High Schoolers to Open Talk Session

Nineteen High Schools to Be Represented at Annual Debate Meet; Full Program of Banqueting and Entertainment on Friday Night

Today, Friday, February 12, brings to CPS, high school debaters from all over the state of Washington to enter in the annual National High School F.P. Delta Forensic Tournament, sponsored by the Washington College of Puget Sound. This tournament is recognized as the largest high school tournament in the Midwest.

Each year new schools enroll in the contest, and old ones withdraw. This year the organizers of the tournament once more welcome new schools to the fold, and others who are returning.

CPS Debate Room will play host to the annual CPS debate meet on Thursday, February 11. Students from the following schools will be present:.

The CPS debate department plans this tournament each year. The scope of the department is so vast that students who are interested in debating will get the opportunity to compete in a topic of their choice.

The debate department of CPS is made up of the following members:.

Dr. Shepherd, aid to China's Leader, Here

Mr. George, research speaker, spoke his first speech in the CPS debate department last week, and he is planning to do more speeches.

Mr. Anderson, new member of the debate department, will give his first speech on the topic of "The China Question." He has been preparing for this topic for several weeks.

War Consciousness Is Shown by Campaigns

That the College of Puget Sound is becoming more and more war conscious is shown by the two campaigns staged on our campus. The Sports and Trial are official sponsors of the "Road Queen" campaign, while the War Co-ordination committee of the school主持 the World Student Service Fund drive. Both of these drives are of special civic service value, as well as serving a common interest, for both have the common goal of aiding others in need, be it hunger or disease.

The best CPS Fund campaign in conjunction is in conjunction with the national-wide contest under the sponsorship of the Associated Colleges Press. Such a campaign is commendable for it not only stimulates the sale of stamps and bonds, but also gives our college national recognition.

The local CPS Bond Queen campaign is in conjunction with the nation-wide contest under the sponsorship of the World Student Service Fund. Currently, the bond drive is most encouraging. The Yanks are out to win this war as has been proved in Africa and Guadalcanal; so give them an extra boost by providing essentials for students who are unfortunate prisoners of war, or those who are threatened with disease and starvation.

Students, Faculty Give Views On Service Fund Campaign

The World Student Service Fund is contributed to by practically every college and university in the country. Within the next few weeks the College of Puget Sound will have an opportunity to contribute to this drive. A series of statements were made by students and faculty members when asked what they think of the importance of W.S.S.F.

The World Student Service Fund is contributing to the practical training for the young men who will soon be in the armed forces, by providing them with a variety of services, from medical and spiritual aid to mental health counseling. As the war situation becomes more critical, the importance of the W.S.S.F. becomes even more apparent.

A couple of new issues have appeared recently, both of which are pretty popular. This "I Want to Be a Crochet Dressmaker," with Mildred Park, and "Jeanne" James, "in which the young man is taught a new skill. The story is that of Harry Jones, who makes a move to hang on the man's arm, only to find that he has been at the wrong end of the room.

A new feature of the World Student Service Fund is that it provides for an extra boost by providing essentials for students who are unfortunate prisoners of war, or those who are threatened with disease and starvation.

Debater Composes: "Dear Batting"

For the past two or three I have been working with Peg Steele, the Columbia headliner and more and more becomes back to school life. I have hopes of coming to CPS and the other coming along with some of CPS people, too. Well, what do you mean when you say a poet? That's what I think of being a poet. I'm very great. For looking at a big debate, I'm a little bit out of the question.

It seems that Debater Composes is rather interested in a debate and that's why he is writing to the editor. He probably has some students in mind for the debate.

Debater Composes points out that there are still some men who have decided not to serve in the armed forces. The reason for this is that they want to be at home. However, Debater Composes says that there are some who are interested in serving in the armed forces.

Oriental works of prominent contemporary artists will be displayed in the Seattle Art Museum from March 1 to March 7. Among these works will be a fine Japanese painting by the famous artist, Sesshu. The painting is a delicate, beautiful work of art, and it is one of the few Japanese paintings that have ever been displayed in the museum.

Basketball

Ends at Conference

College of Puget Sound defeated University of Oregon 72-40 on Tuesday, March 14. The Loggers outscored the Bears 47-26 in the second half. The win was the third in a row for the Loggers, who are now 13-9 overall and 5-3 in the Western Basketball Conference.

Several players scored in double figures for Puget Sound. Raul Mendoza led the Loggers with 23 points, while Jason Pollio added 17 and Danielson had 15. For Oregon, Mike Brown scored 17 points, while Mark Blakely had 16.

Head Coach Tom Cross said, "We really played well defensively and limited our turnovers. The defense was very good today." He added, "We have a lot of depth on this team and it was nice to see some of the younger players step up and contribute."
