Chinese Educator Discusses Strength
President of Nanking University

President of Nanking University that "China Is Strong"

China is becoming a stronger and more unified country because of the war, says Dr. Yu Owan Chen, a Chinese speaker here last Friday. Dr. Chen is president of Nanking University in China, and has come to the United States to speak here by Dr. Martin, who was a former teacher of his in China some years ago.

Dr. Chen flew here five months ago on a special plane sent from China states since then. This is his first trip to this country. He started his talk here six years ago to attend the Dumbarton Oaks Conference and to defend his doctor's degree in graduate school.

Having spent so much time preparing for education to Dumbarton Oaks, says Dr. Martin, because of the war with Japan, "the Chinese have moved States as a necessity, and in increasing numbers, governments, and the Chinese food. Now, however, he states as much at home here as he did at Dumbarton Oaks, because of the part that China from which he came, with many mountains, markets, and faithfully lived up to the Japanese, which has been unlike anything like Imperialism to the Chinese in many years.

In regards to the political situation, Dr. Chen said that China could handle things without the need for revolutions, and started to rule themselves.

In his country, the Chinese people have been trying to end the cruelty, and end the war. The Chinese think of the war as a very slow, but great war because of the great size and vastness of their country. Also, they have much greater efforts to start a huge boulder rolling than small ones, but when the big one starts moving, nothing can stop it. This is the way with China's turn to democracy.

Now she definitely plans along this road, and will be expected to do so. She plans to start a revolution of the educated class, and for instead of divide and conquer, the Chinese have been more than equal before.

Chapel Speakers Tell of South America and Labor
Mrs. Margaret Sines Marston, graduate of CPS, who had an exchange fellowship in South America, returned recently to tell the students of her experiences in Chile, the land of extremes. The distribution of wealth in Chile is so extreme that the movies have characterized, thousands of people live in the splendor that while 300 families live in the splendor, the few live in the squalor of early serfdom. They work from sun-up till sun-down for a few pennies, returning at night to their beds made of warped wood, bits of scrap and cardboard.

Some of them even sleep under the bridges of the town for want of a shelter.

The United States has yet to know the great good neighborliness with the South Americans. The process is, however, a gradual one and a start has already been made.

Those who do not take this view are useless, and should be discarded, according to Dr. Thompson.

"In the past China was moved States as a necessity, and in increasing numbers, governments, and the Chinese food. Now, however, he states as much at home here as he did at Dumbarton Oaks, because of the part that China from which he came, with many mountains, markets, and faithfully lived up to the Japanese, which has been unlike anything like Imperialism to the Chinese in many years.

In regards to the political situation, Dr. Chen said that China could handle things without the need for revolutions, and started to rule themselves.

In his country, the Chinese people have been trying to end the cruelty, and end the war. The Chinese think of the war as a very slow, but great war because of the great size and vastness of their country. Also, they have much greater efforts to start a huge boulder rolling than small ones, but when the big one starts moving, nothing can stop it. This is the way with China's turn to democracy.

Now she definitely plans along this road, and will be expected to do so. She plans to start a revolution of the educated class, and for instead of divide and conquer, the Chinese have been more than equal before.

Chapel Box

On the occasion of Miss Ruth Melman, Lincoln High School drama director and graduate of the College of Puget Sound, the high school students at the Episcopal Methodist Church will present a modern three-act comedy January 19, at 3 p.m.

The play, "And Cams the Spring," is a good example of the trend, tells the gay and glib story of the Hartmans, and their comic and sometimes ribald experiences during the first week of spring. It's all in the line of "modern times," and will afford an evening of enjoyable entertainments.

An afternoon matinee performance will be given at the Lincoln High School, and the two evening performances will be given in the Episcopal Methodist Church, corner of South 8th and Anderson at 8:30 p.m. Admission is to be 30 cents including tax.

Some of the outstanding youth talent of Tacoma will take part in the presentation. Among them are Leonid Ravan, gifted pupil, who has appeared in many CPS plays in the past in young roles. Lewis Parkinson, who recently appeared in the Little Theater production of "Phillips of Greensboro," has been before the leading male role.

