Peace Corps Selects UPS Student, Wife

"We're thrilled for the opportunity to further our education by direct contact with a foreign people and land. It offers us a chance to learn while serving our country," said Mrs. David Smith, UPS alum, and recent appointee to the Peace Corps.

David Smith, UPS senior, and his wife Carol, after seven months of waiting, learned that the Peace Corps will be sending them to Liberia, Africa, to teach elementary education in the rural areas.

The Smiths applied for Peace Corps work last September and in April received a telegram from R. Sargent Shriver, informing them of their appointment. They leave July 10 for two months of intensive study to learn the language, history of Liberia, and the teaching methods applicable there. A month of physical training follows in Puerto Rico. In October, the Smiths will have one week's leave to return to Tacoma and bid friends and relatives farewell for two years.

In Liberia, they will be working primarily in the elementary education field, but will also participate in a teaching institute to prepare native teachers for independent instruction. The Smiths' housing there will be comparable to that of the natives' — "probably wooden houses with tin roofs," commented Mrs. Smith.

"Peace Corps work is excellent experience if one plans to enter the foreign service field after serving," said Smith.

UPS students may obtain a free ticket by presenting their activity cards.

UPS Alums Meet in New York, Attend Adelphian Concert

About 150 New York UPS alums turned up for alumni club organization meeting in New York City, May 1. Dr. R. Franklin Thompson spoke at the meeting, and Robert Carlisle was chairman of the event.

After the dinner the alums were guests at the university concert given by the Adelphian Concert Choir in Town Hall. This concert was the first given by the Adelphians since their return from the British Isles.

Dr. Thompson returned to Tacoma Thursday and the Adelphians returned Saturday after following two final concert appearances in Toronto and Simcoe, Ont.

Dorms Ready By September, Says Curran

"The dorms are moving along to what is expected," said Mrs. Mary Curran, Director of Women's Affairs, "and will easily reach the September 1 completion date." This was the comment made by Mrs. Curran when questioned on the progress of the new girls' dormitories now being constructed.

Mrs. Curran was also pleased with the plastering that is now being completed and the size of the rooms which is larger than was expected. "The dorms are looking real exciting," was Mrs. Curran's final comment.

Housing in the new dorms will be open to both non-affiliated girls and sorority girls. Dorm cards were issued last week for resident requests.

As far as sorority housing is concerned, Mrs. Curran gave these following accommodations: Alpha Phi, Tenzler Hall; Pi Beta Phi and Delta Delta Delta, new dorm next to Harrington; and Chi Omega and Gamma Phi Beta, new dorm next to Tenzler.

Kappa Alpha Theta, due to be on campus next year, will reside in Anderson Hall. The sorority girls will have their own section of the dorm with eight girls residing in each room.

Lounge furniture and desk chairs are now being purchased for the dorms.

May Weekend Promises Activity

By Lori Shaw

This Friday and Saturday the UPS campus will let down its hair for the many activities of an annual occasion which bears the deceptively mild name of Spring Weekend. Our hallowed halls will be overrun with high school seniors who are sizing us up and UPS students who are bent on making a lasting and even good impression.

These masses will be entertained by the many activities which have been planned with the intent of providing a good time for all. Among the goodies will be a twist marathon in front of the fieldhouse the night of the carnival. All those who are interested and feel up to the occasion may enter.

The weekend will get off to a start Friday, from 2 to 5 p.m., with the Jerry Sun quintet performing in the Student Center. Later that evening in the fieldhouse will be the coronation of the May Queen, which will take place at 7. A songfest will be held at 7:30, and a dance will follow this, probably starting at 10 and ending at midnight.

Saturday morning will be devoted to making the fieldhouse ready for the carnival. At noon there will be a free picnic lunch in the Student Center and the class skits will be done then.

Class competition will be held from 2 to 4, on the Women's field, and from 4 to 6 the social groups will hold open house. That evening from 7 to 12 will be the carnival, complete with frog jumping contest, pie-eating contest, and the crowning of the Ugly Man.

