"OUR UNIVERSITY"

(Tune "America"

I.
“Our University,”
Dear old school, ’tis of thee,
Of thee we sing.
Thou art our joy and pride;
Thou art the true and tried;
And now from every side
Thy Praises ring.

II.
We come from near and far;
But we thy children are,
Loyal and true.
O, Alma Mater, dear,
We love to gather here,
And with joy sincere
Our work to do.

The Battle of Commencement Bay

(Short Story Written for English by Leland Athow)

The Japanese, failing utterly to make any headway in California, turned their attention toward Puget Sound. By some terrible misunderstanding among the Americans, the enemy, with four battleships and six torpedo boat destroyers, were able to steal through the Straits, bombard Seattle and proceed on toward Tacoma. Meanwhile, an army of Japanese, thirty thousand strong, which had been safely landed on the coast of Southwestern Washington, had devastated Olympia and was rapidly marching to assist the navy in the capture of this important city. Thus with the fleet lying in the bay in front and the army closing in behind, the Japanese were certain of an easy victory. The news of the results at Olympia and Seattle was received with great excitement throughout the country. Only a short distance from Tacoma, however, was stationed a large battalion of United States infantry and cavalry. The Japanese army was greatly surprised and after a loss of fifty killed and 3,563 wounded, they surrendered. The American army received little loss other than thirty-five wounded and several horses killed. The Second division of the Pacific fleet, stationed at Bremerton, was immediately ordered to Tacoma. The Virginia, North Dakota, Delaware and California, four of the most powerful ships in the American navy, proceeded under full speed. They rounded Browns Point, surprised the enemy and the greatest and most exciting naval battle in all history followed.

One Japanese battleship and two torpedo boat destroyers were sunk in the bay. The remaining vessels, under high speed, steamed down the Sound. One was grounded while entering the Narrows just off Point Defiance. The American squadron followed closely and drove them into the narrow harbor at Olympia. Thus as the Japanese fleet was absolutely shut off from escape, another fierce battle ensued. One more Japanese battleship went down and the Japanese soon ran up the white flag. The Americans suffered a loss of seventeen killed and eighty-three wounded. The California received a large hole in its hull. This ended the fighting in the north and the Japanese were turned toward the canal zone.

U. P. S. Will Debate Pacific University

At last it is definitely decided that we are to have an intercollegiate debate. After we had just about given up the idea of having a debate with any other college this year, terms were arranged with Pacific University of Forest Grove, Oregon, for a dual debate. The date of the debate cannot now be definitely announced, but it will be given in our next issue, if possible. The fact that we are to have a dual debate means that there will be two teams representing U. P. S. and there will be two debates on the same night, one at Forest Grove and one at Tacoma. So both universities will get a chance to hear the subject debated.

There will be two men on each team. The teams which are to represent U. P. S. will be announced in our next issue. The question has not as yet been decided on, but soon will be, as the time is short and the teams will have to soon begin “digging in” in order to make a creditable showing.

This intercollegiate debate will be the big event of the college year. So let’s give it as much advertising as possible and begin right now the work which is needed to make the event a success. And by success we do not mean so much the winning of the debate as we do the securing of as much outside interest as possible and the securing of a large audience to greet our fellow collegians when they appear here to contend with us.

THAT BIG ANNUAL BANQUET

When? On the evening of February 23. Where? At Rhodes Bros. Tea Room. What? The Big Annual Banquet of the University of Puget Sound. Who is invited? YOU! (which, being interpreted, means all students and also all outsiders who are interested in the welfare of dear old U. P. S.) How much does it cost? Well, it costs for fellows who trot single, “one big iron boy,” “one cart wheel,” “one buck,” “one simoleon,” “one statue of liberty,” any of which, being interpreted, means one dollar. For fellows who trot double, (and it is to be hoped that all wut trot in that (Continued on page Five)
Music and Oratory

The annual Prohibition Oratorical Contest will take place next Friday evening, February 13, at the University Chapel. A lively contest is assured, the program will be an interesting one from start to finish, and the event will be worth attending. Besides musical numbers, six orations will be delivered as follows: “Prohibition Triumphant,” Richard Decker; “Prohibition—Now,” Otto A. Schultz; “What Shall We Do,” Mrs. Dean; “The Call to Action,” Lloyd Burke; “Alcohol Versus Our Immigrants,” Robert A. Cowan; “The Decisive Hour,” Clark Cottrell. Ten cents will be charged as admission fee.

