were the first class to present a "sneak" prevue of our senior sneak; the girls' basketball team won first place in interclass competition in 1944, and our volleyball team carried off highest honors in the 1943 tourney. The death of Dick Job, a marine private, was the first war casualty of our college experience; now a destroyer has been named after him.

We leave CPS with feelings of regret, because we have loved our alma mater and sought to serve her in every way that we could.

To these three boys who will be awarded diplomas though now serving in the Armed Forces, and to the many other members of the Class of '44 who are serving their country, there is little we can say, but we are all anxiously awaiting your return to your College of Dreams and we wish you the best of luck always.
Class of '45

PURPLE QUADRANGLE

Two years at C.P.S. in wartime has found the class of '45 staunchly upholding the college spirit at home, while many of its members are doing their part in the armed services.

The junior class, though small in number, will long be remembered for its constant scheming against rival classes. As freshmen they engaged in actual "fisticuffs" with the sophomores before the bag rush, resulting in the capturing and torturing of frosh president Foozy Vaughn. Incidentally, they lost the bag rush that year and the following also. During their sophomore year, however, they defeated the freshmen in a hard fought tug-of-war on Campus Day.

The jaunty juniors, the "nuisance" class, started this year with 46 members and ended with 41. They managed to harass their rivals, the seniors, throughout the year. An unofficial junior breakfast was enjoyed during one Wednesday chapel period. The purpose was to "show" the seniors. The net result was public denunciation and retaliation by said seniors.

The competitive spirit of the class of '45 was prominent in the song fest sponsored during homecoming. Although they didn't win first place they won a well-deserved second with their song "Remember," written by Luella Jackson.

A very successful informal dance, "Spooks Spree," was held at the Sub October 30th. The juniors wisely chose the weekend when some of their ex-classmates were home on leave from Willamette and the University. The dancing was to juke music in a hallowe'en atmosphere.

It was "Spizirinctum" that Dr. Thompson said the class of '46 had. We think of our class as a very special one for our Dr. Thompson was new to CPS just as we were in 1943. For that reason we gave a special chapel in honor of the arrival of Dr. Thompson's baby girl, and presented him with a scroll, adopting Martha Lucille and signed by the entire Sophomore class. Yes, we had our bag rush which consisted of the three upper classes participating against the Freshman, for many of our boys had been called into the service.

The popular Campus Trio, and many other talented students are among the members of our class. The sophomore chapel was one of great success due to this exceptional variety of talent. All in all this has been a grand year, for the enthusiasm of our group carried us through magnificently.

YELLOW QUADRANGLE

Despite war conditions and restrictions, it was an outstanding class of 137 freshmen who were the little green beanies this year. We started off in the fall with a bang, presenting special features stunt night, and an evening of plays oozing with talent. We traveled down the path of glory, by winning the bag rush, and later, taking first place in the Song Fest with Maxine Atkinson’s song “Our Gentle Mother.”

During the early part of the year, Bob Rinker, class president, left for the armed services, as did many other of our members. After such a good beginning, it was no wonder we sponsored one of the most successful dances of the year.

Organized by the faculty, the War Activities Committee was formed for the purpose of providing entertainment, social functions, devotional services, and cultural programs for the uniformed men on our campus.

Army Staff

The Army Specialized Training Unit was on our campus for three months, and while here found its place among our students and faculty. The enlisted staff was welcomed by both faculty and students and aided in creating a friendly feeling between the uniformed men and other students.

Climaxing a three month program of concentrated study, hours of drill, and military classes, the Army Specialized Training Unit 3996 of the College of Puget Sound presented a review. Special guest members of the administration committee, Dr. Todd, president emeritus, Dr. Thompson, and Mayor Fawcett. The Fort Lewis band provided music, and under the leadership of Cadet Lieutenant George E. McClure, the review was one which will long be remembered by all who attended. Special awards for excellence and good conduct were made at this time.

