College of Puget Sound
Tacoma, Washington
The College of Puget Sound today is the fruition of fifty years development. We have tried to present this progress graphically in the 1938 Tamanawas.
DEDICATION

We dedicate the 1938 Tamanawas to Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Todd, who have devoted twenty-five years of their lives to the College of Puget Sound.
These drawings represent squatters' shanties built on the former College of Puget Sound campus at Sixth and Sprague streets. They were drawn by Paul T. Cherington, son of the... first president, at the age of fourteen years. Mr. Cherington is a former professor at Harvard University, the author of several books, and is now a business consultant in New York.

ADMINISTRATION
THIS, the fiftieth anniversary edition of the TAMANAWAS, is an important one. I heartily congratulate the editors who have gathered the subject matter, and the students who have furnished it. I highly appreciate the opportunity of recording a message in this issue.

The sentiments of respect for and gratitude to the founders and patrons, balanced by the sentiments of gladness and rejoicing over the opportunities offered by the College in the present day, have dominated our celebration. These two groups of emotions impel us to dedicate ourselves to the perpetuation of these opportunities for others during the next fifty years.

There are three necessary intangible elements in every creditable institution of higher learning. The permeating ideals determine its character. The academic standards determine its quality. The authority to function, which is granted by the state, determines the extent of its activities. These three elements must be retained and fostered at any cost.

That cost may be reckoned in three very tangible elements, viz., Men, Money, and Materials. Without men who love the truth, who are willing to give their lives for its discovery, preservation and dissemination, institutions of higher learning cannot exist. Money, furnished by like-minded laymen, is necessary if scholars are to be sustained in their scholarly activities.

The locations of such institutions, and their material plants, where the intellectually hungry may be gathered, are the magnets around which center the cultural and intellectual life which molds the future of society.

The state and the church are both dependent upon institutions of higher learning to ever produce stronger and better men and women, if they are to progress and perpetuate themselves. It is our responsibility to see that the College of Puget Sound shall serve both of these expressions of society loyally and effectively during the next fifty years.

We trust that the days of celebration have already written in God's eternal records, a renewal of our individual and collective consecration to the holy purpose of higher education as represented in the College of Puget Sound.
IT WAS a happy circumstance, Nietzsche said, that since he was born on the Emperor's birthday, his own anniversary was a public holiday. Students now in the College of Puget Sound are likewise fortunate in attending at a significant time. It will be different to boast, "I was a junior in the Semi-Centennial year" from saying "I was in the class of umpty-teen." More important is the fact there is difference in the experience itself, for a new spirit is moving in the College. Because this is the fiftieth year, we have said it is significant and have made it so. That is good. But yet we have only realized values that might be found in any year. Let us congratulate ourselves, and then go on to find significance in every time.

JOHN D. REGESTER, Dean.

WHEN another fifty years of the life of the college has flashed by, you will be the "old grads" returning to celebrate the occasion, to welcome former friends and acquaintances, to look with wonder and amazement upon the new college generation of 1988, and to speculate on the future of Puget Sound. What will the world of that day be? What standing will the college have? Will the campus be fully developed and all buildings completed? What will you be like? Who among you will occupy the high places? Who will be famed for contributions to the arts and sciences?

The answer to all these questions is shrouded in the mystery of the future. It will be revealed gradually, in time and in degree, as life teaches you loyalty, responsibility, and cooperation. May this Fiftieth Anniversary challenge you to accept your full part in carrying the college forward to worthy achievement!

LYLE DRUSHEL, Dean of Women.

CENTRAL BOARD
TRAVELING to Topeka, Kansas, for a tournament, April 18 to 22, was the most extensive trip of the forensic year. Entered in the debating division were: Marie and Margaret Gilstrap; James Docherty and Robert Byrd. Registering for oratory were James Docherty and Katherine McConron, while Bob Byrd and Katherine McConron entered the extempore contest.

The National Student Congress held in Topeka on this occasion was run on the same plan as our national congress, with bills suggested, discussed, and voted on. Don Roberts was appointed senator from the northwest province; Florence Ittner, Katherine McConron, and Sara Louise Doub were representatives. Debates were held at various colleges where the teams stopped on the way to Kansas.