The next recital of the Schools of Music and Oratory will be given on the evening of Wednesday, February 18. The program will be made up of monologues, dramatic readings and scenes, as well as several music numbers. Some of those who will appear on the program are. Mrs. Blanche Hudson, Icel Marshall, Hildegard Larsen, Marian Zeltzer, Sadie Vernhardsen, Geo. Pflaum, Guy Dunning, Ray Gaines and Louis Abogast.

Three students in the department of oratory, pupils of Bernard Lambert, appeared as readers in entertainment programs in the course of the last week of the semester. Elvera and Heldegard Larsen at the Ashbury Methodist Church Wednesday, January 28; and Icel Marshall at Bethany Methodist Episcopal Church, Friday, January 30.

A charming afternoon of Italian music and poetry was accorded the members and invited guests of Arequipa club at the annual guest-day reception held by the club at the home of Mrs. G. W. Rounds on North O street. Prof. Bernard Lambert and Dr. Robert Schofield, assisted by Miss Preston, Miss Bradshaw and Mr. Kloepper, presented a very beautiful program of readings and music. The musical numbers were selected from the typical Italian composers, Scarlatti, Rossini, Verdi and Leoncavallo, and included numbers for violin, piano and voice. Mr. Schofield prefaced the opera numbers with an interesting talk on the origin of the operas and musical importance of the composers. Prof. Lambert read several of Browning’s poems, written in Italy and showing the Italian influence, and gave a talk on Browning and an interpretation of the poems. The program was very artistically given and enthusiastically received.

I. P. A. ORATORICAL CONTEST

On Friday evening, February 13, in the chapel will occur one of the main events of the college year. This is the annual oratorical contest under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association. There will be six students take part in the contest, the winner to represent U. P. S. at the state contest. Then the winner of the state contest will represent the state in the inter-state contest. This event has always aroused a great deal of interest in the University and we have no doubt that it will this year. The contestants have put much time in preparation of their orations and there should be a large crowd out to hear them. The list of speakers and their subjects is to be found in another part of this paper, under the heading, “Notes From the Schools of Music and Oratory.” A small admission fee of ten cents will be charged to help pay expenses.
Locals

Guy Hudgins, a popular sophomore, who went to his home in Eastern Canada during the mid-winter vacation and was stricken with typhoid fever while at home, is reported on the way to recovery. He will probably be back in college by March 7. Mr. Hudgins is greatly missed by his many friends among the students and we shall be glad to welcome him back among us.

Clarence Keen, a member of the senior class in music, has been compelled to leave college to attend to work on his ranch in Eastern Washington which requires his personal attention. Mr. Keen was very popular while in college and he will be greatly missed, particularly in musical circles in which he was prominent. Mr. Keen will return to U. P. S. in the near future to finish his musical course, perhaps next year.

A letter was received lately by ye editor from Harold Smull who was called home during the mid-winter vacation by the illness of his father. Mr. Smull regrets that he had to leave U. P. S., but says that while he will not be able to come back this year, he will be back next year.

Among the new students enrolling at the beginning of this semester are: In the college, Miss Jennie Heustis of Seattle, formerly of the Ellensburg State Normal; Miss Margaret McConibe, formerly of the Bellingham State Normal; Miss Elsie Moe of Tacoma; Miss Douglas of Bellingham; Rev. Lehmann, pastor of the German Lutheran church, who is taking special work. New students enrolled in the academy are: Joyce Perrot and Georgiana Wilson.

At chapel last Friday the faculty presented four students as candidates to represent the student body as speakers at the big annual banquet to be held on February 23. From the four candidates the student body was told to elect two. The four candidates presented were: Guy Dunning, Arvil Beck, Thrina Baker and Grace Lawson. The two elected were Guy Dunning and Grace Lawson. On the first ballot Miss Baker and Miss Lawson were a tie, but on the second ballot Miss Lawson was elected.

Miss Maude Huntington, a member of the sophomore class, has returned to her home in Castle Rock because of illness.