CPS Alum At Dumbarton Conference

An Alum of the College of Puget Sound has recently made national news in connection with the Dumbarton Oaks Conference. He is Dr. Harley A. Norton, who was the adviser to the United States delegation at the conference on the International situation.

"In the past China was moved States as a necessity, and in increasing numbers, governments, and the Chinese food. Now, however, he states as much at home here as he did at Dumbarton Oaks, because of the part that China from which he came, with many mountains, markets, and faithfully lived up to the Japanese, which has been unlike anything like Imperialism to the Chinese in many years.

In regards to the political situation, Dr. Chen said that China could handle things without the need for revolutions, and started to rule themselves.

In his country, the Chinese people have been trying to end the cruelty, and end the war. The Chinese think of the war as a very slow, but great war because of the great size and vastness of their country. Also, they have much greater efforts to start a huge boulder rolling than small ones, but when the big one starts moving, nothing can stop it. This is the way with China's turn to democracy.

Now she definitely plans along this road, and will be expected to do so. She plans to start a revolution of the educated class, and for instead of divide and conquer, the Chinese have been more than equal before.

Chapel Box

On the occasion of Miss Ruth Melman, Lincoln High School drama director and graduate of the College of Puget Sound, the high school students at the Episcopal Methodist Church will present a modern three-act comedy January 19, at 3 p.m.

The play, "And Cams the Spring," is a good example of the trend, tells the gay and glib story of the Hartmans, and their comic and sometimes ribald experiences during the first week of spring. It's all in the line of "modern times," and will afford an evening of enjoyable entertainments.

An afternoon matinee performance will be given at the Lincoln High School, and the two evening performances will be given in the Episcopal Methodist Church, corner of South 8th and Anderson at 8:30 p.m. Admission is to be 30 cents including tax.

Some of the outstanding youth talent of Tacoma will take part in the presentation. Among them are Leonid Ravan, gifted pupil, who has appeared in many CPS plays in the past in young roles. Lewis Parkinson, who recently appeared in the Little Theater production of "Phillips of Greensboro," has been before the leading male role.

CPS Alum At Dumbarton Conference

An Alum of the College of Puget Sound has recently made national news in connection with the Dumbarton Oaks Conference. He is Dr. Harley A. Norton, who was the adviser to the United States delegation at the conference on the International situation.

In the past China was moved States as a necessity, and in increasing numbers, governments, and the Chinese food. Now, however, he states as much at home here as he did at Dumbarton Oaks, because of the part that China from which he came, with many mountains, markets, and faithfully lived up to the Japanese, which has been unlike anything like Imperialism to the Chinese in many years.

In regards to the political situation, Dr. Chen said that China could handle things without the need for revolutions, and started to rule themselves.

In his country, the Chinese people have been trying to end the cruelty, and end the war. The Chinese think of the war as a very slow, but great war because of the great size and vastness of their country. Also, they have much greater efforts to start a huge boulder rolling than small ones, but when the big one starts moving, nothing can stop it. This is the way with China's turn to democracy.

Now she definitely plans along this road, and will be expected to do so. She plans to start a revolution of the educated class, and for instead of divide and conquer, the Chinese have been more than equal before.

Chapel Box

On the occasion of Miss Ruth Melman, Lincoln High School drama director and graduate of the College of Puget Sound, the high school students at the Episcopal Methodist Church will present a modern three-act comedy January 19, at 3 p.m.

The play, "And Cams the Spring," is a good example of the trend, tells the gay and glib story of the Hartmans, and their comic and sometimes ribald experiences during the first week of spring. It's all in the line of "modern times," and will afford an evening of enjoyable entertainments.

An afternoon matinee performance will be given at the Lincoln High School, and the two evening performances will be given in the Episcopal Methodist Church, corner of South 8th and Anderson at 8:30 p.m. Admission is to be 30 cents including tax.

