Tyro Tournament Draws Over 200 College Debaters

The twenty-fourth annual Tyro tournament, one of the few major forensics tournaments emphasizing junior competition, was held on campus Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The tournament was sponsored by the local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensics honorary, and by the CPS debate squad.

CPS was host to more than 200 debaters from 19 Washington and Oregon colleges. The tournament had a slightly smaller attendance than last year's debate manager John Keliher said. Competing for CPS were Chuck Commeau and Dick Fritts, George Cagni, Frank Russell, Oddvar Myhre, Leroy Hintz, and Carol Grabner.

Pacific Lutheran college won the sweepstakes with the University of Oregon running a close second. PLC won seven events, and Oregon won eight, but point value put PLC ahead.

A large gold trophy designates the sweepstakes honor. Representing a man throwing a bull, it was designed by Dr. Charles T. Battin, forensics coach, and is unique among tournament trophies.

Working on the tournament were John Sherwood, tournament director; John Keliher, forensics manager; Frank Johnson, former forensics manager; Winifred Hertzog; Katharine Hoffman, Betty Delo, Elaine Klein, Marsha Oldsbach, James Sims, and Jackie Carmichael, who placed second in Junior Women's oratory. Dr. Mahaffey of Linfield college assisted Dr. Charles Battin in the over all management of the tournament.

Central Board Requests Trail Editorial Policy Clarification

Central Board's only action Wednesday evening—aside from having Tamanawas photos taken—was to direct a publications committee inquiry into the "editorial and general policies of the Trail."

Maker of the motion, Sophomore Representative Larry Baker, emphasized his confidence in the judgment of Editor Al Gunns, and stressed the report would be for Central Board's use only.

Chairman of the publications committee, which is to report back to Central Board, is Senior Representative Aulani Rutherford. Other members are Gunns, Tamanawas Editor Mary Ann Rolfson, Second Vice President Bob McGill, and Junior Representative Marlene Buck.

Last year's dispute between the student government and the college administration over adding the swim pool fee to the ASCPS fee flared up again at the previous week's Central Board meeting.

The administration added the $2.50 swim pool fee to the ASCPS fee during summer of 1956 without Central Board's approval. Central Board bitterly protested this as "unconstitutional." In the fall the college agreed to itemize all fees then listed as ASCPS fees.

Informed that the college had lumped the fee under a single heading on the spring semester statements of fees, the student legislators voted Wednesday to recommend that "the ASCPS fee and insurance fee be itemized separately."

In other action, the board approved a finance committee plan of placing an identifying mark on ASCPS cards for married students. The mark will permit husbands or wives of students to be admitted to activities and athletic contests at student prices.

Approving three other finance committee motions, the board (1) allowed Women's Athletic association to spend up to $200 of its unappropriated balance to co-sponsor a water show with Stadium high school April 18 and 19; (2) added $20 to the buck bank fund, and (3) earmarked "enough money" to fly First Veep John Damatio and Second Veep Bob McGill to the Evergreen conference Student association winter meeting, held Friday and Saturday at Gonzaga university in Spokane.

Student Christian council reported it had approved the formation of a Newman club, fellowship group for Catholic students, provided the faculty spiritual life committee approves.

Ken Marsolais, director of "Get Happy," the 1957 Varsity Show, reported the show had cost $531.25, showing a deficit of $60.60.

AWS Tolo Rescheduled For Feb. 28 Date

The tolo sponsored by the Associated Women Students of CPS has been moved from its originally scheduled Saturday date to Feb. 28, Jeannie Bulatao, AWS president, announced Friday.

The dance will be held from 9 to 12 p.m. in the women's gym. Decorations will follow the theme "Prelude to Spring." Cotton and sport clothes are in order, it was announced.

Tickets will be on sale for $1.25 a couple in the SUB during noon-time, starting Monday. They will also be available at the door.

The student body will choose the king for the tolo Tuesday in convocation. Candidates are Dave Zaske, Independents; Dick Pruitt, Kappa Sigma; Wes Miller, Phi Delta Theta; Scott Strode, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Murray Johnstone, Sigma Chi; Ken Carter, Sigma Nu, and Wayne Carter, Theta Chi.

