IN SPRING
In the 1937 Tamanawas we have tried to capture and set apart for you one year at Puget Sound. To bring to mind vivid memories we have attempted to duplicate in black and white the high lights and familiar scenes of that year. To the students of the College we dedicate this book.

TAKE THE CUE

THE DRAMA of life makes everyone living a player, and each is assigned to take the spotlight in turn. Most of the time, however, each player has a minor part or is a backstage hand. Whatever roles he plays, of necessity he must take the cue when it is given or the drama becomes a tragedy.

The Tamanawas of 1937 gives the Student Body the spotlight in the act of "Student Life." The other players are the community, parents, trustees and faculty.

There comes to my mind another act in the drama of life which occurred years ago. The stage was the then plains of Central Washington. The setting consisted of sagebrush, wild horses, skulking coyotes and snakes. The wagon trail wound hither and yon, with a good many branches, which made it hard to follow the one that we desired to take.

The players were eight men and two boys. Each player was assigned a position of chief. This gave him the spotlight in turn in the making and breaking of camp. One was commander-in-chief. Another was chief cook, another chief tent lifter, another chief dish washer, etc. The play went on for six days. No matter who was in command, each and every member of the cast was busy.

The equipment for the cast was one light wagon, a spring wagon and a saddle horse. You can rest assured that that act in the play of life has never been forgotten by the players. The six days of travel together was thrilling, dull, and sometimes actually boring, but that made no difference. It was all one harmonious act which brought pleasure to every member of the party.

An entirely new act of "College Life" will occur next year. It will be called FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION. The lines are being written. The players will be the usual cast of "College Life." The writers of the lines are providing spotlight appearances for each and every member of that cast. If those lines are well learned and if each player takes the cue when it is given, the act will be a great success. We feel sure that when the words "All set! Go!" are spoken, each individual in each group will be on his toes and the play will go on to a glorious climax.

—EDWARD H. TODD.
TO THE SENIORS we wish a "Happy Commencement." Absolute beginning, of course, do not occur in nature, physical or human. To pick out certain points as beginnings or ends, and to attach unusual importance to them as the start or finish of something, is more a matter of wish and of effort than of fact. No matter how new a New Year and its resolutions may be, they bear close relation and resemblance to what has gone before. So, life doesn't begin at Commencement, but goes on in the way which it has learned through experience and training. Fortunately it does! Accordingly, even though the time of leaving college is one of considerable change, the College does not merely wish you success, but confidently expects it for you because you do not now have to commence, but began some time ago, the love of truth, the quest for knowledge, and the practice of inquiry. We say "Good luck, not with reference to a finish or to a commencement, but to a continuance.

—JOHN. D. REESTER.

A RECENT SURVEY, conducted to determine what adults really want to study, revealed that the prime interest is health and the second interest is the development of skill in human relationships. Activities in the student world recognize the same objectives. If conducted wisely, these activities will be re-creation; if not, we defeat our own best purposes—we burn out our enthusiasm, wear out our energies, and sum up ambition for our post-graduation years in the jingle:

"I wish I was a little rock
A-sittin' on a hill
I wouldn't eat, I wouldn't sleep,
I wouldn't even wash.
I'd just sit still a thousand years
And rest myself, by gosh!"

Certainly participation in student affairs should teach us the technique of getting along with people and the value of co-operation—a most important quality in the increasing complexity of our social environment.

If these affairs with which we fill our days (and nights) are really worthwhile in developing our personalities and in fitting us to take places of leadership in the communities in which we live, perhaps we should like to accept another beatitude, suggested by a friend of mine, "Blessed is the man who helpeth to make things go."

Alumni Association

JOHN COCHRAN, President

CPS ALUMNI

The Affairs of the College of Puget Sound Alumni Association have been handled during the past year by the following officers: President, John Cochran; vice president, Mrs. Robert Strobel; secretary, Mrs. Carl Scheyer; treasurer, Franklin Johnson and executive secretary, Arthur Linn. The governing body of the association is made up of the above officers and the following directors: Charles Anderson, Dorothy Foxwell, Ensley Llewellyn, Robert Strobel, Darrel Thomas, Mary Louise Wortman.