Some of the outstanding youth talent of Tacoma will take part in the presentation. Among them are Leonid Ravan, gifted pupil, who has appeared in many CPS plays in the past in young roles. Lewis Parkinson, who recently appeared in the Little Theater production of "Phillips of Greensboro," has been before the leading male role.

CPS Alum At Dumbarton Conference

An Alum of the College of Puget Sound has recently made national news in connection with the Dumbarton Oaks Conference. He is Dr. Harley A. Norton, who was the adviser to the United States delegation at the conference on the International situation.

In the past China was moved States as a necessity, and in increasing numbers, governments, and the Chinese food. Now, however, he states as much at home here as he did at Dumbarton Oaks, because of the part that China from which he came, with many mountains, markets, and faithfully lived up to the Japanese, which has been unlike anything like Imperialism to the Chinese in many years.

In regards to the political situation, Dr. Chen said that China could handle things without the need for revolutions, and started to rule themselves.

In his country, the Chinese people have been trying to end the cruelty, and end the war. The Chinese think of the war as a very slow, but great war because of the great size and vastness of their country. Also, they have much greater efforts to start a huge boulder rolling than small ones, but when the big one starts moving, nothing can stop it. This is the way with China's turn to democracy.

Now she definitely plans along this road, and will be expected to do so. She plans to start a revolution of the educated class, and for instead of divide and conquer, the Chinese have been more than equal before.

Chapel Box

On the occasion of Miss Ruth Melman, Lincoln High School drama director and graduate of the College of Puget Sound, the high school students at the Episcopal Methodist Church will present a modern three-act comedy January 19, at 3 p.m.

The play, "And Cams the Spring," is a good example of the trend, tells the gay and glib story of the Hartmans, and their comic and sometimes ribald experiences during the first week of spring. It's all in the line of "modern times," and will afford an evening of enjoyable entertainments.

An afternoon matinee performance will be given at the Lincoln High School, and the two evening performances will be given in the Episcopal Methodist Church, corner of South 8th and Anderson at 8:30 p.m. Admission is to be 30 cents including tax.

Some of the outstanding youth talent of Tacoma will take part in the presentation. Among them are Leonid Ravan, gifted pupil, who has appeared in many CPS plays in the past in young roles. Lewis Parkinson, who recently appeared in the Little Theater production of "Phillips of Greensboro," has been before the leading male role.
New Year's Resolutions Are Many and Varied for '45

With the coming of the New Year, comes the familiar resolution-making each year, and broken in sight of two days, but as never before, determine to make them, and keep them.

One of the things that is to study hard, and get good grades, and to take part in all the activities available, to be friendly, and to have a sense of humor.

Getting down to facts, we find that those individuals who have good intentions are more likely to keep their resolutions. There's Jane Hill, who has resolved to drink only once a week, and is sticking to orange pop or spirit in between times.

Floyd Dixon, house boy delight, has decided to let the girls in Anderson Hall have all the butter they can eat, and is known for his sense of humor. He also plans to keep good and well red points, and to be friendly, while he's at it.

Jannette Raspberry, has resolved to get to classes on time, and what you do happen, Jan. 3, she walked into journalism class 10 minutes late. Broken already.

Dr. Jagger decided to make use of his Christmas presents, and to tell you those little black date cards, for the rest of the year.

"To write a letter each day to our friends and our friends in the service" is the resolution to all the "Windows of the campus," while the rest of us just decide to write to all the folks on real paper. However, we get to buy fewer clothes, but still bears the title of "a little to go on to the top," as we have a "complete" form. Then there are the rest of the resolutions, which are a lit bit too much, and are kept on schedule, and our studying done, while the members of the Staff staffed to attend to their work in time, in spite of wanting to sleep, or study.

Glimpses

One can see and hear the funnier things in a box. Just the other day, when I was sitting up toward the front of the box I overheard this conversation between a middle-aged lady and her bus driver. The lady was not too well acquainted with the streets and she wanted to make sure that she didn't go on past her street. When we reached Sixth street, she leaned cautiously out of the box and gave the driver a good poke with her umbrella. "Is that Back of California?" she asked. "No, ma'am," replied the conductor. "That's my stomach.