Prof. George P. Blackburn, professor of economics and commercial law, passed the last examination for admission to the bar of the state of Washington. It is rumored that Prof. Blackburn will begin active practice next year.

Prof. Reneau is now teaching the philosophy class instead of Dr. Selinger, who was compelled to drop part of his work as his program was too heavy.

The freshman class is mourning the loss of one of their most popular members, Miss Gretta Wolfe.

A large number of the friends of the University attended chapel last Thursday morning to hear the address of Dr. Leonard. Among them were Dr. Lane, pastor of the First Methodist Church; Rev. Joel Vigus, Mrs. J. W. Walker, Mrs. W. H. Rees, Mrs. A. N. Goulder and Mrs. S. M. Cogshall.

The Y. W. C. A. held their annual election of officers on January 28. Those elected were: President, Miss Ann Fry; vice-president, Miss Mildred Polnom; secretary, Miss Alice Warren; treasurer, Miss Hazel Bock.

Lawrence Terry, a former student who is now teaching in South Prairie, visited University friends on Saturday.

Prof. Davis’ class in history and methods has begun work with story telling.

Guy E. Dunning and Homer F. Moore went to Milton Friday evening to attend the “Mortgage Burning” celebration held by the people of the Milton Methodist Church. Mr. Dunning gave several readings as part of the program and Mr. Moore, who is a former pastor of the church, made the chief address of the evening and touched the match to the mortgage.

fashion, on that particular evening), the charge will be two of the same. What is to happen there? Well, just listen! Speeches by two governors, speeches by two representatives of the student body, singing by the Glee Club, class songs and class yells by the different classes, good stories and Big Eats! Whoo-ppee! Are we going? Well, I guess yes! Even though we have to live on one meal a day for two months, and quit patronizing Stubb’s for another month, in order to do so, we’ll be there.

Prof. Blackburn, in one of the wittiest and most effective speeches of the year, told the students about the coming University banquet last Friday. And while he did himself proud, Prof. Blackburn did not overstate the good things to be expected at the banquet in the least. So paste the date in your hat, students, and be there. It’s one of the Big events of your college life which you can’t afford to miss.

STUDENTS TREATED TO THREE SPLENDID ADDRESSES

Last week the students had the opportunity of listening to three addresses, and one of which was worth going a long way to hear.

On Wednesday morning Dr. Selinger delivered the first address. He gave it to the Y. M. C. A. at their regular Wednesday morning service. While the boys had the opportunity of enjoying the address to the full, they were sorry that the girls could not also hear it. Our Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. do not meet together often enough. Whenever one is to have an especially good address they should have the other organization meet with them so that both may enjoy it.

Dr. Selinger's subject was "A Man's Reverence for His Inner Self." The subject is a deep one and Dr. Selinger handled it in a scholarly and eloquent manner. His address was appreciated even more by the young men present than the one he delivered to the Y. M. C. A. last year, his subject being at that time, "The Imaginations of College Men."

On Thursday morning at chapel, Dr. Leonard of the First Methodist Church, Seattle, delivered an address on "Faith." His address was a masterful one and was thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. Dr. Leonard and his ability as a speaker are so well known to the student body that there is no need here to go into the details of the address. Suffice it to say that we always look for an intellectual and spiritual treat when it is announced that Dr. Leonard is to speak and we are never disappointed.

Thursday being the annual day of prayer for colleges, the student body and faculty had the opportunity of listening, on the evening of that day, to an address by our President, Dr. E. H. Todd. The earnestness and sincerity which always characterizes the addresses of Dr. Todd and which captivate his audiences and help to make him so popular among the students, were even more evident than usual in this address given on the evening of the day of prayer. Dr. Todd has the cause of Christian education, the welfare of the students and humanity in general deeply at heart and his thorough belief in the cause for which he is working arouses enthusiasm in the hearts of his hearers and causes them to wish to be an aid. Dr. Todd's addresses are always a source of inspiration and help to the students and we wish that we could hear him oftener.

THE STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION

By G. C. McKown, Princeton University.