The "Puget Sound Alumnus" is the official publication of the association. It is edited by the executive secretary and is issued four times during the school year. The magazine contains 20 pages and is mailed to approximately 2800 alumni and friends of the College in all parts of the United States and in several foreign countries.

Thirteen local groups are functioning in various sections of the United States, including Seattle, Puyallup, Whatcom-Skagit county, Thurston-Mason county, Lewis county and Grays Harbor county in Washington; Portland, Oregon; Chicago, Illinois; Boston, Massachusetts; Washington, D. C.; New York City; Northern California and southern California. These groups have met for at least one reunion during the year.

The Alumni Association held its annual Homecoming banquet in Hotel Winthrop last fall. Approximately 125 grads came back for the occasion and enjoyed an evening of fellowship and entertainment.

During the year the association carried on its annual Alumni Loyalty Share Fund drive under the leadership of the treasurer, Mr. Johnson. Several hundred alumni living in Tacoma and vicinity were called upon for contributions.

On Commencement Day, June 7, the second annual Alumni College will be held. This feature was started last year and proved highly successful. The program will consist of lectures and discussions on topics of interest to the alumni. Members of the regular College faculty will handle the work.

Work on the organization of the four quadrants was completed with the appointment of four secretaries and four chairmen to supervise the carrying out of the quadrant tradition, a feature that no other institution possesses.

The Alumni Association is now well established and through its program is working for the mutual benefit of the College and the alumni.

To the 1937 Graduates: Congratulations, and welcome to membership in the Alumni Association.

ARTHUR LINN, Secretary
STUDENT GOVERNMENT at CPS is controlled by “Central Board,” a representative body of the students themselves. It consists of the president, vice-president and secretary elected from the junior class to serve during their senior year; two representatives to Central Board from each class are elected; one in the school election, and the other in class election; and also a representative of the Alumni association. The faculty advisers are O. Floyd Hite, general manager, Charles A. Robbins, bursar, and Dr. John D. Regester, Dean.

Central Board directs activities and funds of the Associated Students. It has the legislative authority in the constitution of the ASCPS. It enforces traditions and confers awards and honors. Student committees and managers of activities are directly responsible to Central Board.

Dramatics

DRAMATIC MANAGER

DRAMATIC MANAGER CLAYTON LUPTON displays a versatility which, in the opinion of many, has never been surpassed. His stage settings, especially for the "Petrified Forest" were most modern in expression and design. Anyone who has ever been associated with the Playcrafters, whether senior or freshman, knows of the loyalty and genuine friendliness of Lupton. Much of the success of our plays can be directly contributed to him. His expert opinion visualizes bright success in the field in which he is interested.

OCTOBER 22 the Campus Playcrafters presented Alexander Wollcott and George S. Kaufman’s "Dark Tower." The play, a recent version of dramatic mystery, containing pathos, humor and romance was well received by a capacity audience. The Dark Tower, a difficult play, was made simple by a fine cast.

The main characters were: Dorothy Belle Harriss as Jessica Wells; Gordon Tuell as Damon Wells and Max Sarnoff; Maurice Webster as Ben Weston, and Clark Gould as Stanley Vance.

Mildred Brown, Gladys Harding, Maurine Henderson, Clarence Keating, Dick Names, Roger Mastrude, Marjorie McGilvrey and Dick Sloat completed the cast.
RESHMAN STUNT NIGHT is the one opportunity given all freshmen to display their talents and through the four years of college it remains a vivid reminder of the first year. A series of stunts are given which are coached by upper class dramatic majors and mature as the actors the members of the entering class.

