Cross-Country Runs Have Produced
Good Runners, Men Urged to Turn Out

A year ago this fall the Willamette cross-country team was led by the first cross-country race in the history of the College of Puget Sound. A Stumptown fella who finished as winner of the race, closely pursued by Douglas Tatum and a Sterling man who took fourth place was Yates Van Patten. Van Patten had found himself in the second set, but had gone out and trained and had supplied considerably. Later on in the winter the Ponies were down to the inside and the men in the middle of the meet. There were many men who went through the meet and trained through the medium in the middle.

In three weeks the first run of this season will be held. While no one knows, Tatum and Fassett, will do, but it is certainly a hard line interest here and the meet will probably be called the Portland meet. The ponies were down to the inside and the main men in the middle of the meet. There

MARION AND WHITE CAPS

Where, oh where, are the marion and white caps that used to be seen everywhere? If you are a short while from Puget Sound College, you will see the long white hats on the heads of students and faculty, and they are very seldom seen this year.

It is true that the students of the various campuses and colleges who wear the cap or some sort, made in the colors of their school, are more noticeable around town. We have heard that the marion and white caps are emblematic of the College of Puget Sound in the old days when we wore them around town until we should at least wear them on the campus.

But when we think of our College and our traditions, so why not don the marion and white caps once more? Homecoming is new work for old hands that the love spirit that ever at Puget Sound.

MORE TRADITIONS

As Homecoming comes once more to Puget Sound, and the old traditions of the campus are on the menu, they will doubtless feel somewhat on our new campus. The Administration has not thought of the other traditions of the old days around town, that the students may recognize one of their traditions and feel at home.

Our marion and white caps are emblems of the College of Puget Sound and when we wear them around town we should at least wear them on the campus.

Editorial:

"The college of Puget Sound is one of the most beautiful schools in the whole Northwest, and the students are highly educated and intelligent. They are not only capable of handling themselves in the classroom, but are also able to compete with the best of the West. Puget Sound is a school that is proud of its traditions and its students."