The much awaited day arrives.
Spurs is a national sophomore women's honorary established at CPS in 1926. It is composed of fifteen sophomore women who are selected as outstanding in scholarship and general participation in campus activities. Their many activities include ushering at all plays, concerts, and recitals, decoration of the auditorium at Christmas time, and assisting with campus bond drives and Campus Day. The annual Spur-Knight picnic is a function sponsored by the group as well as the assembly announcing pledges selected from the freshman class. Elverna Amundson was president for this year.
The Intercollegiate Knights, sophomore and junior men's honorary, joined with the national organization in 1943. It is composed of the leaders of the student body. The main function of the Knights of the Log Chapter is to create spirit and assist with all school activities. They had charge of the evening entertainment on Campus Day, helped with the Christmas decorations and assisted in the debate tournaments and the orientation of the ASTU on the campus. Jack Gallacher was fall president, and Frank Price spring president.
It is the hope and dream of every college woman to become a member of Otlah, senior women's honorary. Each spring junior women who have a grade point average of 2.0 or more are tapped for membership during an impressive chapel ceremony. Virginia Lantz was president of this year's group. Mrs. Seward is the adviser. All members of this group have a grade average of B or better.
Causerie Francaise

A group of students who are interested in speaking the French language met every two or three weeks in the apartment of Miss McKinney for informal meetings and teas. This group is unique in the fact that it has no officers or regular meetings, but students gather with the desire to further the ability to converse freely in the French language.

La Mesa Redonda

Reorganized this year under the leadership of Mrs. Robbins, adviser, and Luella Jackson, president, La Mesa Redonda, Spanish Club has proved to be one of the much loved organizations on the campus. Many outstanding speakers appeared before the group. One of the unique factors of the meetings is that they are carried out with exclusive use of the Spanish language. Everyday usage to the best advantage is the primary object of the group.
With a limited student body and limited supplies, it was with great difficulty that the Trail could be published. Because of the many hours of work by Murden Woods, editor, and a handful of faithful workers, its publication was made possible and the editorial policy was kept on the same high level as past years.

It was only because of special efforts of Dr. Thompson, and Mr. Miller, of Johnson-Cox Company, that it was possible to publish an annual this year. With photographers, students, and supplies aiding the war fronts, the material available for this year's book was kept at a minimum. Many staff members aided in soliciting those members of the Army Specialized Training Unit who purchased annuals.
Under the management of Don Lamka the forensic department carried on a very limited program from past years. The annual high school debate tournament proved very successful as over thirty-five schools sent representatives.

The women's debate team, composed of Constance Allen, Felicie Dahl, and Marilyn Gilstrap, represented the College of Puget Sound at the Pacific Northwest Intercollegiate debate tournament held at Linfield.

This year there were four active student members of Pi Kappa Delta and two faculty members on the campus. Due to war-time shortages the program usually carried out by this group was kept to a minimum.
International Relations Club

International Relations Club meets twice a month at the home of Dr. Tomlinson for the purpose of studying and discussing the foreign situation and current events. This year the club purchased several temporary historical books which were presented to the library. Don Lamka is the president.

Women's Federation

Composed of the presidents and treasurers of Spurs, Student Christian Association, Ot-Nalah, and Women's Athletic Association, Women's Federation raises funds for the benefit of these service organizations. Tolo under the chairmanship of Esther Mann, was this year one of the biggest all-college events. Evelyn Seeley served as president. Mrs. Drushel is the adviser.
The Student Christian Association is a voluntary group of students and faculty whose aim is working toward the development of the individual and society in accordance with the principles of Christian living. This group of students presents services during Tuesday chapel periods in the little chapel. Many outstanding speakers have been presented this year as this association carried on the most successful program in recent history. Paul Pruitt served as president of the group. Anna May Wills, vice president; Jayne Shaffer, treasurer; Viola Maylott, secretary; Eileen Alexander, program chairman, and Virginia Norton, publicity chairman. Miss Lewis is adviser of the group.
Presenting two concerts this year, the Puget Sound Symphony under the direction of Mr. Louis Wersen rehearsed on Tuesday evenings. Both the fall and spring concerts were well attended by friends of the College and both were widely applauded. The members of this orchestra are amateurs who play for the sake of enjoyment, and even though many of them are not college students, they have brought fame and recognition to the College.

JORANNE MIDTSATRE, Music Manager
Under the direction of Eric Koker, the Adelphian Choral Society rehearsed Tuesday and Thursday noons and presented a well accepted chapel program for the students and the ASTU. Members of this organization receive one hour class credit, and have presented other programs throughout the city.