FRESHMAN STUNT NIGHT

"PETRIFIED FOREST"

WITH THE BACKGROUND of the Arizona desert, our curtain parted last December on the Nobel prize play "The Petrified Forest." The scene was set in the Black Mesa gas station and lunch room at a lonely crossroads. Helen May, cast as Gabby Maple whose only dreams were shared by a disillusioned poet, Alan Squier, taken by Clayton Lupton, contributed a real and sincere piece of acting. Francis Galbraith portrayed Duke Mantee, the nerveless killer. Dean Tuell as Gramp Maple; Richard McKnight as Boze; Duvane Lamka as Jason Maple, owner of the lunchroom; Jane Anderson, Garth Dickens, Roger Scudder, Bill Burroughs, Helmut Jueling, Ned Cowles, Robert Ingersoll, Eldon Anderson, John Fukuyama, Ronald Lorimer, James Docherty, Judd Day, George Forsyth and Weymar Rosso completed the cast.

PURPLE AT THE WINDOW, ORANGE AT THE WINDOW
Fantasy presented by Olympia High School which won the Second Annual High School One-act play contest at CPS March 6.

Presented by the Playcrafters
TO CLIMAX the series of plays presented by the Campus Playcrafters "Personal Appearance" was played before a capacity audience Friday, May 7th in the Jones Hall auditorium. The cast consisted of seasoned players and was headed by upperclass men and women. "Personal Appearance" is one of the most modern dramas in speech action and presentation to be presented at the College.

Carole Arden, played by Gladys Harding, was introduced as the star of "Personal Appearance" in the opening scene in which she was speaking before a microphone acting scenes from her latest Hollywood venture Drifting Lady. Throughout the performance Gladys Harding was at her best and persuaded the audience to see her only as the screen star Carole Arden. The love interest was supplied by Gordon Tuell and JoAnn Grant. Dorothy Belle Harris as Aunt Kate Barnaby, managed things her own way. Others were Jane Anderson, Richard Sloat, Marcelle Jenson, Dean Tuell, Clayton Lupton, Francis Galbraith, Elizabeth Simpson, Dewane Lamka.
DURING the past school year, the Trail has seen a very active season, with more issues, a larger circulation, and several special editions over the usual schedule. The Puget Sound Trail this year rated in the second class honor rank, lacking only 50 points of attaining last year's score, as judged by the National Scholastic Press Association. Maurine Henderson, as editor-in-chief for the year, not only initiated new ideas and policies, but established a reputation for the Trail as being a newsworthy publication.

The high-light of the year was an eight page issue at Christmas time, along with several six page editions. A "Hearst" publication on March 30 received wide attention, as well as the "peace" issue on April 20. A student peace poll and a peace strike accompanied the issue.

A progressive and hard-working staff, under its capable leadership, worked efficiently.

Professor K. M. Hindley was replaced by Prof. Wesley Hunner as faculty adviser during the year.

THE TAMANAWAS

IN ORDER to present to you a book complete and interesting every effort has been put forth. The editorial staff has cooperated admirably and willingly in editing this annual which has endeavored to portray the student life of the College of Puget Sound.

—Phyllis Swanson.

EDITORIAL

WITH a complete revision of previous ideas, and a staff willing to work have resulted in the 1937 Tamanawas. A full year's work has been given voluntarily by the staff. Their work is tedious and requires responsible handling. The accuracy of the book depends on them and they have done their part well.

Pictorial and candid photography have been used to add interest and life to the volume. The process of lithography features prominently involves comparatively greater work than does the preparation of engraved pages.

Numerous changes in the book arrangement may be noted: the use of art photography; the candid camera shots on class pages; snapshot pages distributed throughout the book to balance interest; more pictures and more pages. These are the main individual features of this year's book.

Under capable management the business of the publication was ably dealt with under the guidance of Robert Anderson. Working with business officials of the College and city organizations, Bob accomplished a great deal in obtaining advertising and supplying the demand for a responsible student leader.

DEBATE MANAGER

Working as debate manager and taking part in intercollegiate debate, Bob Byrd has managed to lead the department through a successful year. A new high was reached in the number of debates participated in and a fine showing was made.

DEBATE ACTIVITIES

THE CPS DEBATE SQUAD participated in a total of 220 inter-collegiate debates during the 1936-37 season, 109 in the men's division and 91 in the women's. The teams were in competition with 38 colleges and universities in eight states during the year, and CPS made a remarkable showing in all three types of forensics.