Adelphians Return From European Tour

"The audiences were responsive, warm and big"; "The houses were packed and people often followed the choir from town to town"; "It was an education in more ways than one." These were only a few of the comments made by personnel of the Adelphian Concert Choir upon returning from their tour of Europe Saturday.

Dr. J. Bruce Rodgers, Director of the Adelphians, was more than pleased by the reactions of the audiences in the British Isles. He said, "It was more than a musical experience; it was an emotional outpour between the Adelphians and the audiences. It far more exceeded anything I thought it would — musically as well as emotionally."

"The British people followed the Adelphians from town to town to hear them sing. Tears of joy and emotions were often exchanged between the choir and the audiences," said Dr. Rodgers.

While on tour, one of the Adelphian members, Dave Lukens, wrote back to the University to say, "Our tour is going just great and last night at our concert in Belfast they gave us a stomping ovation, which is the highest respect they can pay." He also commented on the tour by saying, "I have seen a lot of country and met some very terrific people."

Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, choir mother for the Adelphians, made many comments on the hospitality shown them by the British and all the people they met on the tour. One of the more heart warming occasions came when a Methodist Youth Fellowship organization in Wolverhampton, England, gave the Adelphians a party. "They mixed easily and had a wonderful time," said Mrs. Patterson.

"The kids behaved themselves beautifully and while shopping in one of the cities," said Mrs. Patterson, "I commented that I was with the tour and the clerk remarked on the excellent conduct of the kids in the stores. So, it was also a good will tour as well as a concert tour."

The highlight that was most rewarding to Mrs. Patterson was "staying in the British homes, meeting the families, and seeing how they lived."

Commenting on the choir, Mrs. Patterson felt that the "kids sang beautifully and far outdid themselves. Everyone got along fine and adjusted to the customs very well."

Dr. Rodgers also told of an experience, this time in Longtown, England. When the Adelphians began to board the bus to leave the town, the town's people gathered around, tears in their eyes, and clasped hands and began singing "Auld Lang Syne."

"In many towns," commented Dr. Rodgers, "the kids would leave the stage and end up singing in another room."

Dr. Rodgers and Mrs. Patterson both were pleased with the reviews they received by the critics in New York and the British Isles.

In Dr. Rodgers' hometown of Simcoe, Ontario, Canada, they were received warmly with welcome signs all over town.

For one of the members of the tour, Roberta Whinery, the excitement didn't just stop at the tour, however. For while she was on her way back to Tacoma, Sigma Nu Fraternity crowned her as their White Rose Queen at their formal in Seattle.

Final Faculty Concert Set For Sunday

Mrs. Virginia Taylor, concert mistress for the Tacoma-UPS Symphony Orchestra, will be featured with UPS faculty members in the final faculty concert of the season said Raymond L. Wheeler of the music department. The Chamber Music Concert will be Sunday at 4 p.m. in the recital hall of the music building and is complimentary to the public.

Faculty members performing traditional and contemporary compositions will be Raymond L. Wheeler, clarinetist; Alma Oncley, pianist; and a UPS student, True Sackrison, cellist, said Wheeler. The trio will play selections from Brahms, Beethoven and Juon. Paul Juon was born in Moscow and received his training in Berlin during the early 1900's, Wheeler said.

Performing in the Hindemith quartet, guest violinist, Mrs. Taylor, will join the faculty members, added Wheeler.

Positions on Committees Open, Says Bush

This week applicants for ASB committee heads will be interviewed by the ASB executive council and this year's committee heads, said Charlie Bush, ASB first vice-president.

The committees are: Homecoming, Daffodil Float, Artist and Lecture Series, Campus Film Review, and Spring Carnival.

Sign-up sheets for committee members will be posted in the Student Center this week. Interviews for these posts will be held next week. "By the end of the year, the ASB executive council hopes to announce all committee heads and members," stated Bush.

Dear Mr. Editor:

May I protest the tone of Mr. Brooks' announcement of the forthcoming issue of Cross Currents? That past editions of this publication consisted of English Department "garbage," I doubt. Mr. Brooks' own contributions attest to that. The truth is that if Prof. Simonson and Mrs. Wagner hadn't, at considerable self-sacrifice, helped to organize Cross Currents, student initiative would have produced nothing.

