IN ITS SECOND POST-WAR season, the music department, under the direction of Professor Clyde Keutzer, added many new faculty members to its staff, making the organization of concert, worship and marching bands possible.

The Campus Trio maintained its popularity throughout the year and two new string ensembles were recognized on the Campus. These two groups have played for numerous occasions.

Harley Stell, music manager, and Prof. Keutzer, head of the music department.
THE ADELPHIAN CONCERT CHOIR of 40 mixed voices gave concerts this past year in twenty-two cities of Washington and Idaho. The home concert was given April 24.

Officers were: Mary Agnes Gallagher, president; Irene Fearn, secretary-treasurer, and Willard Norman, librarian. Prof. Keutzer is the choir director. Accompanist was Jewell Guelfrey.

In December the Adelphians joined forces with numerous church choirs to present Handel's "Messiah," which was broadcast over the radio. Over 1700 attended the performance, at which guest artists from Seattle and two of the music faculty were presented as soloists.

THE WORKSHOP BAND, under the direction of Leroy Ostransky, played for several college dances and gave a concert in the spring. The program included many original arrangements by members of the modern arranging class.
THE MARCHING AND CONCERT BAND is under the direction of Prof. John O'Connor. There were approximately 40 students in the band this year. During the fall the marching band played for football games and attracted much favorable comment because of its interesting marching formations between halves.

The Concert band, with the help of the Knights, put on an excellent Campus Radio Theater program in the spring and gave its concert as part of the Spring Music Festival on May 23.
THE WOMEN'S CHORUS and the Men's Chorus are open to any students who wish to sing. There are no tryouts as there are for the Adelphians.

Under the direction of Prof. Ivan Rasmussen, the choirs participated in the annual Dickens' Christmas Carol presentation. They also sang for chapel programs and the May Day ceremonies.

THE PUGET SOUND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA is under the directorship of Prof. Raymond Vaught. There were approximately 65 players in the orchestra this year, over half of which were college students. The remaining members were people of the community who were interested in symphonic work and wished to play with the organization.
STUDENTS IN the dramatics department are known on the Campus as the Campus Playcrafters. They are directed by Martha Pearl Jones, head of the speech and dramatics department.

Student dramatic manager this year was Robert Lyon. Dramatics department assistants were Irene Fearn and Elizabeth Anderberg.

On Friday, October 11th, the sixth annual Freshman play night was held. Plays given were: "Evening Dress Indispensable," "Spot Cash," "Night Club," "Persia Presents" and "Long Distance." Specialty numbers were given between plays. All actors were chosen from the Freshman class.

Directors of the plays were the following upperclassmen: Elizabeth Anderberg, Art Hansen, Bonny Jean Steele, Bill O'Connell, Irene Fearn, Peggy Rough, Emily Harold, Miriam Manke, Carol Todd, and Harmon Weston.

The Choral Readers appeared throughout the year, giving programs for various Tacoma clubs. They presented their recital March 21, in which they featured The People, Yes by Sandberg.

Members of the Choral Reading group were Sheila Lamar, leader, Inez Doherty Meyer, assistant leader, Gretchen Swayze, Barbara Rowe, Zelda Lay, Beverley Farrell, Ruth Haggerness, Emily Harold, Bonny Steele, Frances Huston, Beth DeMille, Bob Lyon, Aleatha Dieatrick, Helen Strong, Bob Huston and Troy Strong.

Dickens' Christmas Carol was presented at Christmastime in cooperation with the music department. For the third consecutive year Marshall Campbell played the part of Scrooge.
THE ANNUAL HOMECOMING PLAY, "The Call of the Banshee," was a mystery farce in three acts involving an Amazon Indian, two doctors, a superstitious Irish housekeeper, a deaf servant, a Swedish maid, a couple in love, a stubborn uncle, two negro mammys and a fainting girl.