A soldier from the fort was telling me the other day of an amusing little incident that happened a short time ago. It seems that one of the officers forgot the password. "Bart!" he said, "What's the password?" "Major!" "Major Jones." "Sorry, I must have the password!"

Major: "I've forgotten it, but you know well enough to pass me by, Major!" "Don't stand there and argue with him, shot him," said Miss Thompson, my pal here will give us an imitation of a shot.

"What will he do, catch?"

"No, Thompson, my pal here will give us an imitation of that, he'll cut a worm.

The other day in biology (she usually couldn't name a bug, but today it was butterflies). She said that I was laughing on the expression on her face, and only after a shot of beer did she want to know all about it; so I was rather pleased. Two of the little boys in the class had brought in butterflies; they were anxious to have their teacher be their first customer. One of the boys said:

"If you will give a nickel, Miss Thompson, my pal here will give us an imitation of a shot."

"What will he do, catch?"

"No, Thompson, my pal here will give us an imitation of that, he'll cut a worm.

As the lights go on, and over our way the lights are really on, it's going to be a good year. Our oil burns far into the night, now that book reports, term papers, and finals are here. "Everything's go-back went on the rampage in the fabulous '20's. And we complain.

So why study?

Old Year History In Blood New Brings Hope of Peace

(Continued from Page One)

Still we can look ahead to this New Year with high aspirations and hope that by next Christmas our boys will be home for good. And, how stupid we are to wish this in one breath and in the next gripe about the fact that "I didn't have any bacon" or "There just isn't any butter to be had" or whatever.

The next 12 months may decide the fate of a nation; and of many nations and peoples. At our peace tables we must not forget that there has been war. It is in that year that we may see the outcome of peace plans and of what value they have. This year 1945 is not going to have a very easy time of it; but God is with us, and in the right we as the see the right it will be a year to remember.

Up to 1945 ... may it be a year of both victory and peace, and among all of us the world once again experience a time of peace and good will among men.
Formal Candelight Ceremony initiates Pledges Into Kappa Phi Church

An impressive candlelight service at Mason Methodist Church Tuesday night was the setting for the Degree of the light, national ceremony of Kappa Phi. The degree was conferred by the president of the organization, Miss Jean Shulter, president, and Mrs. Marion C. Meares, Polly Packard, Joan Thurston, and Kay Williams.

After the vows were the Misses Louise Armstrong, Jeanette Blake, Billie Packard, Joan Thurston, Helen Gary, Ruth Schermer, Jean Halen, Helen Hines, Thelma Hines, Polly Packard, Jean Thurston, and Kay Williams, for the readings and refreshments following the vows were the Misses Louise Armstrong, Jeanette Blake, Billie Packard, Joan Thurston, Helen Gary, Ruth Schermer, Jean Halen, Helen Hines, Thelma Hines, Polly Packard, Jean Thurston, and Kay Williams.

Campus Chatter

"There's music in the air," every one has heard in the past of the coming of the group of the class of '44. In drama, fiction, music, and every active representative of the feminine half of the student body, it is definitely on the air. When it comes to the social life, the voice of the "music" held recently under the roof of the Union Terra Hall, was pronounced one of the most successful dances, of all.

The Tattooed Thompkins who deserve the name soon filled the dance floor, and suddenly Stella Lamar, Bonnie Jean Anderson and Carol Tull, "baby members" of the Catholic Church, were revealed to all by many of the star performers of the evening. She and her partner, Roger C. E. F. Dun, Churchman class in the Christmas program, Peggy Rough, Lute Fennett, and William Y. Bergman, and the "All with all," is it any wonder that the church school spirit lives? This year? When there are students like these members of the Freshman class, can we lose.

CPS Symphony Plays Concert

The reed organs, the harpsichord, the violins, and the violas, a most excellent program of familiar classical music has been planned by Mrs. Karl Brinton will be guest soloist. All students, faculty members, college friends, and interested housewives are cordially invited to attend this concert, and an additional information program has been scheduled in the next issue of this school's weekly student newspaper.

