Many Awards

Are Given To College Colleagues

Today's Award Assembly held in the Old Main chapel saw CP's students, faculty and alumni present in record numbers. Among the outstanding awards made was the Todd Scholarship Cup given to Betty Armour as the student with the highest scholarship for the year. Edith Peterson was the recipient of the Women's Educational Award, presented in memory of the year's outstanding student in this department because of acting ability and attitude.

Each year the senior class selects three Greeks from the one who has been their most inspirational and valuable member. This year that award, the Amphion Cup, was given to Paul Pruit, The Woman of Rotary Award presented to Jeannine McGoullagh.

For the first time in many years there were no men's athletic awards. However, the WAA made the announcement of the presentation of the "White" sweater to the senior boy's athlete of the year. However, the year's Most Valuable Player was awarded to Football. The award went to Fess Fuller. The presentation of the Basketball Trophy, this year went to the Delta Alpha Gamma. Also, in memory of the former president of the Inter-sorority Cup, the presentation went to Jackie Stanford.

The Richard Simmons Memorial Award is given each year presented to the student who has given the most inspirational limited achievements. This year’s award went to Mary Ann Travis.

College of Puget Sound has recently been afforded state-wide notice as the result of the work of Dr. Paul R. Fossum, a member of the faculty, who is chairman of the "Mayor's Research Committee on Urban Problems." The group was organized two years ago under appointment of Mayor Harry P. Cain with the commission to create plans for the building of post-war Tacoma.

A 150-page printed report has been just issued, called "Tacoma, the City We Build," replete with maps, charts, diagrams and tables, and proves to be a study directed, not merely toward a future Ta­coma, but toward a picture Washin­gton and Pacific Northwest.

The report includes recommendations for three vehicular tunnels, one in the South slope, and a "knee" in the city, a civic auditorium, a green belt to downtown and to replace obsolete structures in neighbor­hoods of Puget Sound.

Specific projects recommended for Tacoma include relocation of the present stadium high school, a new bus line and a "knee" in the air, a civic auditorium, a green belt to downtown and to replace obsolete structures in neighborhood areas and various steps to provide better facilities for marketing, bus travel and auto parking.

The Navy has recently been recruited in the army's geographic branch in New Caledonia. What does he say about the matter? A kind of issue that is almost too few questions; for now I'm the one who asks the question.

Another cop graduate fulfilling here that is Janet Bichard. Receiving her commission as ensign at Newport, she is now on her way to Virginia to study radio and radar.

Write back to Eugene Norm Anderson. What is the phenomenon? It is in better physical condition than when they left? (Perkin has his ideas on the subject. Ask him sometime.)

Yes, we have had a distinctly eventful year. Now we give our college, our spirit will long live in the hearts of all.

College Life
By Mary Joanne Rogers

The purpose of this column is to spotlight students at the University of Puget Sound, that part of our education where we are expected to put practically all the knowledge we gain from books and lecture rooms. Throughout the year, we try to get articles on nearly every phase of campus life... recreation, commitments, organizations, courses; now in this last is- sue we will feature college traditions.

About this time every year, the discussion of the whole student body, and especially the junior's direction towards the future are of great concern. Now we are more than ever aware of the top class. The following traditions are to be found in the classes below. The seniors, with their mark and the last but least The Trail, made the entire student body quite happy.

This year an old tradition was revived which has lain dormant for the past eight years. The tradition is entertaining the seniors with a basket ball game.

Seen another tradition will oc- cur when the seniors pass through the portals of the home of Arleigh Eshleman. The color post, a tradition. The tradition, the joy, you even the College of Puget Sound is a tradition to the students; a tradition for the learning.

Christian religion and fine arts in the fall, we see green beacons, in the spring we see crops and grains and in the summer, in another class, each taking its place and mixing the traditions with its presence. What the traditions of the freshman mean to us individually is not as important as what is most important the traditions which mark the time of such a state of the school.

You can go anywhere on the campus without encountering a tradition. Forever bunting the college world are traditions of knowledge, colleges and fellowship.

The class of the Lambda affair was Helen Miller assisted by Venita Smith, Mote Blandon, Katharine Trotter, Beatrice Nite, and Beverly Berlins. Special guests of the Lambda ladies were Mrs Paul Schaff, chairman for the Theta and Omega ladies party were Janis Eisenberg, Katharine Armstrong, Thelma Dora Helen, Gammage.