The sheriff and his deputy kept the audience in hysterics as they tried to solve the baffling riddle of two mysterious deaths. The murderer was eventually discovered and the play proceeded to a romantic end.
"The Road to Yesterday" the spring play, was based on an English legend which says that "whatever you wish on Midsummer's Eve will come true and remain true until it is unwished on another Midsummer's Eve."

It is Midsummer's Eve when the play opens and Elspeth Tyrell makes a wish that takes her and all the people she knows back to the year 1603. Through two acts she and her friends live in the past, but in the fourth act Elspeth wakes to find that though she has only been dreaming she has found the man she loves.
UNDER THE LEADERSHIP of Robert McNary, the forensic department has enjoyed a very successful season. At the beginning of the year, an office was acquired—an office in which certificates and records are kept, and where debaters gather. The debaters also have a trophy case all to themselves in upper Jones Hall.

The members of the debate group this year have participated in several practice tournaments.

There have been a number of trips to Seattle for debates. In Tacoma, debaters have spoken on three radio programs, in several churches, before civic bodies, and in several chapels.

C.P.S. participated in the Western Association of Teachers of Speech tournament at San Jose, California, in November. At that tournament, Yvonne Battin won first place in junior women's oratory. Harriet Fiske and Louise Kipper took second in senior women's debate; Louise Kipper won second in women's extemporaneous speaking; and Robert Tollefson and Robert McNary took third in senior mens' debate. There were over twenty colleges participating in this tournament.

After a couple of practice tournaments, the debaters again took a trip—this time to Linfield College at McMinnville, Oregon. Over thirty colleges were striving for honors at this tournament, which was held during the last of February and the first of March. Yvonne Battin took first place in senior womens' oratory; Yvonne Battin and Beverly Van Horn took third place in junior womens' debate.

Louise Kipper, womens' debate manager, was in charge of the high-school tournament held at
C.P.S. during February. There were over 400 students here from thirty-five schools throughout the state. Robert McNary was in charge of the Tyro Tournament held here in March.

The debaters of the college have taken at least eight cups this year—one in San Jose, one in Linfield, and six at the Tyro Tournament.

Washington Alpha chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, a national forensic society, is located on the C.P.S. campus. Lyle Lindelien is president; Harriet Fiske, vice president; Mary Jean Kean, secretary; Walt Loewenstein, treasurer; and Robert McNary, publicity chairman.

Dr. Battin, debate advisor, is one of the founders of Pi Kappa Delta. He holds membership certificate No. 2 and key No. 8. Other faculty members include Dr. Regester, Dr. Shaffer, and Dr. Thompson. This year, Pi Kappa Delta sponsored the high-school tournament here in February.

The national Pi Kappa Delta tournament, the first since 1942, was held this year at Bowling Green, Ohio. There were about 120 colleges and universities represented. C.P.S. returned with honors. Yvonne Battin won top spot in women's oratory, Lyle Lindelien placed third in discussion, and Lloyd Gaddis took second for his part in stunt night.

STRIVING TO GO MODERN the Puget Sound Trail adopted a new masthead this year and shortened its name to The Trail.

Under the editorship of Lois Phillips. The Trail had a very successful year with 25 issues, one being printed every week except during vacation, closed periods and the printers' strike.

Handling the financial end of the paper were Joy Moberg in the fall semester and Emma Nelson in the spring term. In the fall Dixie James was assistant editor while in the spring Dave Parker handled this job. The sports department was headed by Clay Huntington in the fall and by Leo Butigan in the spring. Serving both semesters were Donna June Bennett as society editor and Mary Jackson as feature editor.

Renewing a practice which had been carried out in past years, the freshmen were in complete charge of one issue. Leonard Docherty was chosen editor and he was assisted by Barbara Breazeale. The edition was scheduled to come out just before spring vacation but just when the news was ready to be printed the printers went on strike. Proving that they couldn't be defeated, the freshmen put out the issue right after the spring recess.

Special enlarged issues of The Trail were printed on four different occasions. Two six-page issues, one in maroon ink for Homecoming and one covering the PNCC conference, were released. For Christmas an eight-page issue in green ink was printed while a senior issue was put out in maroon ink the last week of school.

