Enrollment Figures Pass Expectations

Many States Represented by New Enrollees. Complete Figures for First Week Are Higher Than Expected.

First figure released from the Registrar’s office shows that enrollment for the spring semester at The College of Puget Sound reached 2,002 students. This is 100 more than the 1,902 registered students last spring, and 151 more than the 1,851 students enrolled in the College for fall semester.

Enrollment at 2,002 students is at and a partial renewal of enrollment, despite the fact that a large number of registered students are still not at or have returned to school due to recent changes in legislation regarding tuition.

The enrollment of 2,002 students is an indication that the College is not facing a decline in enrollment, but rather a continuation of its growth.

Commons Greets Rationing With Varied Substitutes

Our student body has been quick to adapt to the rationing policy that has been put in place. We have managed to find substitutes for many of the items that are now scarce.

For example, instead of our usual Coke, we now offer a variety of alternative drinks. We also have managed to find substitutes for some of our favorite foods, such as ice cream and hot dogs.

We are grateful to our students for their creativity and resourcefulness in finding substitutes for the items that are now in short supply.

Fighting Allies Benefit from
"Table" Sacrifices Made by Us

The United States has shipped more than a billion dollars' worth of food to its fighting allies under the Lend-Lease formula up to November 30, 1943, and this has been important in its war effort. This represents only a few forkfuls missing from the American dinner table, the Office of War Information disclosed this week.

Approximately a teaspoonful of milk, a pinch of sugar, half a slice of bread and an egg flopper full of coffee constitute the amount of food that is being shipped, and is what the government's policy of sending food to Russia and Britain.

Experts Study Selection Plan

A new technique for selecting students at the University of Washington is being studied by a group of professors, by which means can be selected to attend college under the recently-enacted Selective Service Act.

The idea is to make a list of students who have completed high school, and to select those who have the qualities that are most desirable for college students.

Recollections of "Melting Snow"

Here's how the story went:

Aunt Sarah was a very good cook, and she always made sure that there was enough food to go around. She would put out a big pot of soup every day, and everyone would gather around the table to enjoy the warmth and comfort it brought.

But sometimes, even with all the soup, there was never enough. Aunt Sarah would have to make do with whatever she had left over from yesterday, and sometimes that wasn't much.

This is how she would make do:

1. Add more water to the pot
2. Add some vegetables, like carrots and potatoes
3. Simmer gently until the vegetables are soft

The good Doctor identified the confusions as they passed by, and said that the lemon had rested in the middle of the table until the end of the meal. The lemon was the subject of a severe dressing down by the host, and the appeal of aWilliams in this matter. Of course, I know the

Home Cagers Win Over Lytle Squad

At St. Francis, Danielson tickled the twine for 21 points as he sparked the Loggers to a 45-28 over much improved Pacific Lutheran squad on the Parkland stage last Friday.

At St. Francis up 10-2 in this opening period, the PSU pups were throwing the ball at random, while the Loggers were deliberately aiming for the basket. Once the Loggers had the ball, it seems, they couldn't miss.

Two minutes after the tipoff, Danielson wound up with 10 for the Loggers, while the PSU boys were still trying to score. After that, the Loggers went on a 15-0 tear, bringing the score to 25-10. The Loggers then had the ball eight times on this 15-point drive, and only missed one shot.

After two weeks of hard training and practice, the Loggers are beginning to show their sincerity. They look much improved in all phases of the game.

The Loggers outrebounded the PSU boys 20 to 13, although the PSU boys shot better from the field, having made 7 of 19 shots, as compared to 3 of 12 for the Loggers.

The Loggers' only basket of the first half came after the 15-0 tear. It was a 3-point shot put in by Bob Roehl with just a few seconds remaining in the half. The PSU boys ended the half with five points, but the Loggers had knocked down 12 baskets to the PSU boys' nine.

After the half, the Loggers' shooting improved, while the PSU boys' remained the same. The Loggers showed more pep, and the PSU boys grew tired.

At the buzzer the Loggers had 36 points, while the PSU boys had 17. The Loggers had made 11 of 20 shots, while the PSU boys had made 4 of 14.

The Loggers played their usual style of fast break, with Danielson doing most of the damage. He scored 10 of his 21 points in the second half.

When the Loggers couldn't put the ball in the basket, they couldn't stop shooting, and they didn't seem too worried about their shooting percentage.

After the Loggers scored 12 points in a row, they went on another 10-point tear, bringing the score to 57-15. The Loggers then scored 10 more in a row, and the game was over.

The Loggers' next game is scheduled for next Tuesday, when they will play the University of Puget Sound. The Loggers lead the CPS conference, and the PSU boys are second.

The Loggers are now 7-3 in conference play, while the PSU boys are 5-5.
