Help! Help! Help!

Is this the cry of a freshman buried in a registration line?

No. It's the frantic appeal of an editorial staff minus those elements which are essential to a newspaper — namely, reporters.

We want to publish a Trail which will be representative of the College. Since we believe that this College is one of the best, we want to portray this College now, as it is in the rest of the world. We've been here for some time, but we need your help to do a better job.

If you would like to serve your school and are interested in journalism, we promise you that you wouldn't exactly have to sacrifice your studies. If you are unable to contact one of the editors, a note left on the Trail desk will secure you an immediate interview.

P. R. We need chaliers, too!

Faculty Notes

Dorm Dora

Just to keep the records straight, we decided to gather some facts about the professor who will organize the first CPS band to function in several years.

There is a music professor here whose name is Herbert Hurn. He does not lead the band — he plays the horns. The man who plays the horns is John A. O'Connor, our new band instructor.

There is a music professor here as well, who has been playing the horns is John A. Connor, our new band instructor.

The Trail will secure you an interview.

Janet V. Billings, Helina Caputo.
