MORE ALL-COLLEGE FUNCTIONS

There has always been a lack of all-college social functions at the University. This semester we have had very few class functions. In its first year, the class usually has a never a social function at all; it has practically nothing going on until Senior Social Day.

The social life of the college seems to be limited to fraternal organizations and literary societies. They are all right as far as we are concerned, in addition to class parties and all-college functions! We need some social life that includes the whole student body.

An important step in this direction is All-College Night. Here the whole student body can gather together for an evening of entertainment presented by various groups, without regard to class, to cut smaller or larger student groups, without colleges. For once the students can forget their petty rivalries and work together.

The time spent in this manner will help a great deal in developing strong college spirit.

Let us give IT our HEARTY SUPPORT!

Bob Arntson

LAW IN ALL SILENCE

At Pueblo Sound there are a thousand and one little tasks that mean work for someone. The rooms of the literary societies must be cleaned and decorated. The stories for the college paper must be written. The halls must be kept neat and clean, with all the lab appointments set up. Telephone calls from students must be answered, notes and paper on the bulletin boards.

These and many other tasks similar to these must be taken care of every day or every week by some student at the college. They seem little and unimportant jobs, but the doing of them looks after the care of every day or every week by some student at the college. They are working overtime nowadays. In our opinion, the neatest and best-organized classes are those in which every member does the best work.

TOO PARTICULAR

Betty Totten: Is Bob a particular editor?

Grace Anderson: I'll say so, he never finds a job he can't do.

Leon Potacek: It is true that blowing the hair is important.

Sam Pugh: I know one guy that's crazy over a bluebird.

Punk Leatherhead: Is your rider good and hard?

Frank: Our drink of this cistern will make a fellow think he is drunk and lie down on the highway and try to pull the car over him.

Prof. Topping: What is your idea of civilization?

Ed Ernst: It's a good idea, somebody ought to start it.

LOGGER LESSONS

Not long ago I was

Dogging the horses

To the station, and way,

Saying my goodby.

Now the saw has

Gone on its way.

The noise of the logs

Falling from the trees

With a low, deep

Regulator threw it

Out of the door.

And the room was silent again.

It's the end of the day,

May 22, 1928

The peeling of the logs

Is in the air.

I am happy,

Pleased,

And rest.

Is it to be a happy day?

Do you think I am happy?

I wonder if you'll ever see me again.

I am happy,

Pleased,

And rest.