$15 REWARD FOR IDENTITY OF VANDALS OFFERED—BANKS

The administration of the college offers a standing reward of $15 for information leading to the discovery of the identity of the vandals who have been breaking the windows in the bus shelter on campus, Bursar Gerard Banks announced.

He said that any such information should be given to him, and it will be kept in confidence.

RE Program Main Speaker Mayor Taft to Arrive Sunday

"If Christianity is a world religion, it ought to give us a realistic philosophy of living, a way of life — and I mean life in an office or factory or store from Monday to Saturday, not just a mushy sentimental perfectionism for Sunday." Thus spoke Charles P. Taft as he addressed a convention of the Church Society for College Work in 1940. Today that speech and other addresses on religion and politics are collected in Taft's book, "Why I Am for the Church."

Taft will arrive on the CPS campus Sunday as main speaker for the third Religious Emphasis program with the theme of "Religion in Life . . . Participation." During his three-day stay, the famous statesman, author and speaker will spend much of his time speaking and leading discussions on the relationship between religion and vocations. The RE program is designed to present challenges and insights to the college student concerned with the application of religion in everyday life, and especially in life work.

Taft, presently the mayor of Cincinnati, is a son of the late

William H. Taft, 27th president of the United States. He was a Republican candidate for the governorship of Ohio in 1952, and recently declared his intention to run again in the coming election.

Before being admitted to the Ohio bar in 1922, Taft received his BA degree from Yale and later his LL.B. He received the doctor of law degree in 1934 after studying at the University of Toledo, Miami university and the Ohio Wesleyan university.

Taft served as an army officer in France during World War I. During the second world war he was with the state department in several key positions of leadership, one of which was the directorship of Wartime Economic Affairs in 1944. Among his other capacities, he was prosecuting attorney for Ohio's Hamilton county for five years.

An active church worker, Taft is a member of the Protestant Episcopal church, and has served on both national and World Councils of Churches.

In addition to "Why I Am for the Church," Taft is the author of "City Management — the Cincinnati Experiment," "You and I — and Roosevelt," and "Democracy in Politics and Economics."

Chairman of Young GOP's to See Students

The national chairman of the Young Republicans political organization, John Ashbrook, of Washington, D. C., will be in Tacoma Wednesday, Tom Swayze, Washington state chairman of young Republican groups, announced Sunday.

During his stay at the Winthrop hotel, Ashbrook will confer with students interested in forming a CPS Young Republican club. He will also be available for political discussion.

His room number will be posted in the hotel's lobby.

Enrollment Drops; 1900 Now Registered

Approximately 1,900 day and night students are enrolled at CPS for the spring semester, the registrar's office announced recently.

The spring enrollment total falls slightly short of last semester's total of 2,193 enrollees, it was reported.

Day students for the spring semester number about 1,550 and night students number about 360.

Greene's 1957 Brown and Haley Lectures in Print — To Be Ready Soon

"Moral, Aesthetic and Religious Insight" was the title given to the publication of the 1957 Brown and Haley lectures. Dr. Theodore Meyer Greene, who is at present teaching philosophy at Scripps college, delivered the series of three-day lectures in April of 1957.