In order to complete the orchestra, two more musicians are required, one immediately, for the tuba and one bass player. If there are any prospective persons who play these instruments and who would be interested in affiliation with this group, they are requested to contact Mr. Karl Kocer at the College of Music, Office of the President of this school. The concert will be held in the auditorium of the school, and an admission fee of $1.00 per person will be charged. The concert will be open to the public, and all interested persons are welcome to attend.

STUDENTS REMINDED TO PAY ALL FEES

With the end of the first semester, the drawing of the final accounting, the end of the year is rapidly approaching. Many students have not had the time to pay all their fees, and the office of the Business Manager is now taking care of this matter. All students are urged to pay their fees as soon as possible, and to notify the office of any changes in their accounts.

For College Wear

3-piece Suits

Skirt, Sweater and Slacks

Sweaters Just Arrived

WASHINGTON SPORTS SHOP

901 Pacific Avenue

Page 3

For Country Capers

Senoritas Choose New Officers For Next Semester At Meetings

With the coming of finals and thoughts of the new semester, two of the sororities held election of officers this week. Lambda Phi Epsilon recently voted the same set of officers for the entire year. The new officers for the sorority include Miss Judy Draper, re-elected president, and Miss Lois D. Armstrong, vice president; Mary Rough, recording secretary, and Ruth Schermer, corresponding secretary; Patricia Kotzen, treasurer; and Mary Adams, pledge mother; Mary Clark, historian; and Evelyn Marshall, athletic manager and Mary Anne St. John, publicity chairman.

Kappa Sigma Theta for the coming semester will be Miss Jean Halen, Faculty member for the sorority; Miss Lois E. Keene, vice president; Mary Jones Galagher, treasurer; Alice Ann Cross, corresponding secretary; Beatrice Ryan, recording secretary; and Mary Adams, pledge mother.

Eventful Week Staged Recently By Beta Pledges

Pulling out what they termed a "surprise move," the Beta Pledge Members gave a program recently at the Cinematique. One of the highlights of the evening was a program on the art of film, presented by Miss Betty Ford, and an interview with the visiting film critic, Miss Betty Ford. Miss Betty Ford was introduced to the members by the Sigma Chi, and Miss Betty Ford was the speaker of the evening.

Lambda Sneakers Foiled On Attack

Pledge of Lambda Sigma Chi sorority staged an unsuccessful effort to keep us out of the house on Saturday night, when members kidnapped Joy Adams. Recently they attempted a sneak, but were foiled by the kidnapping of Missie Harrod.

The group was to meet, along with pledge mother, Marie E. Elleborse, and a few others in the college store down by Annie Wright Seminary. Following this, their destination remained unknown to members. Their efforts were in vain, however, because Beverly Belford, Beverly Hearst, Deanna eggens, and Helen Miller spotted Joy down to the home of Catherine Lentz.

Pledges who took part in the escapade include Colette Altmann, Barbara Crobrough, Vernon Barton, Janice Wylder, Marie E. Elleborse, Missie Harrod, and Joy Adams. Dotha Smock and Missie Harrod.

Lambda Pledge Four New Freshmen Girls

Recently pledges to Lambda Sigma Chi sorority are the Misses Dotha Smock, Missie Harrod, Katherine Ullner, and Joy Adams. Missie Harrod is their pledge mother.

"Latin Fantasy" Formal Dance Huge Success

South America, its romance, mystery, romance and beauty, was home for this year's Inter-sorority formal dance held January 8 in Kettredge Hall. "Latin Fantasy" was the same theme for the affair. Dancing was from 9:00 to 11:30 with music supplied by Red Rock orchestra.

General chairman for the event was Miss Jean Halen. Representatives of the four sororities attending for her were Miss Polly Packard, Alpha Beta Upsilon; Miss Mary Louise Guthrie, Lambda Sigma Chi; Miss Laura Jean Logan, Delta Alpha Theta; and Misses Emma Rawls, Kappa Sigma Theta.