Mrs. Margaret Whittlesey was faculty adviser.

ELIZABETH ANDERBERG
EVERY FALL each student is issued a publication known as the LOG BOOK which informs the new and reminds the old students of the College rules, organizations, social activities and athletic events of the year. It also includes data pertaining to the various honoraries, A.S.C.P.S. departments and their activities, fraternity and sorority information, and the rules governing Freshman conduct.

The LOG BOOK this year was edited by Bob McNary, assisted by Bob Winskill, and included as a new feature the names of the officers of the organizations, clubs, fraternities and sororities.

Due to the lateness of ratifying the new A.S.C.P.S. Constitution, the LOG BOOK was incorporated with the annual WHO'S WHERE, also edited by Bob McNary. Assistant editor was Dorothy Rudolph. Regarded as one of the most valuable publications of the year, the WHO'S WHERE has as its only duty the listing of the names, addresses, and phone numbers of all students registered at the College.
Organizations
OFFICERS OF THE Intercollegiate Knights, National Sophomore service honorary for men, were James Wornstaff, Honorable duke; Robert Huston, worthy scribe; Paul Gingrich, chancellor of the exchequer; Carl Niwa, worthy recorder; Clarence Nelson, keeper of the mace; Clayton Anderson, social chairman; Prof. John O'Connor, advisor.

Log chapter activities began during Freshman Week in the fall of 1946 when the Knights helped with the registration procedure and orientation of the school's largest freshman class to date.

Since that time, besides ushering at college functions, the Knights sponsored a Campus Radio Theater broadcast, emanating directly from the CPS auditorium, and also put on a Prince and Princess of Melody contest for the selection of soloists for the Workshop Band.

October 4th saw a well-managed rally parade which began in downtown Tacoma and ended up at the College with a huge victory bonfire. The Knights-sponsored float in the annual Homecoming parade November 9th aroused curiosity and much favorable comment—especially the two representatives, Andy Anderson and Clarence Nelson, who appeared as real Knights.

In December the Knights ushered for a combined choir production of the "Messiah," decorated Jones Hall and Howarth Hall in Christmas fashion, together with the Spurs, and acted as "Santa" to the faculty and student body on December 18th. On this occasion the Knights, rigged in cotton whiskers, moustaches and eyebrows, and crepe-paper hats, passed out candy kisses to every student and professor, while traditional Christmas music was played by the band under the direction of the Knight's advisor, Prof. O'Connor.

INTERCOLLEGIATE KNIGHTS
BEGINNING WITH THE FIRST DAY of Freshman Week, members of the Spurs, national sophomore women's honorary, have taken an active part in campus life this year.

Their main services to the college, besides that of ushering at chapel and other school functions, were to assist in registering the school's record student body and to serve as a nucleus around which the Loggerettes were organized.

Officers of the group were Beverly Johnson, president; Donna June Bennett, vice president; Aleatha Mae Dieatrick, secretary; Dorothy Lonergan, treasurer; Lois Phillips, editor; Mary Ellen Irsfeld, historian; and Neva Iverson, song leader.

Decorating Jones hall for Christmas, making Homecoming pompons, and constructing a daisy chain for last year's May Day celebrations constituted some of the special projects of the Spurs.

Two representatives from this Spur chapter, Beverly Johnson and Aleatha Dieatrick, attended a regional Spur conference at Moscow, Idaho, while the whole CPS group was instrumental in the installation of a new chapter at Linfield College in Oregon.

To climax their year of fun and service, the Spurs tapped their pledges by awakening them at an early hour in the morning and serving them breakfast before first period classes.

Besides assisting at May Day ceremonies, the Spur pledges usher for the President's senior reception, Baccalaureate and Commencement, and perform their traditional pledge duty of polishing the CPS trophies.

Fifteen outstanding freshman women are chosen on the basis of scholarship, character and participation in school activities to be Spur pledges in the spring, taking over their full responsibilities the next fall.
OTLAH, senior women's scholastic honorary, has standards very similar to those of the national Mortar Board. Membership is limited to those senior girls who maintained a B grade average during their first two and a half years at CPS and who also participated in College activities.