I am pleased to see all that is to be changed; but is ungratefulness the only springboard for progress?

Macbeth Play Presented by Playcrafters

By ANN DRIVER

William Shakespeare's timeless tragedy Macbeth was presented last Friday and Saturday by the Campus Playcrafters.

The play deals with the deterioration of the soul due to too much ambition. It is Macbeth who, under the influence of his wife's desire for power, is eventually killed defending a title he comes to doubt.

Because Shakespeare originally wrote Macbeth to entertain King James II who had an avid interest in mysticism, technical devices such as ghosts and witches were used to carry the theme of the story. In the UPS production, even though the witches were effectively played, staging in other areas tended to hinder the audience's appreciation of this historical work.

The basic problem was in the lack of blackouts during scene changing. Strange it was indeed to see the Thane of Glamis sitting on his throne one minute and carrying it off stage the next, completely out of character.

Originally, the play was produced in five acts with numerous scenes. In the UPS cut-down version, two lengthy acts added to the tedium of the players' droning lines. Fortunately the abridgers of the play chose to include the three potentially great speeches in the play. Two of these went to Macbeth, played by Joe Mathews; the other to Claudia Carr, on stage Lady Macbeth.

This deathless English masterpiece again proved its lasting significance by the keen competition for parts and by the large audience and its applause.

Wheeler Acts as Guest Conductor

Raymond L. Wheeler, of the music department, traveled to Coos Bay, Ore., last weekend to serve as adjudicator for the West Central Oregon Band Concert.

While there, Wheeler also served as guest conductor of the winning band, and as judge of a marching band parade. He also performed as clarinet soloist with the honored band.

Oriental Poetry Lecture Recital

Students in Jack Kingsley's oral interpretation classes will present a second lecture recital based on the many facets of Oriental Poetry next Wednesday, May 16, at 3:00 p.m. in Jones Hall. The performance is complimentary to the public.

★ LETTERS to the EDITOR ★

Dear Mrs. Knutson:

After reading your article on the student art exhibit, in the May 1 issue of the Trail, I was moved to inquire — what qualifications do you possess that entitle you to judge such works?

Since both Mr. Chappell and the students working under him, such as Greg Hawkins, Mike Tetherow, and Dale Applequist, have independent reputations, it is quite insulting to imply that these students mimic Chappell.

Furthermore, your comments are incorrect. Any experienced art critic or even an interested student such as myself can see that Applequist and Tetherow have obviously different styles. As for Hawkins, he has won honors in an all-northwest exhibition for his work — certainly such awards are not reserved for mere mimics.

In your comments about such things as "the lack of balance," "wicked red," etc., you betrayed your lack of knowledge of some of an artist's most useful techniques — emotional colors, sharp contrast. Finally you have made the mistake of making judgement without qualifying them as "it seems to me."

If in the future, you must pick out individual students for comment, it might be wiser to describe rather than judge their work.

PETER G. BRUCKNER

Dear Mr. Bruckner:

My apologies, sir, for having offended the artistic sensitivities of an interested student such as yourself. I am delighted, however, that my critical effort has brought an interested response, and one that certainly requires an answer.

Regarding my qualifications as art editor: I am an art minor (transferred from the University of Washington) and a member of the Trail staff. More important, I am not standing in judgement of any work of art. An art review is the expression of an individual's reaction to art products worthy of comment.

I do not question the artistic reputations of the three artists mentioned, nor do I question the ability of their work to stand up under criticism. It is entirely probable and legitimate that young artists will be influenced by the work of other artists, however, I would hardly tag them mimics.

It is my contention that red is by nature a wicked color — ask Satan himself! The intensity of Hawkins' red makes it magnificently wicked. Perhaps Hawkins will one day be recognized by the quality of his reds. Chappell has a technique characterized by unbelievable blues. I would be the last to discount the emotional quality of color.

I see little value in merely describing art pieces in an ex-

To the Editor:

The recent review of the student art exhibit by Ruth Knutson was, in effect, complimentary to the students and the art department. However, her scope was limited to painting and the word "pot," when actually 180 students presented 400 works in various media such as wire, stone and metal sculpture, ceramics, etching, silk screen and woodcut prints, basic and creative design, drawing and sketching of ink, pastel and pencil, pen and brush lettering, jewelry and enameling, watercolor, figure drawing, mosaics, educational panels and a working fountain.