From April 7 to 9 a tournament was held at the College of the Pacific at Stockton, California, where C. P. S. was represented by Charles Shireman, Charles Gleiser, Sara Louise Doub and Katherine McConron. Mr. Shireman entered oratory and Mr. Gleiser, extempore, while Miss McConron participated in both divisions.

Honor was brought to the College when the Gilstrap twins tied with Seattle Pacific College for first place in the Junior College tournament, and placed third in the Linfield tournament.
Oratory

WINNING the two first prizes of ten dollars each, Elizabeth Hardison and Clarence Keating placed first in the women's and men's divisions, respectively, of the Burmeister oratorical contest. Second prizes of five dollars each were awarded to Dorothy Padfield and Charles Shireman.

In the Linfield College tournament, in which forty schools participated, Miss Hardison placed first in the oratory division.

Extempore Speaking

WITH the subject "Legislative Spinach," Robert Byrd placed first in the men's division of the annual extempore contest. Wilma Ittner received first honors in the women's division with the topic, "Is Proportional Representation a Dud?" Katherine McConron speaking on "Out of Glass" and James Docherty on "Sunshine Treatment for Business Recessions" were runners-up. These four earned the right to have their names engraved on the extempore trophy.

In car: Dr. Battin, K. McConron.
JAMES DOCHERTY, a junior, displayed talent and ability in handling the Campus Playcrafters during the 1937-1938 season. Stepping into a big task, Mr. Docherty has shown real aptitude in the many aspects of his work.

Surely the greatest talent to be found in any manager is his ability to cooperate and to elicit cooperation; Jimmy has acquired that art. His wide reading has made his judgment on the choice of plays excellent, his advertising technique has been effective, and his acting ability has enabled him to be seen constantly on the set.

THE CAST MAKES UP

"The Night of January 16th"

SETTING a fast pace for later productions of the 1937-1938 season, "The Night of January 16th" introduced several new angles in college presentation of drama. First among them was Ayn Rand's unquestionably clever technique in drawing her jury for the trial-drama from the audience. Original also was Miss Jones' idea of drawing such jurors as Mayor George A. Smitley, Comptroller Tom A. Swayze, Phillip Garland, William LeVeque, Mrs. Lock Rheil, and others of equal prominence.

Presented on the night of October 28, "The Night of January 16th" held an S. R. O. audience tensely expectant. Pronouncement of "not guilty" by the foreman of the jury drew sincere applause, yet objections from the audience-jury were proof of the remarkable characterization and sincere portrayal of each member of the cast. Handicapped by lack of action, the production shot high over its mark with the quick-lipped snarls and witty repartee among witnesses and attorneys, and its constant switch from edge-chair drama to uproarious comedy.

Four One Act Plays

"THE PRINCESS MARRIES A PAGE"

A FANTASY, carrying appeal to everyone, was "The Princess Marries a Page." That Edna St. Vincent Millay is the author indicates its personality as well as its excellence. Marjorie McGilvrey was student director.

"A WEDDING"

ALTHOUGH a farce, John Kirkpatrick's "A Wedding" must have been conceived in no merely farcical moment. A clever play, well cast, the play showed signs of unusual directing by Marcelle Jenson.

CAST
THE BRIDEGROOM - - - - Lyall Jamieson
THE BEST MAN - - - - James Docherty
THE GROOMSMAN - - - - James Arntson

PLAYING before 2,500 people in three performances, the Campus Playcrafters produced for a second time Channing Pollock’s religious drama, “The Fool.” Not only a tremendous success as a highly tense and serious drama, “The Fool” also presented to the audience the drama of Christianity, and so will be remembered. Chosen as the drama department’s contribution to the Golden Jubilee celebration, this play supplanted the customary winter and spring plays, and rivaled professional performances.

To mention Gordon Tuell (Daniel Gilchrist), or Marguerite Barry (Mary Margaret) as having taken the honors would show partial judgment, since all honors for the phenomenal success of “The Fool” must go equally to those in the cast.

