900 Students Pass Color Post In Matriculation

Approximately 900 students passed through the color post quadrant this morning signifying their official enrollment in the student body of the College of Puget Sound this morning. The tradition of the college is that of the color post ceremony in which each new class participates. Four years from now, when the class graduates, they will again pause at the color post and become a part of the family of alumni.

It is usually a time when the traditions and that part of the school which grows in the heart of one, and in his mind and soul as he grows, is brought out and presented to the student body in order that they may learn to love their alma mater as have all those who have gone before, comments Dr. Ralph Franklin Thompson, president of the college.

It is fitting and right that this year especially we should observe Matriculation Day at the College of Puget Sound because we have returning to our halls a good many who have left the service. A hundred out of a thousand of our students that went into the service did not return. This year, as we go into an era of peace, it is likewise fitting and right that we should observe our privileges as individuals and at the same time our responsibilities as individuals, both to the faculty, and the administration of the College of Puget Sound.

Loggers Play First Home Game Here Saturday Since '42

In their first home game of the season next Saturday afternoon in the Stadium, the Loggers will try to duplicate their one-sided victory over the Pacific University eleven in their last home game that of the Homecoming weekend in 1942; four long, workman, football-hungry years ago.

To some of the Lumberjacks, notably Vic Martinez, Ralph Landvall, Jack Spitzer, Jim Rice and Darrell Swenson, who were in on that big walkway in '42, the Loggers are an old foe.

*It was a corps of the veterans of that game think about their chances in the coming encounter. Vic Martinez, left half, "I wasn't a very tough game that year and I don't know much about their ball defense, but I think and hope we'll beat them again," Darrell Swenson, right half, "I know we'll beat them — we have a better team than we had that year and should stack up against them pretty well."

Coach Patrick emphasizes the fact that the Loggers, too, have a stronger team than they had that year, as witnessed by its 6-0 upset over Whitman last weekend, but is hoping for a victory in their first conference game.

P.S.: come on, let's get 'em! We've got the men, we've got the pep! Come on Loggers, let's get 'em!

A favorite of the fine arts (private type, you are one out of 240. No one except a music student may be considered as enjoying the music department's appreciation class has 81. Well, it could be only 700. Need I say more?

While money for the new dorm is needed, we still have a long way to go. We hope all of you will support us in our efforts. We have been asked to carry the torch of high ideals and moral standards. Are we going to let that torch fall?

I mentioned the torch before. It seems good to see a good torch still burning. It seems good to see that torch still burning. It seems good to see that torch still burning.

Leonard Raver, Student Accompanist Leaves For Army; Sister Replaces

The long arm of Uncle Sam pointed out one of the supporting ranks of the music department when Leonard Raver left Wednesday afternoon for the army. According to Clyde Kenter, head of the department, the vacancy he left will be filled by his sister Rutha, who has graduated from the department and is going to work as a secretary for the department. Rutha Raver was to have been an organ student in the music department last spring and, had the situation not been changed, she would have been an organ student in the music department last spring.

In a surprise last Friday when Leonard announced that he had enlisted for eighteen months in the most talented and promising class in the music department and his plans will be held until he returns home, confirmed Professor Kenter.

At Christ, Leonard, besides his work in the music department, played for many chapel programs and will be remembered by his contribution to Dickens' Christmas Carol. It is a habit of the school to limit them to formal programs of his musical achievements in the school, as far as his musical education in the college. Lenny, as his name is spelled in the family, gives the Homecoming play last year.

When Leonard was assigned to Epworth Methodist Church where he gave an organ concert, he had played for many weddings and accompanied several lighting his career titles for as a graduate in July Thursday. High- distinction by the Women's Musical Club last week.

Several Players Red in the Only and Winning Touchdown. Scribes, he beat Whitman last week. Hermsen, tackle, aggravated an old injury departmen. According to some, he wasn't enough. He romped over for Woodie. "Woodie" Wood, who proved to be a ballplayer type fullback and a great kicker, should get the call at the line of scrimmage. "Handsome Bob" Robbins will spell Woodie in that position. Kenny Vollman, the man from Chicago, looks like the logical choice for Kicker. The fullback position will be divided between Vic Mar- sen and "Noel" Orlando, who broke away for two long runs in the Viking game. At night half two runningbacks, Doriell Sweeney and Tommy Buffin are a-tight.

In spite of some silly accidents, however, turnovers are a tremendous success, with approximately 12 girls playing. The fortunate sophomoresemester outnumber the other classes. Since class games began last Monday, it is as yet too early to de- cide who has the edge.

The ball is crisp. The ball is beautiful. Three freshman girls who were among the technique are Jean Zipf, Owen Jones, and Richelle Garthine.

Radio Club Meets Monday

Officers of the Radio Club are sure that every Monday night will be a success. It occurs in room 34 of Howard Hall. "We want to invite anyone interested to attend," says Ed LaChab- bas. We are sure that the Logger's cricket club will be invited. Hence the name Christian, Woodie. Woodie. Woodie, the referee of the game, but all any visitor on a football club asks is a fair shake.

Coach Pete Patrick made numerous trips to the center of the field to ask for interpretations of Hagerty's puzzling decisions. On one occasion even the squad of League benchwarmers rushed to the sidelines to protest to an official in a uniform and a call on a fumble play near the end zone. Washington benchmen were nowhere near the edge. The words were bogged down on the 15-yard penalty.

This column is supposed to give the Logger star of the week. In the last Saturday's game, radio magician and his announcers lost the game due to the poor officiating that predomi- nated the game, but all any visitor on a football club asks is a fair shake. We are not trying to say that the Loggers lost the game due to the poor officiating that predomi- nated the game, but all any visitor on a football club asks is a fair shake.
