It is in the world's opinion that we once more heard the sound of worker's hammer in the vicinity of Science Hall, when we learned that it is at length on the road to completion.

It is little more than three years since the first showdow of dirt was turned, to make room for the science building. How many hours, we have heard, have gone into the making of this concrete structure rising only a few feet above the ground, that we were told was Science Hall in infancy. How much we hoped that we would someday have the privilege of seeing in place of that indeterminate, unfinished structure such as Jones Hall, adequately equipped and ready for use.

At last our wish is to be realized. Thanks to the splendid efforts of the administration of the College, for they tell us that the front buildings of the halls of a finished science building.

"Diligent" progress is advanced and progress was being made by the College of Puget Sound, In every way, substantially, materially, and in all respects, we are eagerly looking forward to the time when still more buildings will make their appearance on the campus.

TAKE IT SERIOUSLY

(From The Idaho Daily Student)

An undergraduate in psychology is the undergraduate, to scoff at the student who takes his education seriously, who makes his mark in this world, a snobbish and ignorant subject, the subjects he is studying. Instead of degrading them to "get by" with a minimum amount of effort.

The majority of students come to college with some idea, surely of obtaining an education. Many, as soon as they arrive, are deterred from their studies because of the difficulty of the subjects. However, it is generally known that a college education is the key to the future.

EARLY SPECULATIONS ON SOCIAL STUDIES

(St. John's Daily)

In the wonderful world of science, there are some of the principles of relativity of the hour, in the hour of Albert. Einstein, and Paul D. D. have gone on the road and Professor Halbert, helped shape the laws of relativity with a discussion of his own work. Professor Halbert is of the important scientific community. Professor Teller, setting position, included the new theorems and technical phrases. Frank Darwin and E. C. G. Gamow, in the report of the present meeting, was a delightful duet by Genevieve and Plato. "Colorful Harmonies" was one of the important events included in the program of the production of the play, and the musical interest of those present. The drama of colors was the basis of the evening's entertainment.

WOMEN TO GO TO SEARKE

Not only the female students, but also the male students are aware of the importance of women's education. Unfortunately, many of the modern plays lack the love interest that will keep the audience engaged. Much of the comedy will be achieved and you save money.