At the Inland Empire Junior College debate tournament held at Lewiston Normal in Lewiston, Idaho, on February 12 and 13, CPS was represented by Wilma and Florence Ittner.

The annual Linfield College tourney held at McMinnville, Oregon, February 18, 19, and 20, was represented by 26 CPS students including speakers in debate, oratory, and extempore speaking. John Leik brought back the first place gold trophy in the men's division of extempore speaking, while Marie and Margaret Gilstrap and Wilma and Florence Ittner survived the preliminaries of debate, but were eliminated in the final rounds.

CPS entered eight debate teams, three orators and four extempore speakers in the Third Annual Junior-College forensics tournament on March 12, and 13, and James Docherty and Elizabeth Hardison placed third by winning eight out of ten rounds of debate. James Docherty also won third in oratory Representatives from ten leading colleges in Washington and Oregon were entered in the competition.

The climax of the debate season was the Regional Pi Kappa Delta forensic meet held at Stockton, California, on April 1, 2, and 3. In competition with representatives from colleges and universities in eight states along the Pacific Coast, Elizabeth Hardison won a close second in oratory and Marie and Margaret Gilstrap placed second in women's division of junior college debate. Gold medals were awarded the CPS women. Other CPS representatives were Robert Byrd, James Docherty, Dorothy Gross, Valen Honeywell, and John Leik.

Several other non-tournament debates were held with Seattle College, Seattle Pacific, Northwest Nazarene College, Gonzaga University, and the University of Washington. Approximately ten percent of the entire student body participated in some phase of forensics during the year. Much of the credit of the successful season is due to the able direction of Dr. Charles T. Battin, coach. Robert Byrd served as forensics manager, and Elizabeth Hardison as manager of women's debate.

Judd Day and Elizabeth Hardison placed second, and awards of ten and five dollars for first and second places in both divisions were made.

John Leik and Lora Bryning won first in men's and women's divisions in the first annual extemporaneous speaking contest held on December 17. Second place winners were Harwood Bannister and Wilma Ittner. Names of first and second place winners in both divisions were engraved on a gold trophy which is in permanent possession of the College.

For the first time at CPS the Freshman commission became a separate organization, giving freshmen more opportunity for active service and gaining experience in YW work. Also committees now correlate with national and regional divisions of YW work.

Officers are Maurine Henderson, president; Marjorie Ranck, vice-president; Izetta Hendricks, secretary; Mary Jane Roberts, treasurer. Committee heads are Dorothy Belle Harris, Margaret Sines, Ruth Leo, Barbara Beardsley, Katherine Yamamoto, Elizabeth Hardison and Sally Jensen.

Sororities and Fraternities

INTER-SORORITY COUNCIL

DURING THE YEAR a more or less concentrated effort has been made to integrate sorority problems and work them out together. The group was under the leadership of Dorothy Ann Simpson during the fall semester and Phyllis Swanson in the spring.

Shortening the usual fall rush period and planning for more integrated rush affairs were accomplished. A new booklet for entering freshmen women which is concerned with campus etiquette is an experiment this year which will, no doubt, grow into a tradition.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

COMPRISING A CENTRAL BOARD OF CONTROL by which all difficulties and problems that arise among the fraternities may be solved and settled, the inter-fraternity council is made up of the president and an elected representative of each fraternity. This board formulates rushing plans, social events, allows the exchange of ideas and promotes greater interest in fraternity life. An inter-fraternity dance is held each spring. The president of the council last fall was Bill Bannister and the secretary, Rodney Lytle; this spring Rodney Lytle, president and Amos Reid, vice-president.

Athletics

To develop and create sportsmanship and aggressiveness so essential to athletic success we find our men competent.
A COMPLETE TEAM of returning lettermen greeted Coach Roy Sandberg at the start of the 1936 grid season. With a bumper crop of yearling talent the Maroon and White seemed set to go places.

