NOTE COMEDY CHOSEN FOR COLLEGE PLAY

Catching Comedy Has Accounted Fortunes in New York and London

By Henry Winsen

W. J. Heinz has taken another Apple of Asial National Theatre in New York as the life of the college. The play, according to the selection, the play reading committee, which consisted of Professor Jon, Professor Jones, Professor Smith, Professor Johnson, Professor Wilson, and Professor Black, have decided the play was not only quality, but also fits in very well with the student body.

The selection process was very long, as there were many plays to choose from. The committee was very impressed with the quality of the plays, and ultimately decided on this one.

The play will be performed in the college auditorium, and tickets are now on sale for $5.00 each.

CLASH WITH VANDALS ON NEW DIAMOND

Hard Battle Expected; Idaho Varsity Must Earn Accredited Record

By Sue Gates

The League's most recent game of the College of Puget Sound tackles the Vandals in a hard battle for accreditation. The game will be held at the college's home field, and will determine the team's place in the Northwest Conference.

The college's baseball team has been struggling this season, and a win today would be a great boost for their morale.

The Vandals are a tough team, and the college's players will need to be at their best to have a chance of winning.

The game will be held at 3:00 PM today, and will be a close one.

THE ENDE OF THE TRAIL.

This is the last official appearance of the Trail staff. Next week's paper is in the hands of the athletic department, and the next issue will take possession the following week. Never mind to say, the members of the old staff are glad to get to the "end of the Trail," quite possibly the student body in equally glad. In that case, everybody's happy.

Whether or not the Trail has improved any this year is of no concern to many students to have their names and pictures appear on the final issue. This is the last official appearance of the Trail staff. Next year's issue will have no such claim on the young man's time and attention. The inconsistencies of life are intense at times. In college we find the unique situation whereby a student is restricted to a maximum number of credit hours, yet there is a moral pressure to limit the number of activities he may enter. In this article I shall make an attempt to give the student an understanding of the necessity for not entering too many activities.

In every case, when every member on the staff did his or four had to shoulder the whole burden, the quality of the paper was poor. This is not a complaint against the staff. Thus did I end my course of study and was as ready as ever to the business of the world. This is not a complaint against the staff.

Bring even more success to the Trail. Quite possibly the student body is equally relieved of the responsibilities and burdens of leadership. It some people fought with the determination of winning; but if the attendance is low, one does not become a valuable asset to him.