Particularly resented was the implication that certain students were limited to imitating the instructor's style. To be included in a review in such a manner is no compliment and false impressions are created. If some influence of an instructor does not reveal itself in the work, the instruction is not effective.

The reviewer also leaves the reader with the impression that professional art work has a veneer of artificiality and is superficial. We suggest the reviewer cease to review art exhibits at UPS as the majority of exhibits are professional work and the person is obviously biased.

In conclusion, the Art Department is gratified that the reviewer feels safe in recognizing the excellence of our efforts in the fine arts on campus.

Sincerely, the Art Department,

BERKLEY CHAPPELL
 BILL COLBY
 FRANCES CHUBB
 LYNN WENTWORTH
 Chm.

Editor's Note: It is slightly distressing that the faculty of the art department disapproves of Mrs. Knutson's review of last week, although this is certainly their right. However, at the risk of being thought to say "sour grapes," we have something to add. 1. Other than Mrs. Knutson, no art student has offered to write reviews or other art news; 2. the reviewer limited the review to paintings, as that is the medium with which she is best acquainted; 3. While the statement concerning Vickie Liu's work may give the impression that professional work has a veneer of artificiality, past reviews (Phillips-Tracy and Hilda Morris) do not seem to reflect this attitude; 4. In the last paragraph of the letter the art department appears to be hibit. By criticizing I may entice "interested students" into going to take a second (or first) look at the show. By describing I would be giving lazy or apathetic students no reason to attend. Interested students are invited to write reviews "as it seems to them" for publication.

AFROTC Celebration Held At McChord

An AFROTC Armed Forces Day celebration is scheduled for May 19 at McChord Air Force Base. Members of advanced ROTC from UPS will take part in the activities.

The UPS co-eds belonging to Angel Flight will sponsor a booth which is set up to inform people of the ROTC program, functions, and purposes on a college campus.

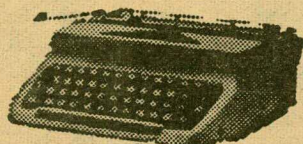

blowing its own horn.

We will take the suggestion of the art department. Mrs. Knutson will review no more exhibits, as she is graduating. It would seem that since the art department is so sensitive to criticism that we dare not print anything concerning it, lest we offend.

Editor, the Trail:

I am puzzled by Mr. Brooks' statement: "Too long the magazine (Cross Currents) has been umbically tied to Dr. Simonson and Dr. Esther Wagner." I'm willing to disregard the misspelling of "umbically"; I'll even overlook the illegitimacy of the adverb born from the adjective "umbilical." But I am concerned about his metaphor. Would he please remove whoever or whatever is on my umbilical cord?

Commencement Ball Future Now Bright

By IRVIE GLUTZ

"Due to heavy pressures brought to bear upon us we have reluctantly agreed to hold the Commencement Ball this year," stated co-chairmen Brent Knutson and Sharon Crews.

The pair stated, "We have chosen for the site for extravaganza the largest, most lavish ballroom in the city, the south room of L'Centre Studente, located at 1500 North Warner."

The theme of the ball is as yet undisclosed, mainly because it is not yet known. It was announced that the theme will definitely not be "Century 21." A "Springtime in Tiajuana" theme was rejected by the committee, as well as a "Delerium Tremens" motif.

The Lucky Logger

By STAN FARBER

For the first time this season, the University of Puget Sound may be able to play a home baseball game on campus. Several factions have been at work in order that UPS might be able to perform before a Spring Weekend crowd at Dr. W. B. Burns Baseball Field.

Mr. Shotwell, a UPS Trustee and long-time benefactor, has generously donated equipment and men to help the UPS grounds department. The Tacoma Giants offered their groundskeeping crew of Gene Hanson and Al Pentecost (who also doubles as Logger athletic equipment manager), and the Puget Sound Choppers staged a work party to help out. The Metropolitan Park District and UPS baseball coach Bill Funk also volunteered manpower and services.