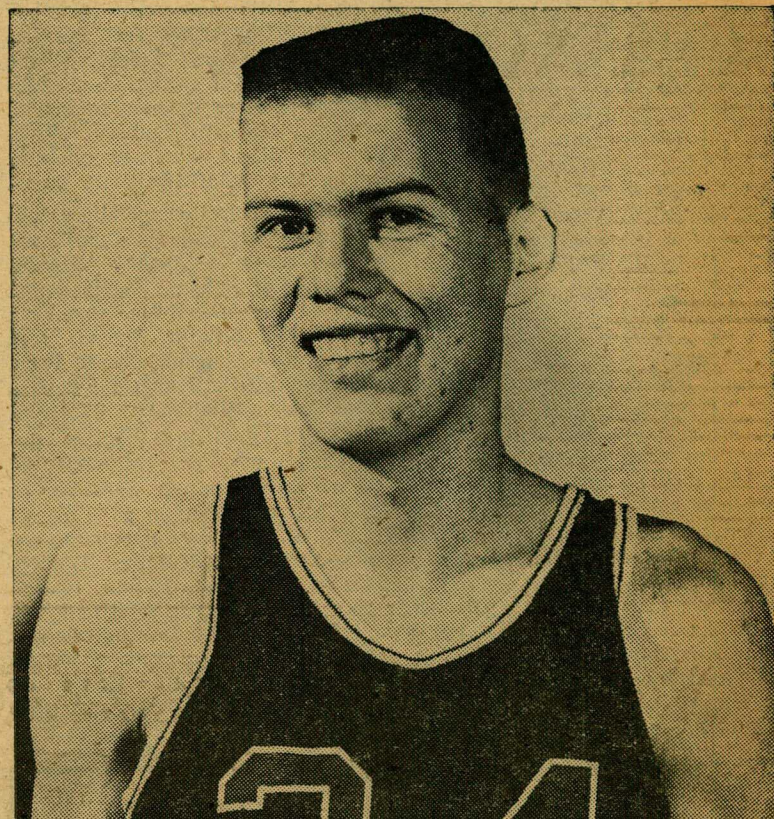

The 1957 Brown and Haley lectures were the fifth in a series given annually at CPS.

They are given each year by some scholar distinguished for his work in Social Studies or the Humanities.

The purpose of these lectures, which are sponsored by the Brown and Haley candy company, is to present an original analysis of some intellectual problems confronting the present age. The book published in 1957 by the Rutgers University Press will be available in the near future at $2.75.

The four lecturers prior to Dr. Greene were Harry Shapiro, John Galbraith, Merle Curti and Kent Roberts.

SECOND in the Evergreen scoring race is Don Moseid, senior guard for the CPS Loggers. Moseid scored 33 points Friday night to lead the Loggers to a 84-75 victory over Whitworth. Chuck Curtis of PLC is in first place among the conference scorers.

change needed . . .

As a story appearing on page one of this issue indicates, ASCPS election time is drawing near. Petitions for office-seekers will be available in the student body offices starting this week.

Incongruously tacked on to the 11 Central Board positions open is the race for May Queen. Why should candidates chosen solely for pulchritude be placed on the same ballot with aspirant student legislators? Should Miss America run on the same ticket with President Eisenhower?

Electing a one-shot May Queen along with student body officers seems somehow to violate the spirit of elective government, even if it is expedient. The ASCPS constitution, in its election provisions, puts the May Queen on a par with many, and above other, elective officers.

The Trail feels that the May Queen could and should be the responsibility of the newly-formed Spring Carnival committee. Queen nominations could be submitted to this committee and voted upon in convocation, as other all-school queen candidates are.

In any event, the slumbering judiciary committee should consider this change during its annual constitution review when it comes out of hibernation this spring.

From Bad to WIRSING

By D. ROBERT WIRSING

If the reader detects more incoherence than usual in this week's column, he's right. Besides, I've been in too good a mood lately to get very mad at anyone.

About this week's organization all I will say is: if the proverbial shoe fits, wear it.

The multitudinous and Ubiquitous Society of Supreme Egotists.
Motto: "I am a magnificent human being."

Apparently someone decided the flickering flame of knowledge wasn't enough to illuminate the classrooms in the hallowed hall of Jones. At any rate, the newly installed lights are a decided improvement.

In answer to a recent charge that I'm not ethical, it just isn't true. I'm as ethical as a Methodist hymnal when people have a chance to get even.

The Toggery ad in the Feb. 4 Trail, my friends tell me, carried the line "open every night until Christmas." Oh, well, at least someone reads the Trail ads.

Minority Report Department:

Some of the people who continually complain about the CPS parking problem (parking space problem, that is) would be much less vocal if they could see the traffic jams on other campuses. Or is the plural campi?

Anyway, Williamette university and Lewis and Clark college down Oregon way have a solution which, now that I'm a senior, I wholeheartedly endorse. They reserve parking space for faculty members and seniors.