Faculty members asked to act as parents and patrones were Dr. and Mrs. R. Franklin Thompson, Dr. Miss Emily H. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Warren G. Tomlinson, Dr. and Mrs. Marion Shafter, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford. A general invitation was extended to all faculty members, and members of the independent student group. Special guests for the evening included a number of service personnel from Fort Lewis.

"Country Capers" Proves Success

Guilty ignored over the sign which women students gathered for their annual sorority sports event sponsored by Women's Alliance.

The theme for the party was an evening of group games, volleyball, ping-pong and badminton — with decorations carrying out the country theme complete with haycocks, coop nests, hay bales and paid shores. Highlight of the evening was a volleyball game between the men of the faculty and the women students.

Miss Jean Shulter, president of the sorority, after reading the minutes of ceremonies for the program which consisted of several readings by Mrs. Jean Shulter, President of the Alliance, the rhythm dances presented by Misses Margaret Gallaway, Martha Atkinson, Charlotte Counts and Betty A. Cummings, a self-decorated item on posters given by Mrs. Earl Mann, girl "R. F. R. instructor; a quiz program participated in by Mrs. Lyle Ford Drumholt, and Misses June Larson and Mary Anne Galagher; and finally a few songs by the Beta Pledge group led by Miss Mamie Blane — Misses Helen Lane, Missie Harrod, Jeanie L. Keene, Betty Ford, Miss Betty Ford, and Jeanie L. Keene — Misses Helen Lane, Missie Harrod, Jeanie L. Keene, Betty Ford, Miss Betty Ford, and Jeanie L. Keene.

Kappa Sigma, Thelma Hardy, June Larson, Marion Van Amber, and Missie Harrod represented the members of the Lambda, while Misses Helen M. Lewis, and Missie Harrod, and Kay Williams, were patronesses of the affair.

The WFB is about to permit manufacture of pencil sharpeners, ice cream dresses, rotary type egg beaters, pot scrubbers and can openers.

SWEATERS Just Arrived

Selden's

Pacific Avenue

Klopfenstein's

902 Broadway—427

KELLEN - ELLIS

19th and Broadway—2150

405 Broadway Theater Building

Spranger & Jones

JEWELERS

In the heart of Fraternal Jewelry

1154 Broadway

Oh! ANTIQUE...
CPS Defeats PLC

In Basketball

CPS defeated PLC to the tune of 48 to 41 last Friday night. The score changed hands several times before an exciting end was high point man for CPS with 13 counts while Norden's was high point man for PLC with 17 points.

CPS defeats PLC

Addison, f -...... 6
Brown, f -........... 7
OGilvie, f -......... 13
Campbell, g -.... 11
Rusk, g -........... 2
PLC:
Nordem, f -........ 7
Norman, f -......... 6
Kumatsch, c -...... 7
Brummier, g -...... 2
Lauren, g -.........
Substitutes:
CPS - Hunter, 3

This is the third straight victory in a row for the CPS team. They defeated Auto Sales of the City League by the score of 46 to 40 and then took the Tacoma outing to the tune of 46 to 41. Chuck Howard scored 19 points in those games, scoring 19 points in the Auto Sales game and 35 in the best game.

Statemanship

Senator Mead of New York observed in a Senate Committee of administration relations with automobiles that the "American automobile industry is the best in the world," but they ought to take care of those harness horses so as to make sure that the owners of harness horses get what they are entitled to have.

To that Senator Graham of the great automobile manufacturing State of Michigan replied with a smile, "I do not believe that there is such a thing as a harness horse, and if there were, it would be a blessing to this country."

Bill Nears, CPS freshman, was all aglow on the subject of a horse for such a group this past summer. He had obtained an elementary knowledge of Spanish in high school and coupling this with the fact that he had conversed daily with the horses at summer's end and Bill had learned to speak Spanish rather well. He is now majoring in languages and music.

Australia contains the most perfect land of camels, marsupials, trees and lizards.

As the former center of civilization, Daly is the name of some of the world's oldest libraries.

Maryland was named for Queen Henrietta Maria of England.

Proctor Pharmacy

Fulton's Bakery

Distinctive PRINTING...