Present plans call for another work party Wednesday afternoon to get the field in shape. The diamond is being worked on daily by the grounds department, but there remains a few other chores still to be done: mowing the grass again, edging the baselines, installing home plate, removing the football goal posts, etc.

Chopper president John Whalley says that not only the Choppers, but all UPS students with school spirit should plan on helping out Wednesday afternoon. Students should report at 1:30, but late-comers will always be accepted. Work will probably be finished about 5:00.

A baseball double-header always adds excitement to Spring Weekend, and the Loggers may derive inspiration therefrom and tumble Western Washington's Vikings. The players are convinced that they can whip the Vikings, and a little support from the student body in the way of fixing up the field and attending the game will add a little extra incentive.

The new track is also being worked upon, with the roller going around the oval daily.

Other signs of progress might be seen on the other side of the fence from the baseball field where workmen are constructing additional tennis courts. Target date for completion is September.

Team-wise UPS might not have the best track team in the state, but there are a few individuals on coach Harry Bird's Logger squad who have been making the experts sit up and take notice nationally.

Jack Higgins, ace sprinter, needs no introduction to UPS students. His "bests" in the 100-yard dash is 9.4 and the 220-yard dash is 20.7 (wind-aided) and he also toured the latter distance in 20.9. Those times were competition, expect those times to be equalled or bettered last year, but as Jack meets better and better

Ty Stroh has been tossing that javelin quite a distance. His best throw of the season is 205-0, two weeks ago. He threw the spear 202-7 last Saturday (which would have beaten the winning throw of 197-1 at the Vancouver Relays).

Both Higgins and Stroh are ranked in the NAIA's top ten nationally, Higgins in the 100 and Stroh in the javelin.

The Evergreen Conference Spring Sports championship weekend is slated May 18-19, with Pacific Lutheran acting as the host school. Competition will be conducted in track (at PLU), tennis (at Franklin Playfield and Pt. Defiance Park), and golf (at Brookdale). The Eastern and Western Division baseball titlists will meet at the Western divisional winner's home park to decide the league championship in a two-out-of-three series.

SPORTS SHORTS: The Eastern Washington football game at Cheney next fall is slated at 2 p.m. as the Loggers will be Homecoming guests of the Savages . . . Newly-selected UPS basketball coach Russ Wilkerson was on campus last weekend and plans to return this weekend . . . DON'T FORGET ABOUT THE WORK PARTY WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON. SEE YOU THERE.

Higgins Wins Canadian Run

Jack Higgins, UPS sprinter, flashed to victory in 9.8 seconds in the Vancouver (B.C.) Relays 100-yard dash Saturday afternoon. It was the second straight time that Higgins had won the Vancouver century dash.

Last May, Higgins, a senior from Anacortes, sped to victory in 9.5 seconds to establish the fastest 100-yard dash ever run in Canada. Three watches caught Higgins in 9.4, but officials listed the time at 9.5. Oregon's Harry Jerome, a 9.3 sprinter, later tied Higgins' mark in Canada.

Jack will appear in the UPS-PLU-Western track meet at Bellingham Saturday as the final tune-up to the Evergreen Conference Track and Field Meet at PLU May 18-19. Higgins is favored to win the 100 and 220 in the conference and NAIA district meets.

UPS AFROTC Has President's Review

The annual AFROTC President's Review at UPS will be held on Friday, May 11, at noon. The review, honoring University President R. Franklin Thompson, will be held in the Memorial Fieldhouse.

The review will climax a year of leadership training for the cadets. Highlighting the event will be the presentation of special awards to deserving cadets for outstanding achievement in leadership, scholastic and civic activities.

Civic, military and other organizations sponsoring the awards include the American Legion Edward B. Rhodes Post No. 2, Fort Lewis Chapter 89 of the National Sojourners, Tacoma Chapter and Washington State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, Tacoma Rotary Club, Voiture 94 of 40 et 8, The Boeing Company, and the 25th Air Division (SAGE) of McChord AFB.

The review is open to the public and all students are invited.