Those who fear the coming age of robots can take comfort in the thought that the IBM machine in the registrar's office had a nervous breakdown while processing grades.

Somebody Tell Me Department:

When we'll get to see another movie in convocation on the chemical process of dyestuff manufacturing? I'm waiting — with closed eyelids.

Why KXA has to go off the air at sundown?

When a CPS dance is going to show a profit? The Beaux Arts ball lost money. The Veterans' "Mad Ball" lost money. If, like Pacific Lutheran college, we banned dancing our clubs could save a lot of money.

Harris Wins Coveted Zellerbach Award

1957 winner of the $600 Crown Zellerbach scholarship is Steve Harris, junior history-English major from Tacoma, the college has announced.

Authorized in 1953, the annual grant totals $1,000 with $400 going to the college and $600 to the student.

The Crown Zellerbach Foundation presents the scholarships to "encourage and assist the completion of undergraduate education of a student whose character, ability and fields of study indicate that he will make a contribution toward industrial and social progress in the Pacific coast area."

A student in the third or fourth year whose major is in physical or social science may qualify. Grants are made without reference to race, color, creed or sex, but recipients must be U. S. citizens.

U. S. in Baghdad Pact

by don white

The Iranian ambassador to the United Nations told a Tacoma World Affairs Council audience last night the U. S. foreign aid program "actually puts a premium on anti-Americanism."

Abdul Hossein Hamzavi, second-ranking Iranian diplomat in have turned to college again. this country, pointed up the complacent attitude taken by the U.S. toward staunch allies while pouring millions of dollars out to "negative neutrals." The ambassador warned the U.S. against taking those nations which have already pledged their support to the West "too much for granted."

Certainly Mr. Hamzavi provided his listeners with food for thought. It is a sometimes forgotten fact that leaders of even such pro-Western nations as Iran must still show their people that the country's alignment with the West is to that country's advantage. Mr. Hamzavi helped spearhead the drive for Iranian membership in the Baghdad pact. "There were some," he commented, "that opposed our country joining the pact because they feared America just wanted to use us and would ignore us after she (America) got what she desired. Many times it has appeared they were right and I was wrong."

"We have 1,000 miles of continuous border with Russia and yet we chose to throw in with the U. S. 13,000 miles away. The foundation and roots of this true friendship must be cemented before any real effort toward peace can be fully effective," he said.

In a subtle and gracious manner the speaker pleaded for reassurances by the West for her allies in the Middle East. As for Iran he maintained his country's confidence could be bolstered by (1) increased economic and technical aid (possibly the establishment of an American university in Iran). (2) increased arms aid, and (3) U. S. membership in the Baghdad pact.

One could not help but come away wondering if possibly the time is ripe for U. S. membership in the pact. Even now we sit in on the four major committees and lend moral, as well as economic and military support to it. Certainly when the advantages of becoming a full-fledged member outweigh the disadvantages it is only reasonable we should take that step. Possibly cementing to a greater degree the stolid affinity we enjoy mutually with the Baghdad peoples—120 million strong—would tip the scale toward U. S. membership. Mr. Hamzavi of course thinks so . . . and I'm inclined to agree.

Battin Reaches Finals In City Council Race

Dr. Charles Battin, CPS economics professor and vice mayor of Tacoma, moved into the finals of Tacoma's city council race by placing sixth out of 29 candidates in last Tuesday's primary election.

Political Science Department Head Dr. Hugh J. Tudor ranked 15th in the 29-candidate field.

The field of eight finalists will be narrowed to four in the March 11 final elections.

The LUCKY LOGGER

By FLOYD FESSLER

Despite recent losses to British Columbia and Western Washington, CPS still stands a chance of getting a place in the NAIA district playoffs. If the Loggers whip Eastern Washington Thursday night and put up a good showing against the strong Central Washington five Saturday night, they might very well be picked as the second representative from Western Washington in the tournament. PLC has already been given a place in the tournament.