The Campus trio, composed of Joranne Midistra, Betty Heidinger Smith, and Marian Clendenen, have become one of the most honored and most sought after musical groups in Tucson. They have made numerous appearances throughout the city, and this spring received the honor of being selected to perform for the Orpheus Club spring concert. The trio is accompanied by Jean Thalber.
Following the tradition of foregoing years, the Campus Playcrafters, under the expert leadership of Martha Pearl Jones, produced a year full of excellent dramatic presentations. Assisting Miss Jones in the dramatics department were: Ernie Goodner, student manager; Sue Hendrickson, dramatic department assistant, and Marjorie Dawson, publicity chairman.

The season began in the fall with the annual Freshman Stunt Night. The winning skit was a take-off on Cinderella, directed by Priscilla Newschwaner and Barbara Engberg. On Friday, October 22, freshmen presented an evening of one-act plays, the third annual presentation of this kind. Casts were as follows: "The Man in the Bowler Hat," a comic mystery play by A. A. Milne—Merle Legg as John, Virginia Kilde as the Heroine, Richard Cole as the Hero, Rhoda Hazen as Mary, Wade Garland as the Chief Villain, Gale Behrens as the Bad Man, and Robert Winskill as the "Man in the Bowler Hat"; "Overtones," a drama of dual personalities by Alice Gerstenberg—Mary-Anna Schenck as Hetty, Mary Ruth Erchinger as Harriet, Thelma Hardy as Maggie, and Marilyn Davis as Margaret; "Spring," a boy-meets-girl play by C. C. Clements—Laurence Hewlett as The Cop, David Rees as The Cob, and Phyllis Thompson as The Skirt; "The Lady of the Portrait," a tender, touching love story by Constance D'Arcy Mackay—William Hagerman as Beau Nash, Harry Meixner as Jepson, his servant, and Hazel Beatty as "The Lady of the Portrait"; "Tea Pot on the Rocks," a comedy by John Kirkpatrick—Joyce Fearn as May Lovelace, Anna-Marie Vaughn as Daisy Anderson, Robert Winskill as Roy Williams, Harriet Templeman as Mrs. Carstairs, Laurence Hewlett as Willie, and Ted Knudson as Alec. Acting as student directors for these plays were Dixie Bullard, Sue Hendrickson, Virginia Beatty, Ruth Ann Dodsworth, Felicie Dahl, Doris Nelson, Priscilla Newschwaner, Jeane Thurber, Patricia Hansen and Jolafern Torgerson. Promoters were Polly Packard, Mary Jean Heidinger, Shirley Milsted, Helen Sale, and Donna Mae Kiste. Property committees were composed of Kerttu Kahn, Louise Kipper, Norma Jean Rice, Lois Lynch, Wilma McDonald, Phyllis Ranch, Betty Joan Swanson, Elaine Pulliam, Florence Schaller, Elizabeth Anderberg and Marian Lentz.

Scarcely a month later the Playcrafters gave two evening performances of three Homecoming plays. One, "A Woman of Character," a comedy in one act, was about gossipy club women. The true-to-life portrayals of the cast made the play a great success. Working on the staff were: Jolafern Torgerson, student director; Anna-Marie Vaughn and Virginia Kilde, properties; Connie Allen, prompter. An old-fashioned melodrama in three scenes, "He Ain't Done Right by Nell," became the favorite of young and old alike because of the fine acting done in the traditional melodramatic style. The staff was composed of Evelyn Seeley, student director; Thelma Hardy, Kerrett Kahn, Shirley Milsted, properties; Mary Jean Heidinger, prompter; Esther Mann, piano; Carol Hitchcock, costumes. The third play, an allegory in a prologue and one act, entitled "Symphony in Illusion," set forth the various emotions experienced by a group of women who have undergone the siege of the Germans. Each member of the cast brought forth every delicate shading of character necessary for the complete success of the play. Staff members consisted of Patricia Hansen, student director, and Mary Ruth Erchinger, prompter.

CHORAL READERS

Featuring a famous negro sermon by James Weldon Johnson, the choral reading group gave its fourth annual recital February 25. The poetry selections presented by the group were given in four divisions: Children, vagabond, religious and patriotic. As usual, these enjoyable readings were highlighted by colorful, picturesque costumes and artistic settings.