After a weak start in the regular conference schedule the Loggers got under way and were never headed until the Willamette game. This was the lone conference defeat for the Lumberjacks during 1936. A tie with Linfield at the first of the season was the only other blemish on the record. The Puget Sounders were conference second-place winners.

Coach Sandberg's big worry at the start of the season was to find a good kicking and passing fullback. This he discovered in Bernard Remson, flashy colored Stockton California boy. This completed one of the classiest all-around backfield quartets in CPS grid history.

The line was one of the strongest in the conference. All-conference Jess Dawkins, and Russ Perkins, guard and center respectively, were the bulwarks of this forward wall. Halfback Alec Schwetz was the other SPS member of the all-star eleven.
YELL KINGS: Klemme, Keating, Miller.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

In the curtain raiser of the 1936 grid schedule the Sandberg coached Logger eleven showed tremendous power and great possibilities of a strong running attack. Behind the defense of a strong forward wall composed mostly of veterans, Schwetz, Mayer, Mel Miller and Remson ran around the Army boys just about as they pleased.

Although the Loggers manhandled and pushed the invading Pirates all over the gridiron, the Albany eleven showed surprising goal-line defense and held the threatening Puget Sound grid machine to two tallies.

Four times the Loggers were within the Linfield 10-yard line. Four times either a penalty or an incompleted forward pass balked the Maroon and White. Linfield scored first after Votaw had passed and ran his team into position. CPS finally pushed over the tying score in the last of the third canto. Miller converted the tying tally.
Contrary to the scoreboard, most of this game was played in Willamette territory. The bigger, more experienced Bearcats, however, took advantage of their breaks to score twice. Alec Schwetz, Logger halfback, broke away for 65 yards and the longest run of the contest in the third canto.

In the last game of the conference season, the Loggers humbled the Missionaries by virtue of their superior running attack and more powerful line. Conference runner-up honors were at stake.

Figured to lose by four touchdowns, the Sandberg-coached aggregation stopped everything the Bulldogs had to offer including All-Coast fullback, George Karamatic. Superior Gonzaga reserve strength spelled defeat to the Loggers.
Playing against a powerful, fast and more-experienced eleven the Puget Sounders were outclassed in this contest. At times, however, the Maroon and White outfit pushed deep into the enemy territory on a series of off-tackle reverses.

Featuring a sparkling aerial attack, brilliant running and downfield blocking, the Sandberg-coached eleven made the most imposing showing of the entire season in this game. The last play of the contest, a quintuple lateral play which gained 65 yards, was probably the most spectacular seen in the Stadium bowl.

FOOTBALL SQUAD
JOEY MACK, formerly head coach of Albany college, took over the basketball coaching duties at the start of the season. With such returning lettermen as Otto Smith, Bruce Hetrick, Ralph Sandvigen, George Pollock, Erling Tollefson and Bud McFadden the CPS hoop quintet seemed set for its best year in a very long lean period of years. Three very promising yearlings: Bob Morris, Carl Smith, and Lyle Carpenter, completed the Logger casaba squad.

In a pre-season game, the Maroon and White scored the greatest single triumph registered by a Logger quint in 10 years. It humbled the mighty Purple of the University of Washington's former All-American basket five by a 30-29 score in the Loggers' home gym. The Mackmen went on to take third place honors in the conference ladder.

From then on the footsteps of the Logger five were dogged by repeated hard luck. Injuries to Sandvigen, Hetrick, Morris, and Bill Pate, who was claimed by tuberculosis, kept the Mackmen below par all season. At the end of the schedule there were only seven men on the traveling squad.

FIRST on the intramural program for 1937 was indoor baseball, which the Sigma Mu Chi aggregate won after playing off a tie with the Sigma Zeta Epsilon nine. The games throughout the entire schedule were close between the leaders, and the title was not decided until the very last game was played.

The fight for the volleyball trophy was mostly between the Alpha Chi Nu defending champions and the Delta Pi Omicrons. In the last and crucial match in the series the Chi Nus won out in three close games.

Delta Pi Omicron basketball quintet had little trouble from any team save the Mu Chi five, who finished second in the standings with one loss to the Omicrons.