The Otlah pin is the golden acorn. Advisor for the group is Mrs. Raymond S. Seward.

Officers for the year were: President, Kerttu Kahn; vice president, Louise Kipper; secretary, Lucile Randall; treasurer, Alice Ann Cross, and historian, Anna-Marie Vaughn.

The main activity of the year was the decorating of the large window between the first and second floors in Jones hall at Christmastime.

Toward the end of the spring semester next year's members were tapped in a special chapel program. The pledges were later initiated at the annual spring tea.
MU SIGMA DELTA, CPS honorary organization which is comparable to the national Phi Beta Kappa, had as its president this year Dr. P. R. Fehlandt. Other officers were Dr. Helen Fossum, vice president; Miss Frances Chubb, recording secretary, and Betty Jane Cappa, corresponding secretary.

A grade average of not less than 3.25 for seniors and 3.5 for juniors is the major qualification for membership. New members are initiated in May. No more than ten per cent of the graduating class may be included as members.

Faculty members joining the group this year were Dr. Robert Sprenger and Dr. Gordon Alcorn. Seniors in the group were Lucile Randall, Beatrice Young, Louise Kipper, Lois Lynch and Inez Doherty Meyer. Other seniors, who became members in their junior year, were Janice Lindeman, Betty Jane Cappa and Jing Ho Ling.

Juniors were Jeanne Mickens, Marshall Campbell, Merle Legg, Sara Jeane Mather, Sheila Lamar and Kathryn Hultgren.
THE PURPOSE of the O.T. club is to enable the group of Occupational Therapy students to become better acquainted with one another, to hear outside speakers, to promote interest in the profession, to keep up with the developments in the field, and to maintain a registry of alumnae members.

President was Bea Young; secretary-treasurer, Jan Blake, and historian, Dixie Simmons.

LOGGERETTES were originally organized as a drill team to march with the band. The organization was formed around a nucleus of Spurs. Loggerettes became an official organization on the Campus with the presentation of their constitution to Central Board.

Members can be identified by their white sweaters and dark skirts.
NEWLY FORMED this year, the Pep Club was organized to promote College yells and school spirit at all games. Members of the organization could be easily identified by uniform white sweaters displaying logo emblems.

Officers were: President, Bruce Rector; vice president, Charles Howe; secretary-treasurer, Beverly MacDonald.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES of the Biology Club are field trips in and around the State, and care of the Museum of Natural History situated on the third floor of Howarth Hall.

Professor James R. Slater, head of the biology department, is the club advisor. Officers for the spring semester were: Merle Legg, president; Dick Eckert, vice president; Mary Ellen Irsfeld, secretary, and Galen Hoover, treasurer.
THE INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB met the second Monday of every month this year in the homes of members. The purpose of the club is to give its members a better understanding of national and international affairs, which is done through discussion groups, outside speakers, forums, etc.

Two of the year's highlights were the entertaining of five UBC students on the Campus for two days and a trip to International House in Seattle.

Officers for the year were: Kathryn Hultgren, president; Janette Blake, vice president, and Ann Lowrie, secretary-treasurer. Advisor was Dr. Tomlinson.

SKI CLUB members often participate in intercollegiate competition with numerous colleges and universities throughout the West. The club sponsors the annual All-College Ski Day, the high school ski meet, and arranges for the showing of ski movies.

Officers this year were: Primo Rosellini, president, who was succeeded by Bob Church; Juanita Baumgartner and Ray Cason, vice presidents; Jenny Lewis and Peggy Rough, secretaries-treasurers; and Ken Hoggatt and Dick Eckert, social chairmen.
THE STUDENT CHRISTIAN Association is the local affiliate of the National Student YMCA-YWCA, and the World Student Christian Federation.

With a membership this year of about 140, the SCA met at Chapel time in the Little Chapel every Friday.