CPS split games with Western, the only other possible choice, before losing to them by one point Saturday, and has a better overall record than the Vikings.

The winner of the game between PLC and the unnamed opponent will vie with the winner of the game between the two top schools east of the mountains (generally conceded to be Central Washington and Gonzaga), for the right to go to Kansas City.

* * * * *

Even if CPS fails to get in the playoffs, they still can find solace in a marked improvement against PLC during the season.

In a game played at PLC in December the Maroon and Whites were a victim of a disastrous 87-47 count. The next game, held in January on the CPS maples, saw the Loggers play much improved ball and hold the Lutes even through most of the first half before losing 50-54.

The last game between the two cross-town rivals was played last Wednesday at PLC. The Heinrickmen got off to a poor start and slipped to a 20 point deficit before closing ground and losing by 71-0. The game was marked by sloppy ball-handling by both teams, and had CPS been on their game, they might have pulled a major upset. On the other hand, PLC has made winning a habit (24 conference victories in a row) and has the manpower to come through when the occasion calls for it.

* * * * *

The Loggers will take to the road for their final conference games. Thursday night Eastern Washington will play host to the Maroon and Whites in Cheney. Saturday night CPS will be in Ellensburg for the season's finale against Central Washington.

The Loggers were victorious over the Eastern quintet Jan. 10, by a tally of 76-66. Eastern is definitely not one of the conference leaders and we think the Puget Sounders will be able to handle them.

Saturday, however, will no doubt prove to be a different story. Central has a very strong squad this year and has been fighting PLC for the top spot all season long. We doubt if the Loggers will be able to cope with the Wildcat five. Don't rule CPS out completely, however. Central has already cinched one of the NAIA district playoff spots and may be thinking ahead to the playoffs when they face the Heinrickmen Saturday night. If they relax too much the Loggers could pull a surprise, although we don't think it will happen.

Undermanned CPS Mermen Suffer 70-15 Loss to Huskies

Despite the loss of five swimmers and divers because of scholastic ineligibility this week, the CPS swimmers made their best individual showings of the year in losing to the University of Washington, 70 to 15 Wednesday. With only six swimmers left from the original team, the Loggers managed to have entries in all events except diving.

Outstanding for CPS was Jack Snavely who upset the Husky printers in the 100-yard freestyle winning in the fine time of :55.9, which is almost two seconds faster than the present Evergreen conference record for that event. He placed second in the 220 and 440 freestyle events.

Kimo Streeter swam the 200 butterfly almost six seconds faster than his previous best time in making third. Vic Holme placed third in the 200 breaststroke, and Wendy Clore took third in the 50 freestyle.

In the 400-yard medley relay which included the backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly, and freestyle, Bob Harris swam the backstroke leg for the first time, with Clore as anchor man. Although outclassed by the strong Huskies, the CPS time of 5:02.2 was only two-tenths of a second off the Evergreen conference record for this event.

Glen Kerrick swam his best 220 freestyle in taking third, and swam a leg of the 400 yard medley.

In the UW pool CPS varsity records were set in the 400 yard medley, 220 yard freestyle, 200 yard butterfly, and 100 yard butterfly.

Meet results:

1. 400 medley relay won by UW (Griffith, Tauscher, Thornton, Lindsay) 4:22.0.
2. 220 freestyle. 1. Bundy (W) 2. Snavely (CPS) 3. Ruckman (W) 2:15.2.
3. 50 freestyle 1. Dutcher (W) 2. Humphries (W) 3. Clore (CPS) 26.0.
4. 3-meter diving 1. Ward (W) 2. Diaz (W) 210.2 pts.
5. 200 butterfly 1. Tauscher (W) 2. Lindsay (W) 3. Streeter (CPS).
6. 100 freestyle 1. Snavely (CPS) 2. Gage (W) 3. Dutcher (W) :55.9.
7. 200 backstroke 1. Cramer (W) 2. Griffith (W) 3. Kerrick (CPS) 2:22.5.
8. 440 freestyle 1. Ruckman (W) 2. Snavely (CPS) 3. Mines (W) 5:33.2.
9. 200 breaststroke 1. McMahon (W) 2. Jack (W) 3. Holme (CPS) 2:37.1.
10. Freestyle relay, won by UW (Lawson, Gage, Call, Humphries) 3:53.4; second, CPS (Clore, Kerrick, Streeter, Harris).