(This paper won the twenty-five-dollar prize offered by The North American Student for the best 1,000 word "story" of the Volunteer Convention, written by one of the college journalists present at the conference of college editors during the Convention held in Kansas City, December 31st, 1913, to January 4th, 1914. Dr. Talcott Williams (director of the School of Journalism, Columbia University, very generously acted as judge in the contest Editor.)

Five thousand delegates from institutions of learning in the United States and Canada gathered at Kansas City for a convention lasting from December 31 to January 4, in the interests of the Student Volunteer Movement. The gathering stood out as a living testimonial to the power of Christianity which was strong enough to draw these young people away from the good times at their homes during the holiday to "this mount of inspiration," as the meeting was often characterized in the addresses.

In addition to being a source of religious inspiration the convention in its effects showed that the age of miracles has not passed. Delegates there saw with their own eyes conversions of young men and women who had much to give and who, under the power of the dominant note of the whole period—the evangelization of the world in this generation—which is the motto of the Student Volunteer Movement, gave it up willingly. The work was done quietly and without undue emotion. The array of speakers included the best in the country—men in Christian work and in the various professions, and also made two of the public addresses.
Dr. Robert E. Speer, the associate with Dr. Mott in the Volunteer Student Movement in America, was one of the leaders, and among the other speakers were Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, Dr. S. M. Zwemer (who came all the way from Egypt expressly to present the needs of the Moslem World to the convention), Dr. Sherwood Eddy, an associate with Dr. Mott in the trip around the world in the interest of Missions made during the past year. Public meetings occupied the morning and evening hours, while the afternoons were given over to sectional and denominational conferences.

In actual results the informal, the personal, and delegation meetings held at times convenient for those interested, accomplished the most. It was here that the power of God in transforming lives made itself visible in unmistakable manner.

In one group from one of the larger Eastern Universities there was a young student who came to the final delegation meeting of the period, held on Sunday night following the big meeting. His impression of the convention and its power had not been favorable. He owned to being impressed by the "bigness" of the thing, but his own soul had failed to get its inspiration. He confessed to the need of men in the foreign fields, he saw the immediate character of the demand, but for him it had stopped there. The link connecting him with this need had not appeared. He came into this delegation meeting half discouraged. It came his turn to speak—to tell frankly and plainly just what the convention had meant to him. There was a hesitating pause,—and then these simple sentences:

"Fellows, I don't know what's the matter with me, haven't had tears in my eyes for ten years—not since one of my very dear friends died. But I can't keep them back tonight. I am all at sea. I want you to pray for me and with me. I am going to pray now and I want you to help me."

He dropped to his knees, and prayed in broken sentences to a God which lifted him up later a changed man—with his outlook cleared completely.

At one of the luncheons, given jointly by two of the delegations, the subject under discussion in the after-dinner speeches was, “Why I Volunteered to go to the Foreign Field.” There sat by the side of the chairman a young man from the East who had signed a “volunteer” card that morning, but his signature had failed to produce in him any enthusiasm. While the speeches were in progress this man leaned over and asked the chairman if he might speak. When he arose—as he expressed it afterwards—he “knew positively that I was not speaking but that it was someone speaking through me.” This man had given up a future which promised him medical study abroad for three years and a New York practice, had given up a big fortune which until that time he had planned to use for his own pleasure, and had set his will up against the will of his parents, who were very much opposed to his devoting his life to work in foreign missions.

Instances of this sort are being told by all the delegates to the convention. Christianity did not win in every case, however. There was a young Jew—an orthodox Hebrew—from an Eastern University also who went to the convention with a complete understanding of what the appeal was to be. He went at the request of the Christian Society leader of his university to test out his Jewish faith and measure it with Christianity. He stuck it out for four days. He roomed with one of the strongest young Christian Volunteers, and the latter told after the young Jew had gone that some of the sessions which they had had together in the privacy of their room after others had gone to sleep were harrowing in their intensity. On Sunday morning the young Hebrew left quietly for home. He left a message for his fellows to this effect—that he had given Christianity an honest and a fair trial; that he could agree with Christianity in all but one particular—he could not accept the belief that Christ was the Son of God in body. On Saturday he had wired his family in the East—"I have fought and I have won." In a spirit of prayer his fellows in the delegation thanked God that that young man had gone to Kansas City, and they returned to their Alma Mater with unstinted admiration and fellowship for him.