Officers were: President, Troy Strong; vice president, Robert Huston; secretary, Barbara Lindahl, and treasurer, Lois Vick. Advisors were Dr. Marvin Schafer and Robert McFarland.

THE ART CLUB was re-organized this semester after its absence during the war years. It was formed for the purpose of bringing together all students interested in any phase of art.

Each meeting was held in the art studio where members carried on individual work. Other activities were field trips, discussions and exhibits.

Officers were Dale Frost, president; Dennis D. Livingston, vice president, and Maxine Lister, secretary. Professor Kohler was the advisor.
THE PSYCHOLOGY CLUB, Alpha Psi Chi, was reactivated in November after several years of inactivity due to the war. Gerry Kirwan served as president and Marie Switzer as secretary-treasurer during the fall semester. In the spring Arle Thayer was president, while Doreen Lockstone became secretary-treasurer.

The organization exists for psychology majors and minors and especially encourages anyone interested in psychology to attend the meetings.

TO BE A MEMBER of the Junior Affiliate Group of the American Chemical Society on the CPS Campus a student must be working toward a major or minor in chemistry.

Membership entitles a student to the society’s publication, and to attendance at the national and Puget Sound sectional meetings, which feature noted chemists from all parts of the country.

President of this year’s group was Bill Causin.

FOR THE 15 GIRLS who live in the Student Union Building it is not known as such but is called Kittredge Hall. For the complete year Eileen Boyd has served as president of the group.

The residents of Kittredge do not have any social affairs of their own but go together with the girls of Anderson Hall for all activities.

Mrs. Lyle Ford Drushel, dean of women, is in charge of the girls. She is assisted by Inez Doherty Meyer, who has served for two years, and by Betty Harold.
They are originally built to accommodate 36 girls, the bulging walls of Anderson Hall housed a record total of 90 students this year.

Three girls were assigned to every double room, two to all the single rooms, and 29 freshmen and three sophomores to the basement, formerly used as a recreation room.

Two men shared the feminine domicile—Troy Strong, who, with his wife, Helen, occupied a basement room, and Professor Dagfinn Skaar, Norwegian exchange instructor who lived in the guest room the second semester.

Adding to the international atmosphere of the dormitory was Signe Denstad, Norwegian exchange student who ventured into the basement quarters the second semester and decided to stay. She is the first foreign student to live in Anderson Hall.

Fall officers for the "dorm" were Thelma Hardy, president; Viletta Rowe, vice president (who served as president in place of Thelma); Neva Iverson, secretary; Elenor Roundtree, treasurer; Harriett Warne, historian; Juanita Baumgartner, sergeant-at-arms. Lucile Randall served as vice president.

Taking over these offices in the spring were Natalie Hyndman, Patricia Robinson, Janice Hitchcock, Gwen Jones, Jennie Lewis and Mary Jackson.

Because of the crowded social calendar, the dorm's only function this year was a picnic held at Point Defiance.

Notable among the year's events were the beginning of the landscaping around the hall, and the installing of a "Coke" machine to revive the spirits of cramming inmates.

Row 2: Betty Trowel, Peggy Ebert, Mary Lou Cooper, Shirley Kouser, Marjorie Sennov, Lorna Hall, Lois Peind Brazeal, Troy Strong, Harriett Warne, Barbara Rowe, Marjorie Todd, Troy Strong, Rayne Stebbins, Audrey Heisel, Beverly MacDonald, Janet Craig, Marie Switzer. Row 3: Betty Trowel, Peggy Ebert, Mary Lou Cooper, Shirley Kouser, Marjorie Sennov, Lorna Hall, Lois Peind Brazeal, Troy Strong, Harriett Warne, Barbara Rowe, Marjorie Todd, Troy Strong, Rayne Stebbins, Audrey Heisel, Beverly MacDonald, Janet Craig, Marie Switzer. Row 4: Betty Trowel, Peggy Ebert, Mary Lou Cooper, Shirley Kouser, Marjorie Sennov, Lorna Hall, Lois Peind Brazeal, Troy Strong, Harriett Warne, Barbara Rowe, Marjorie Todd, Troy Strong, Rayne Stebbins, Audrey Heisel, Beverly MacDonald, Janet Craig, Marie Switzer. Row 5: Betty Trowel, Peggy Ebert, Mary Lou Cooper, Shirley Kouser, Marjorie Sennov, Lorna Hall, Lois Peind Brazeal, Troy Strong, Harriett Warne, Barbara Rowe, Marjorie Todd, Troy Strong, Rayne Stebbins, Audrey Heisel, Beverly MacDonald, Janet Craig, Marie Switzer.
THE MAJOR PORTION of the student body this year was classed as Independents and the Independent program was enlarged to meet the needs of this larger organization.