The purpose of choral reading is to spread a finer appreciation of poetry through the interpretation and dramatization of such groups. The choral readers are directed by Miss Jones. Leaders within the group are: Priscilla Newschwander, Virginia Beatty and Evelyn Seeley.

With the fine management and the distinctive acting of former plays, "Seven Sisters" was a step higher up the ladder of splendid dramatic productions. This farce comedy in three acts, written by Edith Ellis, was based upon the Hungarian custom of marrying the eldest daughter of the family first. With a family of seven daughters it became quite difficult and perhaps would not have been accomplished at all without the aid of Ferenz Horkov, an officer in the militia. Of course, his motive was to free Mitzi so that she could marry him, if she would.

The play was given April 28 and 29 in Jones Hall auditorium and was immediately a success. It was a fine example of the superior performances traditionally given by the Campus Playcrafters.

ANDERSON HALL

Agnes Healy Anderson Hall, residence building for out of town women students was completed six years ago. This year it was the home of forty-eight coeds, and under the direction of Mrs. Schneider a social program was carried out to the fullest. The hall is governed by four committees consisting of scholarship, social, standards, and courtesy. The main event of the year was a formal dinner dance held in the early part of the spring semester. Special firesides, concerts, and devotional meetings took place in the recreation rooms when the ASTU was on the campus.

Officers for the fall semester were: Nelda Peterson, President; Arliss Wilder, Vice President; Juanita Robinson, Secretary, Ruth Ann Dodsworth, Treasurer; Peggy Doubek, Historian; and Hilda Feuz, Sergeant at Arms.

Spring Semester officers were Ethel Peterson, President; Jane Shaffer, Vice President; Joan Kincaid, Secretary; Polly Packard, Treasurer; Thelma Hardy, Historian; and Donna Cohoon, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Composed of the Presidents and a Representative of each Sorority, Intersorority Council formulates and enforces rush rules, and regulates all intersorority planning. The annual intersorority dance was held in the early part of February. Because of the capable leadership and work of Jackie Moore, chairman, and her committee, this year's affair was a complete success. Jeanne McDougall served as president during the fall semester, and Felicia Dahl was president in the spring.
WOMEN’S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The women’s Association is an extra-curricular organization which promotes participation in athletics among the women of the college. The purpose of this organization is to promote democracy, leadership, sportsmanship and cooperation among the women students. Under the leadership of Fontelle Gaddis, president, this year’s program included two night meetings held in the girls dressing room lounge. With Almira Marchesini as chairman a gym jamboree was held for high school girls and was a success.

A corecreational program was carried out throughout the school year under the co-chairmanship of Jane Shaffer and Bob Hamilton, representing the men’s intramurals. Jackie Moore served as General Manager.

Speedball

Introduced into the field of sports for the first time this year, speedball scored a hit with many girls. The first sport of the season, it proved to be a very popular sport in spite of the weather conditions.

Volleyball

Volleyball held interest of many girls this year as two tournaments were held. The senior class came out on top in the inter-class tournament, while Delta Alpha Gamma sorority walked off with first place in the Inter-sorority competition.

Hockey

The highlight of the hockey season was the games with the University of Washington Women. This year three teams represented CPS, and even though none were victorious, the day was chucked full of fun and experience. Hockey holds top interest among the girls of the College.
Basketball

The Gammas took first place in the basketball tournament after a two-year lapse, when their B team came out to take first place to break the tie between the Gamma A team and the Indes. This activity held great interest as many spectators attend the games. The "all star" team was composed of Esther Mann, Almira Marchesini, Ruby Smith, Mary Ann Truitt, Janice Lindeman, and Fontelle Gaddis.

Individual Sports

Badminton, tennis and ping pong were the three dual sports offered by WAA this year. Individual athletes gathered racquets to display unusually fine technique and smoothness.

Swimming

The two annual swimming meets held this year were very well attended. The Betas took first place in both meets, closely followed by the Gammas. An added feature to the meets this year was a night event in which nearly sixty participated.

Men's Basketball

With the majority of men in the armed forces, athletic program was kept at a minimum. The hand full of civilian men on the campus organized a strong civilian basketball squad. Unique factor of this team was that in each lineup, new names appeared to replace those who had been called to the armed forces. This spunky little squad, under the management of Bob Hamilton, came forth to defeat the ASTU team on the campus, and also to play several city teams.
