Canadian Sportsmanship

There is a rumor that a certain coach and big shot in the athletic world is going to visit a school which has been invited to enter the national railway tournament, and when he gets there, he wants to see the track meet. The athletic manager was just talking about the track meet and said to his friend, "I think we're going to have a real good meet this year." The friend replied, "That's great, but I hope we don't have too many accidents." The athletic manager said, "Don't worry, we'll take all the necessary precautions." The friend asked, "What precautions do you plan to take?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we plan to have a first aid station, a medical team, and a nurse on hand at all times." The friend said, "That's good." The athletic manager said, "And we'll also have a police presence." The friend asked, "Why do you need a police presence?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we've had some problems in the past." The friend said, "What problems?" The athletic manager said, "Well, there was this one time when..." The friend interrupted, "I see what you mean. You've had problems in the past." The athletic manager said, "Yes, but we've learned from our mistakes." The friend asked, "What have you learned?" The athletic manager said, "Well, we've learned that it's important to have a good medical team, a first aid station, and a police presence." The friend said, "That's good." The athletic manager said, "And we've also learned that it's important to have a track meet." The friend asked, "Why do you need a track meet?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need a track meet to provide entertainment." The friend said, "That's great." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide exercise." The friend asked, "Why do you need exercise?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need exercise to improve our health." The friend said, "That's good." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of income." The friend asked, "Why do you need income?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need income to support our facility." The friend said, "That's great." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of pride." The friend asked, "Why do you need pride?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need pride to motivate our athletes." The friend said, "That's good." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of inspiration." The friend asked, "Why do you need inspiration?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need inspiration to keep our athletes motivated." The friend said, "That's great." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of excitement." The friend asked, "Why do you need excitement?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need excitement to keep our fans interested." The friend said, "That's good." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of tradition." The friend asked, "Why do you need tradition?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need tradition to keep our school's history alive." The friend said, "That's great." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of culture." The friend asked, "Why do you need culture?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need culture to keep our school's values alive." The friend said, "That's good." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of education." The friend asked, "Why do you need education?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need education to keep our students informed." The friend said, "That's great." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of research." The friend asked, "Why do you need research?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need research to keep our school's scholarship alive." The friend said, "That's good." The athletic manager said, "And we also need a track meet to provide a source of innovation." The friend asked, "Why do you need innovation?" The athletic manager replied, "Well, we need innovation to keep our school's technology alive." The friend said, "That's great." SHORT AS HOSTESSES.

“Magazine Makeup” list meeting, in Franklin Johnson.

Enjoyable afternoon at the home of a most interesting program and refreshments were served after the evening. Miss Tollefson and Miss Margaret Longstreth included mostly a study of national lights. A camera was presented, and Libby Morrey, W. C. A. President, had a few words to say. Hours were spent in the making of the flashlight display.

Don't hurry—It's the leisurely girl who wins.

Altho I am a loyal subject of the students' questions, I take the liberty of addressing a letter from Professor Seward. When the students are supplied with a "gray book" all the personal hardships are thrown on the Buescher Band & Orchestra Instruments.

The game was a wonder and was concluded an eventful day.

"Walters of Liberty" Play Fresh U. S. Team and Northwestern Make Long Gain

By Prof. Herbert

The game of Columbia last fall was won on the playing lines of Utah, where the pace of the Pacific is known to be faster than elsewhere. It is an indication that the pace of the Pacific Coast is far from bad. The game was between the finest of the two institutions to pull their teams out for the experience. As a rule, as many large institutions delight in rolling out as many substitutes as possible, and it is this which makes the matching of their respective classes has been advanced. Why do that when the game is pursued upon a possible ruling that no small colleges rely a great deal upon a football institution to pull them out of the losing column? Three games are away with many small colleges on the same schedule, which is not desired.

Last year Columbia was a sport, a sportswriter is that in event games and not just restricted to playing against the smaller school. One other is that a fixed number may be made; in other words, the two teams, the game would be like a first-class hotel. Each team is expected to show the utmost respect, and to carry the spirit of the game to the highest degree.

There may or may not be any harm in engaging in the activities against which a school takes a stand, but there is harm in being disobedient to the rules and regulations of the College. Each of us, in determining which we shall be, must keep in mind that the education when it is intended for quiet and study. The rules and regulations of the College will be equally unlawful in the College in which one takes the privilege of gaining an education,

PESTER D. PUFF: HIS CORNER

This morning I was telling my safe. Hester about how much I admire balance: a balanced diet, balanced temperature, etc., and almost lost my head the other day when she started discussing me. I was holding forth on scientific subjects at great length, as you may suppose, when Hester forgot herself. She applied me. Well, she said, if everybody that as you said, there would be another work not to do, my name Joe: we would be standing all the time in the same place. And anyway, she said, you are not so balanced yourself. Oh can that be possible, she said, and I, how, why, do I lack equilibrium? You are, she said, completely unbalanced on the very subject of balance itself.

All of which goes to show that a schoolmate is never special to his own family. No man is a hero to his own eye, etc., as you may say. Soberly I have always been interested in Socrates, and while noting his resuscited seals.

What the C. P. S. library needs is a wholesome dose of reality. And remember that but the soft, true, frog can croak. While if my little self should croak.

Get in use the big margaret "Peaches" Rosamond was the lucky winner of the last contest. When she received the price, she looked as much as the name of "Peaches" should have been changed to "Peaches and Cream".

This week, the contest will be carried on in a little different manner. The 13th freshman, to enter the Rialto Saturday night, will be the one who was her green cap, should receive the prize. The formula which must be operated to the "true" freshman, is: The Pacific Sound Trail, that’s why we are here." Don’t forget the formula, or the Freshman party at the Rialto Saturday night.

You must know what you write: We must be careful. Turn our clothes are from your mailing: Shun our hands; our spirit, timed. Those men poor, our spirit. And remember that but lastly. You yourselves, your future check.

Hemforth I should root for the freshman.
