Senator Davis Speaks
On "Armistice Day"

To make an address on Armistice Day, Senator Davis entered in Puget Sound, according to the request of the Puget Sound Assembly, the P. S. A., in the School of Philosophy during the session of the Senate of the University of Washington, for the Friday meeting of the Puget Sound Assembly, the hour of 12:05, and the Senate Chamber on November 11, 1918, at 12:05, the Senator made the following address, in the form of a speech:

"Armistice Day! How fitting that on this day, the 11th of November, we should meet to commemorate the end of the most destructive conflict that has ever been known to mankind. The memory of the suffering and sacrifice of those who fought in the World War is still fresh in our minds, and we should not forget those who did not return to us. Let us give thanks to God for His mercies and blessings, and let us remember the sacrifices of the fallen and the wounded. Amen."

A POINT OF COURTESY

That this year's chapel programs do not measure up to the standards of previous years is acknowledged. However, it is important for students to make every effort to attend these programs, as they provide a opportunity to gain insight into the religious and cultural traditions of our community.

Perhaps this is somewhat tardy but the appreciation is perhaps merited. A respectful attitude towards the programs will bring us chapels which we can enjoy and not the embarrassment of the speakers, the faculty and the rest of the students.

Visitors to C. P. S. must not leave here with the false impression that we are rowdies. A respectful attitude towards the programs will bring us chapels which we can enjoy and not the embarrassment of the speakers, the faculty and the rest of the students.

In the keeping with the date of Friday the thirteenth, Delta Alpha Gamma Sorority will use the "unlucky" idea for their program at Broadmoor on that evening. This motif will be carried out in programs and favors with chrysanthemums and other tall flowers being used in decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. William P. McMillen and Warren Peters will be patrons and patronesses for the evening. Miss Elizabeth Elrod has headed the committee which has planned the affair.

Will Entertain at Broadmoor

The faculty and student body of the university are cordially invited to a reception in honor of the faculty on the evening of Friday, the thirteenth of this month. The reception will be held in the main hall of the university and is open to all registered students and faculty members.

The purpose of this event is to foster a sense of community and to strengthen the bond between the faculty and students. It is also an opportunity for students to meet and get to know their professors better.

The reception will feature a buffet dinner and dancing, with music provided by the university orchestra. There will also be a special guest speaker who will deliver a talk on the importance of higher education.

We hope that you will join us and enjoy the evening. It promises to be a memorable event for all who attend.
