Junior Hi School Grows Rapidly

The new Junior High School building erected on the old campus of the College of Puget Sound, in the spirit of the old campus, will be opened in attendance upon the dedication meeting on Friday, January 29. The gymnasium will be used as a bridge between the classes of the new Junior High school, that prepares the way to the senior high school, that prepares for college.

The school is set to become a two-story structure, two hundred and one thousand square feet of floor space, one hundred students will be enrolled in the first year. The gymnasium will be the main auditorium and will be an extremely fine structure, four hundred feet in length and one hundred feet wide. The building will be open to the public on every occasion. Its capacity will be large enough to accommodate any group of students.

Three years ago the Loyalists' Club moved into the new building. Since then the club has been almost entirely occupied by the students of the school. Taylor Gauden confirmed with the club's policy of occupying the building. The club's present location is almost in the center of the school. The club's members are almost entirely male and female.

The club is constructed to be a two-story structure, with a large central hall and a large entrance room. The entrance room is large enough for the students to enjoy a comfortable atmosphere. The club's officers are almost entirely male and female.

PRESIDENT TODDE RETURN HOME

President E. H. Todd returned by plane, January 22 from a vocational trip which a made to Florida for the purpose of arranging for the newly formed Board of Visitors. The Vice President of the Board and two members of the faculty met with President Todd and discussed the future of the College.

While in the east, Dr. Todd at the request of various educational authorities and reached the Carnegie Foundation and visited the various National Institutions of which he is a member where the progress of education is discussed.

Two distinct academic movements were noticed by Dr. Todd. One is the trend in the schools to make Latin a part of the curriculum. The other is the trend of the schools to abolish Latin as a part of the curriculum. These movements are noticed by Dr. Todd who says that the trend in the schools is towards a generalization of the curriculum.

The intention is that these courses will be at the regular high school level in such a way as to enable the student to enter in his senior year in the universities of the United States. This will enable the student to enter the

States.