Professional Footballers Enroll Here

With several seasons of professional football to their credit, Sam Baker and LaVern Torgeson have returned to college again.

Realizing their gridiron careers will not last forever, they are now enrolled in courses at CPS. They hope to go into teaching and coaching careers.

Baker is the Washington Redskins' kicking specialist. Last season he tied with Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns for the National Football League scoring title. Torgeson, also of the Redskins, was the team's defensive captain.

Loggers Lose to PLC 71-60; Outlast Whitworth 84-75

The Pacific Lutheran college Gladiators downed the fighting CPS Loggers 71-60 last Wednesday at PLC.

The Gladiators jumped into an 11-1 lead in the first three and one-half minutes of play and held a 23-9 lead midway through the first half.

With 14 minutes remaining in the game the Loggers picked up seven straight points to cut the difference to 52-35 but the Lutherans pulled away again. With three minutes remaining CPS made another drive, but time ran out for the Loggers.

Tom Names finished the game with 14 points to take scoring honors for the Maroon and White and Don Moseid finished with 13 points although he had to leave the game early in the second half after a knee injury he picked up earlier in the week began to bother him.

Chuck Curtis with 17 points, and Roger Iverson with 16 points were high scorers for PLC.

Sparked by Moseid's 33 points, the CPS Loggers were victorious over the Whitworth Pirates last Saturday night, downing the last-place club 84-75 on the Loggers' home maples.

In the first eight minutes of the contest the lead changed hands eight times. The Puget Sound forces then went ahead to stay 16-14 and by half-time had a 15-32 advantage.

After the first two minutes of the second half, the Pirates began to roll. In 11 minutes, Whitworth outscored the Tacoma cagers 28-11 and cut the difference to three points at 67-64 with seven minutes remaining.

Names then managed to collect three free throws and Chet Clark scored a field goal to give the Loggers a 72-64 lead. Whitworth twice more cut the Logger lead to five points but Chet Clark's three field goals in the final five minutes proved to be too much for the Whitworth forces.

Moseid collected 33 points on 12 field goals and nine free throws to take scoring honors for the evening. Running second was Tom Names with 19 points. For the losers it was Jack Alligina with 22 points.

High School Swim Meet in CPS Pool

High school Capital league swimming and diving championships will be held in the CPS pool Saturday, Don Duncan, pool manager, announces. Schools competing are Lincoln, Stadium, Olympia and Aberdeen.

The meet takes on special significance this year with two high school All-American swimmers going against each other in the same event.

Jeff Mattson, Olympia high school star last year became the first Washington swimmer to break one minute for the 100-yard backstroke. He has swum the distance in :58.4 seconds, which is only two-tenths of a second away from the national high school record.

Mattson holds the national Canadian record for the 100-meter backstroke.

Gary Chase of Aberdeen, who is also competing in the backstroke event, has been named to the 1957 all-American team and has swum the distance in near-record time.

CPS Ski Day Saturday Will Feature Ski King's Crowning

Skiing, races, and fun in the snow are in store for CPS students Saturday at the annual all-campus ski day. The event, which is sponsored by the Chinooks, the campus outdoor activities club, will be held at Cayuse pass. Featured events of the day will be crowning of this year's ski king and the intramural ski races.

Teams participating in the races will represent the Independents, the Vets club and possibly the ROTC cadet corps. Two prizes will be awarded to the two individual skiers who finish with the best times for the race.

Boys interested in helping set the course are urged to contact Dr. Robert Sprenger for more details. Students interested in working as gatekeepers for the race should contact either Dr. Sprenger or Karla Marchant, Chinook president.