New Angel Flight Elects Officers

Officers for the newly formed UPS Air Force Reserves' Angel Flight were recently elected, and Sheri Shores, the 1962 Coel Colonel, will take over as Commander of the group.

Other officers who were elected include Sheri Zabel, Executive Commander; Caye Ross, Administrative Service Officer; Judy LaBeau, Comptroller; Julie Olander, Information Service Officer; and Anne Martin, Historian.

The Angel Flight is made up of the girls who ran for Coed Colonel earlier this year.

The girls will be working in conjunction with the University's Air Force ROTC on social functions and other assistance programs.

Puget Sound Baseball Nine Sets Busy Week of Activity

Choppers To Hold Important Meet

The Puget Sound Choppers will hold an important meeting Wednesday night in the Central Board Room in the Student Center. Meeting time is 9 o'clock.

According to President John Whalley, final plans on the Chopper stunt at Spring Weekend will be discussed.

Also on the docket are plans for the Chopper Work Party on the baseball field Wednesday afternoon. All Choppers and other interested students with school spirit are urged to help get the field in shape for the Spring Weekend Evergreen Conference double-header with Western Washington State College Saturday afternoon.

Chopper pictures in the Tama-nawas will also be discussed as well as plans for a Junior Choppers club for next school year.

Last week, there were 30 members in attendance at the meeting. Whalley says that he's pleased with the attendance, but that there is always room for more Chopper members to attend.

Whalley urges fellow Choppers to be present at the meeting "because it will be one of the most important of the year."

Rapp, Johnson Selected as Editors by CB

Marilyn Rapp and Vivienne Johnson have been ratified by Central Board as editors of the 1962 Cross Currents and Tama-nawas, respectively. Miss Rapp was associate editor of Cross Currents this year and is a former news editor of the Trail.

Miss Johnson was assistant editor for the Tama-nawas this year.

Bill Baarsma and Allan Gibbs are the two contenders for next year's Trail editor. Baarsma has been recommended by Publications Committee; however, the editor must be ratified by Central Board.

Western Netmen Defeat Loggers

Western Washington State College won a narrow decision in an Evergreen Conference tennis match with the University of Puget Sound at Bellingham last Saturday afternoon. The final score was 4-3.

Rich Lothian gained the only singles win for the visitors. Gary Carew and Dave Wolf teamed for one doubles win and Lothian and Neal Freeman nabbed the other doubles decision.

The results:
Jim Herman (W) def. Gary Carew (UPS) 2-6, 6-3, 10-8; Bill Lappenbusch (W) def. Dave Wolf (UPS) 6-3, 3-6, 12-10; Rich Lothian (UPS) def. Dave Smith (W) 1-6, 6-2, 6-2; Denny Lewis (W) def. The University of Puget Sound baseball team faces a heavy schedule this week. The Loggers played Seattle Pacific yesterday, travel to Fort Lewis to play the major-league star-studded Rangers this afternoon in a single contest, and play host to Western Washington State College in an Evergreen Conference Western Division double-header Saturday afternoon, starting at 1:30.

The Loggers lost a couple of contests at Western amidst rain and wind April 30. The Tacoma men dropped the opener 8-3, although the Loggers scored three earned runs to the winners' four. UPS also lost the nightcap 5-4, with each team getting four earned counters.

Trailing 8-1 in the first game, UPS staged a rally which fell short. Four walks and a single by Roy Kimbel brought home two runs for the visitors, but reliever Kim Wilson slammed the door shut by striking out Gordon Pfeifer and Larry Green.

UPS took a 2-0 first-inning lead in the second game. The Loggers put together a walk to Dave Ratko, a single by Kimbel and an infield error on Dennis Keating's grounder. Both Ratko and Kimbel scored on the error. Coach Bill Funk's crew added a third run in the second inning when John Ratko walked, moved up on a passed ball and scored on brother Dave's single.

Western tallied once in the second and tied the score in the fourth.

Gordon Pfeifer performed the heroics in the fifth when, with two out, he doubled, moved to third on an infield out, and stole home off southpaw Ken Schulz.

The Vikings won the game in the sixth on two singles, a double and a walk.