The Sadie Hawkins Day Dance was revived this year and a very successful affair was held in the Student Union Building in the fall. The Independent candidate for Homecoming Queen, Beverly MacDonald, was elected to rule over the Homecoming festivities in November.

In February another dance, Lamplighter Serenade, was held at the SUB with the Workshop Band providing the music.

President of the Indes this year was Louise Kipper. Other officers were Kerttu Kahn, vice president; Bill O'Connell, secretary; Charles Howe, treasurer, and Bob McNary, sergeant-at-arms.

Class representatives to the executive board were Betty Jane Cappa, Senior Class; Marie Switzer, Junior Class; Mary Jean Kean, Sophomore Class, and Kenneth Wagenblast. Freshman Class.
KAPPA PHI invites into its membership every girl of Methodist preference. Although the club has a Greek letter name, it is not a sorority and its membership has always included both sorority and independent girls.

The program work of the organization is built around a theme chosen by the chapters each year and developed with the aid of the national program chairman.

Chi chapter had to have a new sponsor this year and Mrs. Willis Carruth was elected. Officers for the year were: President, Anna-Marie Vaughn; vice president, Carol Todd; secretary, Donna June Bennett; treasurer, Polly Packard; historian, Donna Maclnnis; program chairmen, Dorothy Kostenbader and Lucile Randall, and chaplain, Helen Strong.

Chi chapter is a unique one in many ways. It is the only Kappa Phi chapter in a Methodist school. Most others are in state colleges or universities. It is the only chapter with a faculty sponsor, and the only chapter without a Wesley House on the Campus.
INTER-SORORITY COUNCIL has as its main objective the coordination of all sorority activities on the Campus. It also helps to explain the creed and purpose of Greek letter groups within the College. The Council supervises all rushing activities during the year, making the rules whereby the sororities are governed during rushing.

Membership is composed of the four sorority presidents and one representative from each sorority. The office of president rotates from one sorority to the next and is held by that sorority’s representative for one semester.

Fall president of the Council was Mary Agnes Gallagher, while Vernace Barton served as spring president.

The annual Inter-Sorority Dance was held during the spring semester, as was the annual tea which had as its purpose the welcoming of all new women on the Campus.
WITH DICK LaPORE as president and George Miller as secretary-treasurer, Inter-fraternity council supervised fall rushing activities for the five fraternities, setting up the rules and distributing information in the early weeks of the semester. Clarence Schorer went to the University of Washington as a C.P.S. delegate to observe fraternity rushing on the Seattle campus, and brought his ideas back to the council where he reported on current trends.

Spring officers, Donald Burnett, president, and Clarence Schorer, secretary, laid early plans for the annual semi-formal dance. This item occupied the brief council meetings until the Inter-fraternity dance occurred on April 12, at Fellowship Hall. A colorful dance was assured when the Greek letter representatives decided to order carnations of different colors to designate the affiliation of all men attending. Under the able organizing of co-chairmen Robert Seabloom and Clarence Schorer, the dance lived up to its reputation as one of the outstanding social events of the season.

To wind up the affairs on May 1, the council gathered for an informal dinner at the Top O' the Ocean, to hear a member of the U. of W. Inter-fraternity council, who spoke chiefly on the subject of national fraternities.