The races will begin at 12 noon. Coronation of the ski king will take place just before the races. Candidates from whom he will be chosen in all school elections are: Independents Bob Dunbar, Sigma Nu John Wilson, Kappa Sigma Jim Driskell, SAE Doug Whitaker, Phi Delta Theta Tom Beard, Theta Chi Dick LaPlant, and Sigma Chi Rich Pettibone. The Vets club and Kappa Sig candidates haven't been selected yet.

Cayuse pass may be reached by following U. S. highway 410 out of Tacoma. Students needing transportation are asked to sign one of the lists on the SUB bulletin board or on the Chinook board in the basement of Jones hall. If students driving their own cars desire to take others with them there will be lists for them to sign also, Miss Marchant said.

Simonson Gets Ph. D Degree

Harold P. Simonson, CPS assistant professor of English, has been awarded the Ph. D. degree by Northwestern university for his work in American Literature.

A CPS alumnus, Dr. Simonson received his A.B. in 1950 and the Bachelor of Education degree in 1951. He won his A.M. at Northwestern the same year, and served as Fulbright Teacher in English at Thessalonika, Greece in 1954, and as assistant in English at Northwestern the following year.

Dr. Simonson returned to CPS as an instructor in 1955, and became assistant professor this year, teaching the advanced sections of freshman composition, as well as upper-level courses in

Oratorio to Be Wednesday Presentation

"Judas Maccabeus," a dramatic oratorio by Handel, will receive the season's first public performance Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Tacoma's First Congregational church auditorium.

A capacity audience composed of Tacoma church members received it enthusiastically at a private performance Sunday evening, and expressed their approval by a standing ovation. Given in honor of National Brotherhood week, the oratorio, a Biblical, opera-like composition, takes its theme from the exploits of Judas Maccabeus, a second century B. C. Jewish patriot, who led his countrymen in a revolt against foreign domination.

Melvin Sipe, CPS music professor, will direct a 26-piece orchestra and about 60 local singers, representing the combined church choirs of Temple Beth Israel Immanuel Presbyterian, and First Congregational churches.

Soloists are Mrs. Elaine Sipe, soprano; Margaret Myles, contralto; Harry Aldrich, tenor; and James Elliot, bass.

The performance is complimentary to the public.

Swayze Heads Nat'l

Methodist Commission

Mrs. Thomas A. Swayze, CPS dean of women, was recently elected vice chairman of the Methodist church's commission to study the denomination's jurisdictional administrative structure at a meeting held in Washington, D. C.

Composed of clergymen, laymen and women, the 70-member commission is making a survey of the "strengths and weaknesses" of the church's regional organizations incorporated in five geographical jurisdictions and one all-Negro unit.

The study group's findings and recommendations will be reported at the 1960 general conference, the church's top legislative and policy-making body.

Councilman Perdue Attends CPS Classes

Tacoma city councilman Paul Perdue has registered for spring semester courses at CPS, it was learned through the registrar's office.

Perdue is seeking a Bachelor of Education degree as a full-time day student. In addition to his serving on the city council, Perdue is a Tacoma business man. The councilman's position was not at stake in the recent city elections.

Seen and Reviewed

By KAY HOFFMAN

I was recently given a copy of the "hit" novel, "Peyton Place," by Grace Metalious. This top-selling book epitomizes, to my mind, the current downward trend in fiction. In order that this kind of work should sell, it seems, the author or authoress must follow one invariable recipe:

"Prepare loose, lumpy plot. Garnish liberally with sensational sex. Top with generous dabs of doubtful philosophy. Before broiling under a high element of public approval, wrap tightly in several layers of juicy expose. This will not detract from the flavor and is guaranteed to keep royalties from evaporating. Serves almost everyone."

The majority of readers require nothing more than these ingredients to make a tasty dish. Such trash appears to give its followers a sense of guilty excitement. It is something to be caught reading if one can possibly manage it.

There is nothing in "Peyton Place" that should merit acclaim, nothing worth five hundred pages of print, and little or no honest-to-God writing ability above the "Bartered Blonde" level. The standards for good literary entertainment have fallen to a very low degree when nothing above the definite rhythm of jungle taboos is demanded in popular writing.

It is regrettable that the general good-or-bad perspectives have been lost, for a time, in this creative era.
