South American Art Exhibit
On Display in Jones Hall

Heauton 13 of Jones hall has announced a exhibition of a selection of South American art which is being displayed during the current week. The exhibition is open to the students and the public to view the interesting selections.

The exhibition contains a variety of paintings, sculptures, and other art forms, all representing the rich cultural heritage of South America. The art pieces are carefully arranged, and the exhibition is housed in the gallery on the second floor of the building.

Many people have found the exhibit to be educational and authentic, having been born out of the talents of the artists from Peru, Brazil, and other South American countries. The exhibition is an excellent opportunity to view the artwork of these talented artists and appreciate the diversity of South American art.
Decision on Conference Is Wise Move by the College

Elliott Merrett of the Terrace Union has a good deal better understanding of the College of College Park than he has of the Associated Students of College Park. He is a good student, a good athlete, and a good athlete for the Union. But he is not a good friend of the College.

He does not think the College is doing a good job of running the Union. He feels that the College is not giving the Union enough money to operate. He also feels that the College is not giving the Union enough freedom to operate. He feels that the College is not giving the Union enough support.

He feels that the College should give the Union more money, more freedom, and more support. He feels that the College should give the Union more freedom to operate. He feels that the College should give the Union more support.

Soorities Revolt Spring Pledges

Monday evening, March 5, 1923, Kappa Phi formally invited its pledge class to pledge with the fraternity. The pledges held their meeting in the lower room of the college.

The pledge class was given speeches by the officers of the fraternity. Mrs. Irene T. P. Kassman, president of the fraternity, gave the opening address.

ORIGINS OF THE FRATERNITY

The Kappa Phi Fraternity was founded in 1922 in the University of Washington in Seattle, Washington. It was the first fraternity to be established on the campus of the University of Washington. The fraternity was founded by a group of students who were interested in forming a Greek-letter organization on the campus.

The fraternity was established with the support of the university administration, and the founder, Dr. W. F. W. Billings, was an active supporter of the fraternity from its inception.

The fraternity has continued to grow and expand, and today it is one of the largest and most respected fraternities on the campus.

The fraternity has a long and proud tradition of service to the university and the community, and it continues to be an active and influential force on the campus.

The fraternity is a strong and vibrant organization, and it continues to be a source of pride for the students and faculty of the University of Washington.
