Students Participate In All-Out Scrap Drive

CPS Students Cooperate in Tacoma War Drive

Sunday, November 1, will long live in the memory of Tacoma students and CPS students. On this day scrap for the tanks, ships, planes and guns so necessary to beat the Axis will come from the attics and basements of Tacoma homes. With the exception of the football squad, which will be busy scavenging the Wattamate Cate, CPS men, at a rally yesterday morning, voted to turn out in full force to haul and scrap metal in the citywide "Scrape the Axis" campaign beginning at 8 a.m. Sunday morning. The men will report at the city car barn where they will be assigned as helpers on some three hundred trucks which will make a complete "garbage collection" conformity.

General Collection Plan

The general drive plan are being requested over the city. The men will be placed near homes from top to bottom, to collect scrap metal and paper picking places before November 1. Selection of the men, Jim Jacobs, over three hundred trucks. Each man will be given a driver and three helpers will collect the scrap and old stuff in the certain element, where it will be sent to the loading mills. This collection effort was planned by the leaders of the drive.

Raymond in War Chest

Terry Bredin, member of the CPS War Chest, was on hand for scrap metal will be paid to the nearest place who receive Tacoma's metal. The metal is used for con- cern, for civilian defense and other purposes. Every gram is given by the students to the service of our country and their service and equipment.

Andrew Hall Participating

The 3rd Annual alumni, popular profession of political science, has challenged the students in participating in the drive. Andrew Hall, visiting Tacoma, has also entered the base drive to help salvage.

Rivalry Flourishes In Spirited Board-Growing Competition

In collaboration with the theme of conserving vital war materials CPS men have banded the use of razor blades for two weeks. They feel that in conserving the necessary items for home service is part of the war effort.

Sponsors Bill Glover and Jake Moore feel that this year more than ever it is necessary to move the cause further in the interest of the students. A permanent Homesteading may be said, as it has been suggested that such a battle is necessary to save the city. Students Urged to Collect Scrap

For City-Wide Salvage Campaign

With this issue of the Trail dedicated to promoting the scrap drive campaign, we try to upload the purpose of the War Board’s restrictions as suggested by the students. The earlier hours will enable them to attend social functions and to enjoy the campus scene.

Considerable comment was raised over the sneak question, with groups whose pledges haven’t yet sneaked enquired of permission that a provision should be made to lower the radar and restrict the use of canopy. If the sneaking were raised, there should be no reason why the groups couldn’t plan their sneaks, providing they complied with the above restrictions.

An avalanche of disapproval has met the proposed suggestion to eliminate canoes from formal dances. When a boy does ask a matter if I need my best girl flowers, the fellow will (Boy, I’ve got the money!"

In making this rule, we believe we are also following the wishes of our government, for unless unnecessary expenditures are stopped, a more diverse host for formal runaways is inevitable. If a stipulation exists, a group going on a trip must be made, showing that the money will be turned in a workable manner, and that the whole student body can receive credit, high of the opposition would be overcome. Saturday Game May Decide Conference Title

Puget Sound's undefeated Loggersretain this afternoon for Western's holiday the Bearcats in a game which may have a direct bearing on who wins the Northwest conference grid lid this year.

The Loggers, riding counterfeited and again (of week to week Thursday followed two days of the week Thursday) by a winner won street brawl. The sound is a good conditioned side through a couple of Coach Fack's blowers and (not having suffered in the CPS way over PLU) is)

Coach Fack intends to take as many of his players as is possible. The Bearcats, as usual, are as anxious to have both in the Loggers make Western in losing touch, ten ending with scores and losses and wins between the CPS way over PLU

Game Starting Lineup

The starting lineup for the Loggers will be the same as that which took the field against the Bearcats. Monday night's ball was scratched.
