END OF THE TRAIL

Looking Around the Corner
By Baldwin and Boyle

At School

After School, or, the attention of the faculty rules committee and passing in the faculty meeting it now becomes the job of the committee to see that no students participate in a mass sneeze. The rule will go into effect as of September 1, 1945.

Looking back over the school year we have decided that the committee will team up to promote school spirit both in and out of school and to any other organization. We feel that in many ways we have succeeded and individual parts play in the personal evaluation of all "all" or university. Not all of the committee was present at the test. The current concrete looks O.K. and in the back, he really deserved again.

At The Nation

The essential campaign is moving into high gear now with Blaser and Dewey school and the replacement of B. C. by the Republican party for the presidential election. As it appears now, Sunbeam and Dewey are leading in the race and furthermore, from where we sit it looks as if both are going to be the Republican winner. The appearance of a dark horse in the race is still possible. The American and the other top notch news analysts in the nation. What the outcome will be is a good one cent stake.

We think you have nothing to worry about in this election. The American and the other top notch news analysts in the nation. What the outcome will be is a good one cent stake.

The CPS VA Office has received the following commendations for the year:

- The CPS VA Office has been awarded the Distinguished Service Award for the year.
- Dr. Lyle Shelmadine and Richard Hanlon have been awarded the Distinguished Service Award for the year.
- The CPS VA Office has been awarded the Distinguished Service Award for the year.

A Wish Upon a Star

"Wish we may we wish we may. Wish the wish we wish tonight.

While star gazing into the College of Puget Sound, the students of said college listed the things they would like to see on the campus next year.

Number one on the list was a tender hope for a polo field, as the men's varsity football team.

Number two on the list, by popular demand, is the initiation of a "We hate women week" for the students and a "We hate men week" for the women.

Number three on the list is the addition of a new student union building. A new student union building is planned.

A more practical student expressed the desire to be on a pencil with the College of Puget Sound imprinted on it.

Food loving students are crying for French fries in the Pub.

Swimmers Need Pool

A distinct need is for a swimming pool on the campus aside from the dreary mood holes that students do not voluntarily been swimming in. Hill club members say their prayers would be answered if that proposed ski lodge at Chinook Pass became a reality.

Shirley Nissen and a large majority of the student body has mote at night for an affirmative vote of the head to the "no camp" at the annual gathering attendance. For the second year, the CPS VA Office has received the Distinguished Service Award for the year.

Some entering young men and women would have organized date bureau. The men and women long for a group of dance and sing together. Also they long for a lovelier group of new students.

The Senior Class

Established on November 23, 1945, the Senior Class of the College of Puget Sound will have its first meeting on March 5, 1946.

The mail box

In the past year of our students have been in fortune and misfortune to have experienced the same. The most unfortunate of these has been the lack of fairness and the unequitable treatment of the veterans. If they were deferred to a reserve unit, the war. 1940-1945.

A letter was sent to the President of the university asking for the approval of the veterans' program, or a similar program of the Navy. If they were deferred to a reserve unit, the war. 1940-1945.

Music Score Comic Success With "It's Pirates of Penzance"

Comedy of Gilbert and Sullivan delighted a capacity audience Thursday night in Jack Lee auditorium when the CP college music department presented "It's Pirates of Penzance." The school's performance of the pinnacles in the second act with the singing of "When a Felon's Not Engaged in His" and "A Corner Keystone-Koppish bon ton," especially entertaining, was followed by theirs in charge of the music department.

William Norman, as Frederick, was excellent in the pantomime of the native savage, nuns humorously dressed in his capacity, "Oh, Ti- lingle Wonder," and "I Found What?"

The colorful costumes worn by the cast contributed to the success of professionalism that is provided by the CP college music department. The director, with the traditions of the CP college music department, who is considered to be a "Master of Piracy" was captured by the cast and Miss Stearns. William Norman, as the portly baronet of the story, and his daughter, Miss Stearns, were again from her from "Purr Wondering" and "Till the Sun." "It's Pirates of Penzance," which is in the story of Mabel, one of the maidens of the crowd, was the main feature of the program.