A NINETEEN DAY TOUR of Eastern Washington, Oregon, and Idaho was the most extensive trip of the Adelphian year. Starting Friday, March 25, the chorus returned on April 13, with one of the most important events of the tour being a private concert presented for Governor Clarence D. Martin.

The other important trip of the year included northern Washington, which was visited for the first time by the Adelphians. This tour extended from January 25 to February 2.

Chi Pi Sigma

CHI PI SIGMA, national honorary chemistry fraternity, includes as members those students who are chemistry majors in good scholastic standing at the completion of fourteen hours of that subject. The club cooperated with the chemistry department in sponsoring the chemistry division of the science open house.

Officers for the local chapter during the past year were Melvyn Coffman, president; Stanley Marshall, vice-president; Robert Goettling, secretary; Weymar Rosso, treasurer; Professors Henry and McMillin, faculty advisers.

Pi GAMMA MU is a national social science honorary organization, membership in which is limited to students who maintain a B average in 20 hours of study in that field. During the past year the local group sponsored a round-table discussion on the Japanese-Chinese conflict as well as a meeting to organize the social studies instructors in the Tacoma Public Schools.

Officers were Marc Miller, president; Robert Russell, vice-president; and Barbara Beardsley, secretary.

Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Kappa Delta

THE Washington Alpha chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity, has had its largest number of active members this year, with twenty students helping to sponsor the High School Debate Tournament, and the Junior College Tournament.

Officers were Donald Roberts, president; Katharine McConron, vice-president; Dr. C. T. Battin, corresponding secretary; and Sara Louise Doub, secretary-treasurer.

EXCELLENCE in scholarship in the field of liberal arts qualifies students to become members of Mu Sigma Delta, local scholarship honorary. Juniors, seniors, and faculty members who meet these requirements are elected into the organization.

Officers are Dr. F. G. Williston, president; Mrs. Lyle Drushel, vice-president; Miss Doris Fickel, recording secretary; Walter Brown, corresponding secretary; Mr. Charles Robbins, treasurer.

Mu Sigma Delta
Otlah

OTLAH is an honorary organization for senior women who have maintained a high average in scholarship, who have participated in at least one major extra-curricular activity, and who exemplify womanly qualities.

Outstanding activities of the year were the annual Christmas tea honoring mothers of the college students, and the spring assembly to announce pledges.
THROUGH a broad progressive study of world political and social relations, the YWCA encourages a true Christian fellowship among the women students. Membership is open to all women of the college. To offer new students more occasion for service and for experience in college life, a special freshman commission has been created.

The local group is affiliated with the regional and the national YWCA organization.

ALL STAR TEAM

Five CPS men were chosen on the all-star aggregation at the end of the regular playing season. Those picked included: First team—Alex Schwetz, RH; Gordon Fielder, LH; Don Wofford, E; Frank Sulenes, T; and Wayne Neely, C. Second team selections were—Bud McFadden, E; and Bernard Remson, RH. Honorable mention went to Norm Mayer at the Guard position.

PUGET SOUND 0 vs. ENUMCLAW SILVER BARONS 6

In the opening tilt of the 1937 football schedule, the College of Puget Sound Loggers held a highly touted Silver Baron squad to a lone touchdown. The CPS line, one of the strongest to represent the college in several years, was composed of McFadden, Wofford, Piper, Sulenes, Neely, Mayer, and Bertholet, while the backfield was made up of Fielder, Perkins, Schwetz, and Remson.

PUGET SOUND 18 vs. COLLEGE OF IDAHO 0

Using the oddest formations, both on offense and defense, that have ever shown here at CPS, the College of Idaho was bowled over by a vastly superior Maroon and White team to the tune of 18 to 0. In the second quarter Coach Roy Sandberg jerked the varsity and the reserves took over to keep on an even pace with the Coyotes.
PUGET SOUND 20 vs. WHITMAN COLLEGE 6

This tussle, with the always hard to beat Missionaries from Walla Walla, proved to be the outstanding game of the year. Not since the Loggers went down in glorious defeat to the University of Washington in 1932, by a 14 to 6 score, had they played as brilliantly as they did against the heavier Whitman team. Two short shovel passes, Schwetz to Remson, caught the Borleske coached squad asleep and paved the way for two of the three Logger touchdowns counted in the game.