The atmosphere about the convention was charged with the spirit and influence of "Service." The leaders requested the delegates to keep the "Morning Watch Hour"—a short time devoted to prayer and quiet communion. With this introduction of devotion the whole proceedings were in tune. The visible effects in their quantity were not startling, but the more quiet, although not less powerful in the lives which they touched, personal results are certain to be left in the universities to which these thousands of delegates returned, and through them later on in the Christianization of the World.

KAPPA SIGMA THETA

(Dorothea Satterthwaite, Reporter)

The place of Tuesday afternoon’s program was taken by the second degree initiation, by which our new pledges, Icel Marshall and Alice Gould, became full fledged Thetas. We truly hope this was more enjoyable to them than the first degree, for after the sincere and impressive service of taking the vows of Kappa Sigma Theta, they were the guests of honor at a spread which proved to be a banquet, so generously did the girls provide. It was with longing eyes that the different dishes, still well filled, were looked upon by all, who at the end of an hour (more or less), “could still chaw, but could not swaller.” The rest of the afternoon passed quickly with music and Theta songs, by which the new girls were initiated further into Theta life and in which they showed true Theta spirit. Long live the Thetas and our jolly chaperones.

PHILOMATHEAN

(Elsa McKibben, Reporter)

With the old members “brave and fearless” and the new ones trembling because of the ordeal which was to follow, the Philos assembled January 27 for an extemporeans program from beginning to end. But soon the girls began to “breathe easy” as one boy after another was called upon. There were just two exceptions, when Leona Hanson’s name was called for an instrumental solo and Jean Bullock was requested to assist Richard Decker with a vocal duet. The program was splendid, due largely, perhaps, to the fact that the individuals taking part had a lively interest in the subject of the evening "Examinations" and that former extemporaneous work in the literary society had prepared them to appear well before the public. Through some peculiar and mysterious method the girls had a "spread" prepared for the society in return for the boys giving the program.

On Tuesday evening, February 3, a "Political" program was given.

Y. W. C. A.

(Marion Maxham, Reporter)

The Y. W. C. A. held their annual election January 28. Those elected were: Ann Fry, president; Mildred Pollov, vice-president; Alice Warren, secretary; Hazel Bock, treasurer. The new officers will not assume their duties until the first of March.

The Y. W. C. A. devotional meeting on February 4 was led by Miss Fry. Marion Maxham read the "Song of Our Syrian Guest." The new cabinet was appointed by the president.

On January 27 the Y. W. C. A. held a candy sale. The sale was well patronized by the students. The proceeds of the sale will go to the fund for missionary work in Japan.

At the annual meeting of the Northwestern Field Committee of the Y. W. C. A., held in Seattle January 19, 1914, a new departure was made in the election of five undergraduate student members to the student department of the committee, representing the College Association of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana. The following were elected to above annual memberships: Miss Dana Cushman, Albany College, Albany, Ore.; Miss Enid Bell, McMinnville College, McMinnville, Ore.; Miss Charlotte Swatman, College of Idaho, Caldwell, Idaho; Miss Margaret McKenzie, College of Montana, Deer Lodge, Mont.; Miss Annie Fry, University of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash.

BASKET-BALL

Since our last issue the University basketball team has played three games—and lost them all. We lost one to Whitworth, one to the Y. M. C. A. and one to the Parkland Athletic Club. But while we lost, it can not be said of us that it was because we "lay down in the harness," because every man fought his best and kept scrapping until the last whistle blew. That "Never say die" spirit is the kind that will win in the end. We have been playing all of our games away from the home floor, up to the present time, but now that we will soon begin to play at home, some victories can be expected. There is quite a disadvantage in playing on a strange floor and that is what we have been up against all the season thus far. The first team is composed of Captain Johnson, Cottrell and Murbach, forwards; Granlund, center; Ore, Beck and Arbogast, guards.

The second team has not fared quite so badly as the first team, as they have won one out of three games played. They lost to Whitworth and the Parkland Athletic Club, and won from the Stadium High School Seniors by a score of 23 to 18. The second team is composed of Dunning, Remington and Crane, forwards; Stallcup, center; Captain Athow, Cowan and Hart, guards.