Bookbinding SERVICES...

ALLSTRUMP PRINTING CO.

La Pore's College Food Store

Blythe's Meat Market

FLOWERS for every occasion

CORSAGES

FARLEY'S Florists

6th and Anderson

THE BEST FOOD

THE BEST SERVICE

Open All Night

THE MECCA

1156 Commercial

January 15

W. A. A.

College Life

By Bob Winthihn

New York City is always an interesting time. People deem it necessary to raise whoops, the sometimes the death rate, in order to see the New York stage play, and to win the New Year in, and a new era. Our social footnotes necessary to note the flaws ahead, but the most important is the new members of this student body this year. Three of us, with the others, thought that we would go out into the wilderness and enjoy our primitive life first hand. We bought, in pouring, of New Year's coming upon a day, so as not to wear them, and among trees; but with indomitable light heartedness we journeyed the Battle Ground before the turn of the year, to the Hammers-Hammers River in the heart of the Olympic Mountains.

To begin with it was a long field for those who were not in condition. John Barnaby pulled and tumbled; and his skin, fastened on the pack, looked like tattered pola. Paul Raymond had more to carry than any of us, but his I just stumped along.

We reached Lower Lena Lake that evening. There was snow on the ground, but the trees were bare. Our view was burned; but we went to bed in high spirits that night.

When the sky broke the next morning, three of us, myself, my sister and Dave Reynolds,照样默默地, while the others watched in horror as the days till dawn, and tried all day to climb mountains. The snow was piled so high that all would have been lost had it continued to snow longer.

I was so cold that my long fingers folded into my sleeping bag, and it was so wintry my ears crackled, and in that pitch black machine whenever I crushed my teeth. I was not sure of the summit.

After we had gotten back to the shelter, where our main efforts consisted in drying our wetting apparel, and of finding a place for every snow shoe, we learned that it was New Year's Eve, and suggested that we welcome it with appropriate noises and songs.

Because I was a little tired I sat with my coffee and song (for the first time in my life), not entirely in sympathy with the singing being done, as you am sure that I was greatly stitting him with an ice axe, I went to bed and tried to sleep.

All-Stars

Chosen In Two Sports

With the ending of this season's hockey and volleyball tournaments, the W. A. A. called and arranged a meeting of all the girls who have been chosen for such of the All-Star Volleyball Teams, while at least half the positions in the two All-Star Hockey Teams, by Bill Hackett, were reserved for members of the student body this year. Three of us, with the others, thought that we would go out into this wilderness and enjoy our primitive life first hand. We bought, in pouring, of New Year's coming upon a day, so as not to wear them, and among trees; but with indomitable light heartedness we journeyed the Battle Ground before the turn of the year, to the Hammers-Hammers River in the heart of the Olympic Mountains.

To begin with it was a long field for those who were not in condition. John Barnaby pulled and tumbled; and his skin, fastened on the pack, looked like tattered pola. Paul Raymond had more to carry than any of us, but his I just stumped along.

We reached Lower Lena Lake that evening. There was snow on the ground, but the trees were bare. Our view was burned; but we went to bed in high spirits that night.

When the sky broke the next morning, three of us, myself, my sister and Dave Reynolds,照样默默地, while the others watched in horror as the days till dawn, and tried all day to climb mountains. The snow was piled so high that all would have been lost had it continued to snow longer.

I was so cold that my long fingers folded into my sleeping bag, and it was so wintry my ears crackled, and in that pitch black machine whenever I crushed my teeth. I was not sure of the summit.

After we had gotten back to the shelter, where our main efforts consisted in drying our wetting apparel, and of finding a place for every snow shoe, we learned that it was New Year's Eve, and suggested that we welcome it with appropriate noises and songs.

Because I was a little tired I sat with my coffee and song (for the first time in my life), not entirely in sympathy with the singing being done, as you am sure that I was greatly stitting him with an ice axe, I went to bed and tried to sleep.

Tudo marcha perfeitamente... Have a Coke

(EVERYTHING’S GONNA O.K.)