A small boy had returned home, his mother said, "I heard that when it rains we must protect ourselves from the cold rain."

"Yes, I know," the boy replied, "but I had enough wet clothes already."
Far Reaching Results of the Scenario Scholarship Contest

By Carl Laemmle

Doror of the Scholarship Award

It's true that we all hope to have a rainbow in the future, but we should be realistic. We need to implement the solution for the drought by setting up a comprehensive water management system that involves all stakeholders. This is not a project for a single person, but it requires the collective efforts of the community. We must work together to ensure a sustainable water supply for our future generations. The time to act is now, and we cannot afford to wait any longer.

A LEADER OF NATIONS ESSAY CONTEST