Modern Says:
Mr. Rice announced the engagement of Bessie Greer to Carl Baird. The news was announced to Kappa Sigma Theta sisters at a party given by Mrs. R. Franklin Thompson.

Sorority Alumnae Honor Members

Alpha Beta Upsilon Alumnae will be honored by the active group May 4 with a picnic supper at the new Beef. Point Defiance. Committee planning the affair were: Mary Grace Smith, Burris Greer, Mary Hope Hammerschmidt, Mrs. Marvin H. Bernier, John Elkins, Florence C. Blandon, Dorothy Mott, Bertie M. Bevington, and Helen E. Berlins.

Mrs. Modern Says:

- ELECTRIC COOKING IS EASIER

When you plan to make dinner, it is easier when you can make it. Your electric range is not only efficient but easy to use. It's a real convenience when you have guests, you can brown a dish and keep hot at the same time. The range is cool to the touch. Your electric range will save you time and labor.

WAA Award Banquet Given For Girls Today under SUB

One of the most anticipated affairs of the year is the annual W. A. A. Awards Luncheon, which will be held in the SUB Friday, May 23, at 12:15. At this time the girls will be presented with hard-earned letters, sweaters and stickers.

Margaret Linderman, chairman for the affair, stated that the table decorations include gay colored streamers, spring flowers and colorful geometric patterns. Freshman girls serving will wear aprons of varied hues.

The only senior girl receiving a sweater was Potelle Gaddie, who has had outstanding natural ability for her years at CPB.

Third year sweaters will be presented to the following girls: Neida Peterson, June Shaffer, Kathryn Hendrickson, Betty Armour and Al- mira Marchesini.

Year Ends in Field of Sports

As the final week of intramurals draws to a close, we find the team’s spirit high in the same place that it was when it started. Bob Hamilton is still the general manager and Mr. Gibbs, the advisor. The equipment has taken a slight beating but has been used once or twice throughout the year. The locker room is just as causal as ever, and Otto Halleon is still ready and willing to issue equipment to anyone who desires to borrow it. All and all it has been an outstanding year. The co-recreation program which was carried on was a great success.

The handful of citizens, who organized, coached and managed our own team, should be praised for their persistence and enthusiasm. They have shown a true spirit, and represented the true Legion technique.

Women Athletes Reign in Graduating Class of '44

By JANE THOMPSON

During a girl's four years at college one very important phase of her life, if she is at all athletically inclined, is that of sports. The senior graduating class has within its ranks many outstanding women athletes, who have contributed their skill and dexterity to the W.A.A. and brought the Mara-

White, and Red; and among these we have Big Nel Peterson, who has participated in basketball, volleyball, baseball, hockey, and tennis; and recently, for two seasons, has worn a two-stripped sweater as a symbol of her efforts in sports. Fontelle Gaddis, retiring president of W.A.A. and another four-year sportswoman, has basketball, volleyball and baseball added to her name as well as the minor sports. These girls are in Eller Main, who will receive her sweater this spring, and has been a colorful and sporty player on the basketball and volleyball teams since she was a freshman. Eller main was chosen as the senior volleyball team which was the champion. A true athlete is Jackie Moore, representing both her society and her class in all sports and also serving as the manager of Women's Athletics for the past two years. She is a girl that tall and graceful seems, most at home in this sport. She brings her active part in sports, for she has one of the strong players on the Gamma basketball team. She has also shown in her ability in tennis, in volleyball, hockey and swimming. Our tennis star is no-other than Janice Linde, who is said to be a racket with as much speed and accuracy as you will see this season. This submenu, dressed in blouses has applied the same techniques to badminton, and ping-pong, and has added to her series to security basketball and volleyball.

Sports Program Plan Announced

The new expanded women's sports program has recently been announced by Betty Armer, general manager of women's athletics, and Miss Mann, advisor. The program will include every girl in the student body whether or not she is regularly enrolled in a physical education class. The general home suggested is "A girl for every sport, and at least two sports for every girl." With the loss of row from the campus, the Women's Athletics Association has taken on a foremost interest in the minds of coeds.

The following girls have signed up to manage for the incoming year: Hockey: Carol Hamilton; basketball: Margaret Lindeman; volleyball: Evelyn Marshall; badminton: Mary Agness; euros-

tice, Janice Lindeman; archery, My Myer; baseball, Estelle Ma-berg; hurdles, Ruby Smith; ping-pong, Jeanne McDougal, and swimming; Marilyn Wood. As yet the intercorps' sports program has not been decided.