PUGET SOUND 26 vs. ALBANY COLLEGE 0

The Pirates from Albany were the next victims of the steadily improving Loggers. The Maroon and White aggregation marched through "the world's most consistent losers" almost at will and only costly fumbles kept the score as low as it actually was.

PUGET SOUND 0 vs. WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY 7

In what proved to be the first Conference defeat of the year for the team, the Loggers met the defending champions from Salem in a hard played, hard to lose game, and came out on the short end of a 7 to 0 score. Spec Keene's squad won its 16th straight Conference game in defeating the Maroon and White, CPS threatened to score several times before the final gun, but the powerful Bearcat line held with spectacular goal line stands.

PUGET SOUND 0 vs. PORTLAND UNIVERSITY 31

Although CPS was favored to take the Pilot game by two touchdowns, the loss of three regulars and two reserves from the team was largely responsible for the humiliating defeat dished out by the speedy Portland team. The game, which was played in the rain, found the Catholic school counting 5 touchdowns and a conversion before the final gun sounded.

PUGET SOUND 13 vs. PACIFIC UNIVERSITY 20

In the last game of the season, the Badgers from Pacific University defeated the Loggers by a single touchdown to capture second place in the Conference standings. Here as in the Willamette game, the lack of several starting men was apparent. This defeat left the Loggers in third place in the final standings with three wins and two defeats.

C. P. S. vs. PACIFIC UNIVERSITY
None of the Loggers were chosen on the all-star quintet; but Vaughn Stoffel, who captured second place in league scoring honors, was placed on the second team. Honorable mention was accorded Erling Tollefson.

With six returning lettermen on the squad, the outlook for basketball seemed to be extremely bright at the start of the casaba season. However, a few practice games soon showed that intensive drill on fundamentals would be necessary. This proved to be the case, for the first practice game of the season, the towering U.S.S. Maryland quintet defeated the Logger five by a score of 60 to 35, when the navy-men presented a formidable zone defense which they used to great advantage.

The Conference schedule opened in early December with a pair of games against the Albany Pirates. CPS lost the first tilt, 33 to 43, but won the second, 48 to 30.

The Bellingham Teachers were next on the list, and a near capacity crowd was out to see the Maroon and White capture the most thrilling game of the year from the Vikings. The Loggers were behind 16 to 29 at half time, but rallied to win 44 to 42.

Other high lights of the year included a last minute barrage of baskets against the Whitman Missionaries in the first tilt of a two-game series to give the Joey Mack coached quintet a 59 to 51 victory over the eventual Conference winners, and a last half offensive drive against the Coyotes of Idaho that netted a 59 to 48 win over the boys from Caldwell.

The team, after getting off to a good start in Conference games, bogged down on the road, to drop two tilts to Willamette, and two more to Pacific to fall to fifth place in the league standings.

Women's Athletic Association

This year the Women's Athletic Association was ably led by Betty Worden, President; Pomona Hudson, Vice President; Helen Rosensweig, Secretary; Lois Kuhl, Treasurer; Mary Jane Roberts, Publicity Chairman; Betty Schaad, Program Chairman; and Jean Hartman, Athletic Manager. Miss Marjorie Jenkins, Women's Athletic Instructor, was adviser for the group.

The Annual Sports Spree was held September 25, to introduce the sports program to Freshmen girls, with Betty Worden as chairman.

The Second Annual Sports Day held in February brought girls interested in athletics to the campus from six different colleges. Mary Louise Erickson was in charge.

As a contribution to the 50th Anniversary Celebration the Gym Jubilee was held March 8 under the direction of Ruth Jensen and Doris Granlund. The Jubilee this year featured the crowning of Helen Rosensweig as Queen with Ina Marie Sewright and Jane Anderson as her attendants.
