Chorus of 150 Will Present Handel's "Messiah" December 8

By Frances Swenson

A chorus of approximately 150 voices, a 30-piece orchestra, and four soloists will present Handel's "Messiah,"经手于 Handel, Sunday, December 8, at 4:30 p.m. in the auditorium. The entire program will be broadcast over KOMO, Tacoma radio station.

Chorus director is Claude Keuter, head of the CPS music department, choirs from various Tacoma churches and the Adelphi Concert Choir in singing the Christmas section of "The Messiah," ending with the well-known "Hallelujah Chorus."

Four Solos Include Faculty

Solos will be Miss Eris Mae Cranner, soprano, and Mr. Evan Ransdell, voice director of the CPS music faculty; Mrs. Weiber Waer, contralto, and Mr. Eugene Koll, tenor, both of Seattle.

Thirty pieces from the Puget Sound College choirs and the Seattle symphony orchestras. They have been rehearsing under the direction of President R. L. Powell of the Tacoma Choir Aid Production.

Art Students Visit State Museum

Students of the art classes and their instructors made a visit to the new State Museum. Some of the art students as well as painters of Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and British Columbia are being shown. The entries were limited to original work in oil or water-color.

The exhibition is open to the public until Sunday, and the museum is at 315 N. Stadium Way. The doors are open weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., except Mondays, and from 9:00 to 1:00 p.m. on Sunday.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAMS

To Be Presented by Choral Group, Trio

Soloists will be Miss Erla Mae Jones, Maud Calvert, Eunice Feen and Elizabeth Anderson, have made plans for several programs to be presented between now and Christmas. On December 4 the two groups will present a program of Christian music for a luncheon at the Lamplighter Hotel. They will perform for the Christmas Eve of both the First Presbyterian Church and the Ladies of Rotary. On December 12 and 27, respectively.

The evening of December 12 at the Pacific Lutheran College will be presented for the Daughters of the American Revolution.

On December 21, a performance will be given at Weyerhaeuser Lumber Company Christmas Party, where all organizations affiliated with the city will be represented.

CPS Lineup in Good Shape

The Tide football team was not changed because the program was officially started The purpose of the magazine is to promote creative writing among the students. It included stories, essays, poems, cartoons and any interesting articles written by CPS students.

The Tide was sponsored by the Writers' Club of CPS. The Writers' Club elected the staff of The Tide and edited it twice a year. Only a few of these issues were practically unedited, the Tide was first published in 1936.

Perhaps during the war years the Tide was an occasional Write your name on the back of your birthday card, but this year it was not a war time. The Tide was a war time publication. It was sponsored by the Writers' Club of CPS.

CPS Skidway To Be Friday

Offering CPS students their first opportunity of the year for a football outing is the "Skidway" set for Friday at Paradise on Mount Rainier, according to Pat Mason and Lenore Swenson, co-chairmen of the activity sponsored jointly by the Ski Club and Art Department.

The trip will today be the last opportunity to make reservations for the bus, which will leave the bug at 7:00 p.m. They may be made with Pat or Lenore in the lunchroom. Fees, if more than 30 sign up, may be not available, Pat states. Fees are three dollars in advance so no announce of the lodge will be open, before the president and judges of the races.

Featuring day's events will be the skit competition and inter­-campus races, beginning at 11:00 a.m. of which Clayton Anderson is in charge. The races will be down hill, open class, and the intercampus races will make the trip to the sister skiers and Dr. Tomlison, advisors of the Ski Club, are the judges and charmers of the races.

Whether you are a skier or not, if you have the equipment, it will still be fun. Pat emphasizes, "The central meeting place will be the Paradise Lodge."

Boots are open all the way to the Paradise Lodge, but charges are required at Longmire.

Trail Staff Is Thankful

Because we are planning to eat a Thanksgiving dinner which will leave us in a capable for at least another week, there will be no "Trail" next week. The next issue will appear on Thursday, December 12. The first steps of a type.

The exhibition contains works of many artists and others from those of the third-annual exhibition of Northwest Artists, held annually in Seattle. Works of some Tacoma artists as well as painters of Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and British Columbia are being shown. The entries were limited to original work in oil or water-color.

The exhibition is open to the public until Sunday, and the museum is at 315 N. Stadium Way. The doors are open weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., except Mondays, and from 9:00 to 1:00 p.m. on Sunday.

Pawl Is Veterans' Advisor

Dr. E. L. Powell, veterans' counselor, says student veterans with scholastic and academic problems to come to his office, 15 Jones Hall, for assistance. He urges all students who have problems with veterans' seeking part-time employment are also eligible.

Matters which involve the Veterans Administration, however, are to be taken to the V.A. advisement and guidance office, 21 Jones Hall.

Logbook of Loggers, Clubs Records Events: Eduscsh Frosh

On or about December 9, students of CPS are to receive a school logbook. This publication will continue for the first time, the advisor directory according to Bob McNary, is the editor.

The log has originated many years ago when some enterprise "scholars" decided what the campus needed was a record of school events. They also set aside a special section for the education of freshman.

As this section's purpose was to help freshmen get themselves in college life, the book usually is distributed during freshman week. This semester the complete overhaul of the student's book, constituting a delayed.

Before the war a college directory was also compiled and edited separately, data being taken from the student registration files. The ten years this practice has been discontinued. Now that the war emergency is over, publication will again be prompt.

In the forthcoming log both directory and campus activity sections will be combined. The first half of the book contains a complete schedule of all activities affiliated with the college. The last half contains a list of students and faculty directory giving their names, addresses and telephone numbers. A freshman has not been omitted and the new Student Constitution is included in full. Possibly a slight edge of hasty the book will beanzeigen the log will be.

Knights, Soph Men's Service
Honorary Active on Campus

If you have been in lower Jones Hall lately you probably have been "snagged" by one of those enthusiastic Knights encouraging you to do your part in the Community Chest-WEP drive. Helping in this line is only one of the tasks the members of the Log Chapter of Interfraternity Knights have undertaken to fulfill their motto "Service, Sacrifice and Loyalty."

This group of sophomores, who are becoming a familiar sight on the campus, hold on to their ideal of serving the needs of their school in every way in which they are able. In addition to the activities with which they have been occupied, the Knights are ordering chapel two days a week. The Knights and the Sirens, the national sophomore men's service group, work together in many projects.

The Log Chapter of the College of Puget Sound was given its national charter during the war but has only this year become active. Prior to the war, full-time members of a local sophomore men's service honorary known as "The Knights of the Log" were outstanding workers on the campus.

Logger Mermen reported as necessary last Wednesday to the boys pool at Stadium for the initial turnout of the first swimming team in the history of the College of Pacific Lutheran.

The “water-Loggers” are regarded as potential stars in the swimming ranks.

The mainstays of the team will be Bill Chalk, ex-U.W varsity swimmer and state champion, and Jim Spencer, on Lincoln’s swimming team two years running, from Stadium, and Ray Fredericks, captain of Lincoln’s 1945 state champion team.

Former state champion diver, Dale Murray, from Stadium, and Jim Charrington, co-captain of Lincoln’s 1944 swimming team, will also be competing.
